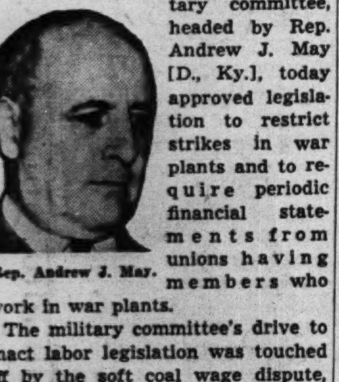
F.D.R. WELCOMES CHURCHILL

Approve Bill to Ban War Industry Strikes

HOUSE GROUP VOTES TO BARE UNION FUNDS

Committee Action Is Unanimous.

Washington, D. C., May 11.—By a vote of 21 to 0, the house military committee, headed by Rep. Andrew J. May [D., Ky.], today approved legislation to restrict strikes in war plants and to require periodic financial statements from unions having members who work in war plants.



Rep. Andrew J. May.

The military committee's drive to enact labor legislation was touched off by the soft coal wage dispute, and members said they hoped to get their measure enacted before expiration May 18 of the 15 day truce under which John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, ordered the miners back to work after the general work stoppage the first of this month.

Provisions of Bill.

The bill, applying only to war plants, provides that:

A strike may not be called without the approval of the employés involved in a secret ballot under auspices of the national labor relations board. After such approval 30 days' notice must be given.

In the event of a strike, picketing shall not be engaged in except by bona fide employés on strike, and employers shall not interfere with peaceful picketing.

There shall be no jurisdictional strikes, sympathy strikes, or secondary boycotts.

Opens Union Books.

Unions shall annually file with the national labor relations board sworn statements showing the names of their officers, the number of paid-up members, the amount of dues and assessments levied, and the method of electing officers.

Financial reports of the unions are required from union officials under oath and must be made to the national labor relations board, where they will be on file for public inspection. Reports must list all receipts and expenditures, including a complete breakdown showing where the money comes from and where it goes—salaries, traveling expenses, office expenses, and other items.

The war labor board shall have final authority to decide disputes certified to it by the labor department conciliation service and may require, thru court order, the attendance of witnesses at its hearings.

Penalties Provided.

When a controversy develops between an employer and his employés the status quo as to working arrangements shall be maintained on order of the WLB. The government may not, however, continue the status quo for more than 60 days after it has taken jurisdiction.

Penalties are provided for persons fomenting strikes or slowdowns in plants taken over by the government, as well as for persons or unions violating the legislation. The former would face a maximum penalty of one year in prison and a fine of $5,000, while the latter would lose their standing under labor protective laws including the Norris-LaGuardia anti-injunction act.

Expires After War.

The measure embodies some provisions of the bill introduced by Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.] and passed recently by the senate, and the main features of the bill of Rep. Howard Smith [D., Va.] which the house passed on Dec. 3, 1941, but which the senate failed to approve.

While it applies only to labor organizations having employés working for a war contractor, committee members pointed out that virtually all major industries come under this head. It would expire automatically six months after the end of the war or at any time before that in the discretion of congress.

FRENCH FORCE SURRENDER OF TRAPPED NAZIS

British Close on Foe in Cape Bon Sack.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, May 11 (AP).—French troops have forced the unconditional surrender of Germans trapped in the Zaghouan sector of Tunisia, and are driving on toward the sea to cut off further large forces—those facing the British 8th army to the south—a French communique announced tonight.

A British 1st army breakthru across the neck of Cape Bon peninsula a few hours earlier had sealed up on that jutting headland the main body of some 80,000 disorganized and badly mauled axis troops. The British swept up 20,000 prisoners during the day.

Pour on Toward Sea.

The Germans in the mountainous Zaghouan sector quit and yielded all their material to Frenchmen whose own nation had been forced to capitulate nearly three years before. It was the first armistice asked of Frenchmen by Germans since the World war.

French forces poured eastward toward the sea and Bou Ficha and, the communique said, "are realizing encirclement of all axis troops still on the front facing the 8th army" in the Enfidaville area, some 15 miles south of Bou Ficha.

The humbling of the Germans in the Zaghouan sector was complete.

Just as the Americans had done in the north, the French followed the Casablanca formula by demanding immediate unconditional surrender.

No Indication of Number.

There was no indication of the number of surrendering forces, who were isolated when the French 19th corps cut them off from their comrades facing the British 8th army to the south after the British 1st army had stabbed across the base of Cape Bon peninsula.

Once established across the neck of the peninsula, 1st army armored units immediately moved up both sides of the mountainous strip jutting into the Mediterranean, capturing all the territory between Hammamet and Beni Aichouan in an 18 mile sweep up the southeast side.

Allied airmen carried out another tremendous raid today on the Mediterranean island stepping stones necessary for a continental invasion. Nearly 200 bombers escorted by more than 100 fighting planes smashed at Marsala, Sicily's port closest to Cape Bon.

Pantelleria Hit Again.

Smoke from fires started by today's attack rose as high as 10,000 feet and could be seen by the returning pilots when they were back over the African coast. The bombardiers scored hits on railroad yards and warehouses and set a ship afire in the harbor.

Other allied planes hammered Pantelleria in the sixth raid in four days on that tiny island in the Sicilian strait, smashing this time at the harbor and hitting several ships.

Armored forces of the British 1st army reached Hammamet at dawn today, completing a lightning thrust across the peninsula from the area of Hammam Lif on the north which resulted also in the capture yesterday of Soliman, Grombalia, and Menzel bou Zelfa. Then they turned and advanced up the two sides toward the point of the peninsula. Surrender of axis troops who retreated into the rocky reaches of the jutting strip was considered imminent.

Nearly 100,000 Prisoners.

Resistance was slight as the British in American made tanks continued to round up prisoners by the thousands and halt the destruction of German supplies.

The 20,000 prisoners captured today were collected in the area of Beni Achoun [west of Korba], and with others being herded to the rear in countless numbers, it was estimated that the total soon would surpass 100,000 captured by Ameri-

WILL HISTORY CALL IT THE "BATTLE OF THE SOFT UNDER BELLY OF EUROPE"?

Nazis' African Empire—Two Prison Camps

A PRISON CAMP IN NORTHERN TUNISIA, May 11 (AP).—The German empire in Northern Tunisia today consists of two prison camps in wheat fields in which the Nazis still living are penned behind barbed wire and a number of military cemeteries where the Nazi soldier dead are laid to rest.

The wheat fields are aswarm with thousands upon thousands of troops who once reigned supreme from Tunisia to Egypt, but who now elbow each other for space in which to exercise.

Later they will be transferred to larger camps better equipped to handle them. For the present the big problem is merely to feed and water this largest prisoner herd ever gathered on the field of action by an American army corps.

Expect Germany to Win.

Still confident of an ultimate German victory, the prisoners say they surrendered because of the overwhelming force that confronted them. They still think—or say they think—that the fatherland is too strongly fortified ever to be taken.

Their thoughts now are of the every day concerns of washings, eating, sleeping, and amusing themselves in their temporarily cramped and confining quarters.

Watching them disabuses any one of the idea that the spirit of this restless and aggressive people is in any real sense broken. They have been smashed on one field, but they must be smashed on many more before this tableau in Tunisia has its real finale in the crushing of Germany itself.

Young, Vigorous, and Healthy.

Young, vigorous, and healthy, they lie bare chested in the warm spring sun. One plays an accordion—some Rhine song of a faraway, merry time—while his comrades beat time indolently. Another blows into a harmonica, wheezing out a tune which only he seems to recognize as a melody. One group plays a noisy card game, sitting crosslegged on the ground.

American soldiers who two days ago were dodging their bullets fetch the prisoners food and water.

Nazis Keep Shaw's Books from British Prisoners

LONDON, May 11.—Books by George Bernard Shaw and Siegfried Sassoon cannot be sent to British war prisoners because the Germans have imposed a ban on these authors, War Minister James Grigg informed the house of commons today.

OPA WILL ROLL BACK PRICES OF LIQUOR BY BRAND CEILINGS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 11.—A new order setting specific dollars and cents ceiling prices for all types of liquor is being drafted by the office of price administration in a move to roll back currently "excessive" prices, it was learned today.

OPA investigators, it was said, have reported that in many cities liquor is selling far above present legal ceilings, which are based on March, 1942, prices.

The new order, scheduled to be issued early next month, will follow the pattern of many recent food price orders. Specific price maximums will be established for various brands and grades of liquor, so that the ceilings can be more readily determined and enforced.

Altho new price ceilings will be based on March, 1942, levels, adjustments will be made, it was understood, to allow for increased taxes and higher labor costs since that date. The resulting ceilings will, however, be substantially below average prices now being charged.

U. S. GENERAL AT KISKA IS ALMOST CAUGHT BY JAPS

WITH THE U. S. ARMY IN THE ALEUTIANS, April 29 [Delayed] (AP).—How the commanding general of the Alaskan military theater was almost caught by the Japanese on American soil at Kiska last June was told today by the general himself, Maj. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner Jr.

"I flew to Kiska the last week of May—about five days before the Japanese arrived—in a Catalina patrol bomber," Gen. Buckner said, "to confer with a naval officer from Washington and demonstrate to him that the Aleutians chain must be strengthened or the Japanese would move in.

"Ten American naval boys were on the island manning a weather station. We left Kiska May 30. Two days later a strange airplane came within 1,000 yards of Kiska, presumably for advanced scouting. Then between June 4 and 6 the Japanese occupied the island."

The 10 navy men, Gen. Buckner said, either were killed or taken prisoner.

Disclose 150,000 Tons of Goods Reach North Africa

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, May 11.—Consumer goods valued at about $30,000,000, weighing over 150,000 tons, have been delivered from the United States and Great Britain to North Africa thru April 7, it was disclosed today.

Chicagoan's Shoulder Bar Saves Bomber

WITH THE 11TH AIR FORCE IN ALASKA, May 2 [Delayed]—(AP).—How a quick witted engineer used a second lieutenant's gold bar to save a four engined bomber with a 10 man crew was told today by a member of that crew—1st Lt. James A. Ryan, 29 years old, navigator, formerly of Mooseheart, Ill.

The plane—Old 1091—had gone to Attu on a reconnaissance mission. While returning, the gasoline tanks in the bomb bay would not drain into the main tanks because the electrical pump refused to function. Fuses kept blowing out due to an unexplained short circuit.

800 Gallons—but No Gas.

"Finally the last fuse flashed out and there we were with 800 gallons of gasoline and not one drop for our motors," said Ryan. "We had just enough left to take us within five miles of an island."

"I overheard Gunner Roland C. Lorenz ask the photographer, Capt. Bergert G. Spees, if he was afraid. 'You're damn tooting I'm scared,' said Spees.

"Because of electrical trouble our bombs would not release; so to make the plane lighter for a possible crash, Gunner Bernard D. Lane of Vincennes, Ind., and Charles H. Seltzer, manually lifted the 300 pounders and dropped them into the deep.

Ready for Jump.

"Meanwhile all of us put on our Mae Wests [life jackets] and had our parachutes handy for the jump when necessary.

"Then Tech. Sgt. John H. Miller saw the gold shoulder bar on the shoulder of 2d Lt. George Moser, 24, of Chicago, our bombardier, who now is on the mainland in a replacement group.

"Miller unpinned it and rushed to the fuse box and used the gold plated shoulder bar for a fuse and, glory be, the pump began working."

Pilot Maj. Robert E. Speer landed his ship safely.

Report Norse Churchmen Protest Forced War Toil

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 11 (AP).—Norwegian church leaders have formally protested to Vidkun Quisling against the use of compulsory labor on German fortification projects along the coasts of Norway, reports from Norway said tonight. The protests to the puppet premier were based on the contention that such compulsion violates the Hague conventions, the reports said. The projects were said to include anti-tank ditches, airports, and submarine bases.

MEET IN WASHINGTON ON NEXT STEP IN WAR

SOVIET ACCORD WITH ALLIES ON PLAN FORESEEN

LONDON, May 12 [Wednesday] (AP).—Britons, recalling the positive military actions after previous conclaves, today welcomed the new Churchill-Roosevelt meeting in Washington as a prelude to a grand attack on axis held Europe.

Best informed observers said flatly that war strategy was the prime purpose of the conference altho political problems involved in the invasion plans undoubtedly were discussed, as well as coördination of Russian and allied offensives.

Soothing of the disputes between the Poles and Russians and the intramural arguments of the French also were regarded as likely subjects to be taken into consideration, together with allotment of war supplies for the global conflict.

Allied High Tide.

Churchill's visit, aside from the practical value which high sources give it as "supreme propaganda," comes at what is held here to be the moment of greatest opportunity for the allies.

Their military stock never was higher. The occupied countries are seething with revolt, which has finally broken into the open in Holland and other countries.

In the light of the Churchill-Roosevelt meeting, observers are convinced that Stalin was fully informed that it was scheduled, that he knew the kill was on for Tunisia, and that he had been assured the second front was not far off.

Recall Time Involved.

It was pointed out, however, that nearly five months were required after the June meeting to organize the attack on North Africa.

There was speculation here that the real invasion, whether on what the prime minister has called the vulnerable "soft underbelly of the axis" or somewhere between Spain and the North Cape, might be preceded by a series of diversionary feints.

Churchill's trip has been a well kept secret. There were reports a week ago he either had gone or was going somewhere. But even after his absence from commons today tipped the fact he was out of the country, it still was not known by many in well informed circles just where he had gone.

Expect Russian Accord.

Max Aitken's Daily Express asserted that "one fact is plain" about the Roosevelt-Churchill meeting—"that strategy will be determined in accord with Russia's intensions," and that whatever is settled in Washington will not be simply a joint British-American decision. "Mr. Aitken also arrived in Washington yesterday.

"The pattern of the future laid down will bear the impress of Stalin as well as of Roosevelt and Churchill," the paper added.

PRISONERS WALK THRU ROME TO VATICAN REFUGE

LONDON, May 11 (AP).—A Canadian and two British prisoners of war escaped from a Rome hospital to the Vatican April 14 and may be exchanged for three Italian war prisoners held by Britain, it was reported today.

Squadron Leader Vincent K. McCauley, bomber pilot of Toronto, an R. A. F. flight lieutenant, and a British army quartermaster sergeant walked from the hospital thru the streets of Rome in battle dress. Swiss guards at the Vatican gates let them in.

Romans who saw the trio apparently mistook them for Germans.

ACE PILOT FOSS ARRIVES TODAY FOR BUSY VISIT

Capt. Joseph Foss, marine corps ace leading all American fighter pilots in destruction of enemy planes, will arrive in Chicago this morning for a visit of two days. His wife, June, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Lacey Foss, preceded him and will meet him here. Capt. Foss will visit Navy pier at 10:15 a. m. and will be the noon guest of the Union League club at luncheon. Between 2 and 4 p. m. he will visit several war plants and speak to workers.

Allied Heads Confer in White House; 5th Parley.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 11.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain arrived in Washington tonight for a series of conferences with President Roosevelt on plans for the future conduct of the war against the axis.

The conferences, involving the whole question of allied strategy and the disposition of American and British forces in the global conflict, are expected to be the most momentous of the war up to date.

The decisions by the British and American chiefs of state will affect profoundly the employment of the resources of the United States, the British empire, Russia, China, and other allies in the common undertaking and the length of time it will take to force the enemy to unconditional surrender.

Invasion Main Topic.

The most important matter to be dealt with in the deliberations of Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Churchill, and their military advisers is the time and place or places for the invasion of Europe, which, now that the allies are in control of North Africa, is expected to be launched in the next few months.

It also is regarded a likely possibility that the groundwork will be laid at the White House meetings for a conference in which Josef Stalin, Russian dictator, will participate for the consideration of war and post-war questions.

Mr. Churchill reached Washington early this evening and was met by the President. After an exchange of cordial, in fact jovial, greetings, they drove to the White House, where Mr. Churchill will be the President's guest during his stay in America.

White House Tells Arrival.

At 6:48 p. m. the White House issued the following statement:

"Prime Minister Winston Churchill has arrived in Washington. He was met by the President upon arrival and will be the President's guest for the duration of his visit. Mr. Churchill was accompanied by a staff of experts, military and naval."

After dinner the prime minister and the President repaired to Mr. Roosevelt's study, where they plunged at once into discussion of the situation confronting the allies at this juncture of the war. Mr. Churchill agreed to the conference at the invitation of Mr. Roosevelt, according to a dispatch from the British Press association in London.

Aitken with Premier.

Accompanying Mr. Churchill was Max Aitken, formerly chief of British aircraft production and still a powerful figure in British government counsels.

Inasmuch as Aitken, who is known in England as Lord Beaverbrook, is one of the most aggressive exponents of the establishment of a second front in Europe and has been agitating in his newspapers for months for an immediate invasion of the continent, unusual significance attaches to his inclusion in the prime minister's entourage.

The names of the naval and military advisers accompanying Mr. Churchill were not made public and the British information service said that they would not be provided without express authority from the White House.

Aids of Comparable Rank.

It was understood, however, that they include British army and admiralty officials corresponding in rank with Gen. George C. Marshall, United States army chief of staff; Adm. Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet and chief of operations, and Adm. William D. Leahy, Commander in Chief Roosevelt's chief of staff.

One of the matters to be considered at the White House conferences, according to a dispatch from London, is the appointment of an allied generalissimo to take command of the entire undertaking of the invasion of Europe. Linked with this question is that of the combining of the European and African theaters of war into a single sphere.

British speculation on the choice of generalissimo revolves chiefly around Gen. Marshall and Gen. Harold Alexander, commander of all allied ground forces.

Whether allied strategy will be altered in any particular at the meetings between the President and the prime minister is a matter on which there is much speculation. This strategy calls for concentration of all available resources upon the defeat of Hitler first on the theory that Japan then will be more easily disposed of.

This strategy was agreed upon at one of the earliest of the conferences of the President and the prime minister, of which the current one is the fifth. Their first meeting was on the United States cruiser Augusta off the American coast in August, 1941. In this meeting they evolved the Atlantic charter.

Their second meeting was immediately after Pearl Harbor, which brought Mr. Churchill hurriedly to Washington. From that conference dates the strategy of conquering Hitler first and the plan to occupy north Africa as a prelude to the invasion of Europe.

British Aid Pledged.

The strategy further was developed during the visit Mr. Churchill made to Washington in the summer of 1942 and in the meeting of the prime minister and the President at Casablanca last winter. On several occasions Mr. Churchill uttered the public pledge that as soon as Hitler is defeated the British will divert their military power to the Pacific to join with the United States and China in the annihilation of Japan.

In the course of the discussion of the master strategy at Casablanca, Mr. Churchill offered to embody the British pledge of assistance against Japan in a formal treaty. Mr. Roosevelt rejected the proposal, saying he was willing to take the word of an English gentleman.

Later the prime minister disclosed in a broadcast that the pledge did not embrace the employment of all British military resources against Japan. He said it will not be necessary or feasible to use all British and American land forces against Japan and that after the defeat of Hitler there will be a partial demobilization of ground units. He viewed the war against Japan as chiefly a naval and air operation.

Strategy Stirs Dissatisfaction.

There has been much dissatisfaction with the Churchill-Roosevelt strategy in this country. Recently it has been voiced in congress even by supporters of the Roosevelt administration. Because even the American "arsenal of democracy" cannot turn out enough arms to equip the allies on all fronts, the policy of defeating Hitler first has relegated the war against Japan to merely a holding action.

America is containing the Japs in the vast empire they have conquered, while the Japs are being given the time to mobilize the captured resources for a long war.

In accord with the master strategy the allocation of Anglo-American resources is first to the war on submarines in the Atlantic, next to the European theater of war, and after that to the Pacific. This basis of priorities was established at the Casablanca conference. From London comes a hint that there may be a revision of these priorities at the current conference in Washington whereby more planes and other arms will be furnished to the allied forces in the Pacific and Asiatic regions.

Apprehensive Over India.

There are indications that the British are becoming apprehensive over the success of the Japanese counter-offensive in Burma in the last few days which has forced the British to retreat to India and over Japanese air forays against Australia.

Mr. Stalin undoubtedly will be the subject of a good deal of White House conversation. Both Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt are greatly concerned over the Russo-Polish row and Mr. Stalin's post-war territorial designs which include the projected annexation of Latvia, Estonia, and Lithuania, eastern Poland, a slice of Finland, and Bessarabia.

The Stalin program doesn't square with the Atlantic Charter to which Stalin subscribed. Moreover, it has caused a revulsion in this country against getting involved in any such post-war European quarrel, with the result that the plans of Mr. Roosevelt and other internationalists for a super-state are not prospering.

Stalin Conference Sought.

Both Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt would like to get Stalin to sit down with them and talk these things over. They tried to get him to come to the meeting in Africa last winter, offering to name a place farther east if it would suit his convenience better. He sent his regrets, however.

At that time Stalin was evincing a good deal of coolness toward Britain and America and complaining that Russia was carrying the burden of the war alone. Recently, however, he has warmed up to the western allies. Mr. Roosevelt has just dispatched Joseph E. Davies, former American ambassador to Russia, to Moscow with a mysterious letter to Stalin, a letter which might relate to the Russo-Polish row or might be designed to induce Stalin to meet the President and the prime minister.

38 ARMY CAMPS SCORN PRODUCE FROM JAP CAMP

Food for War Could Be Almost Limitless.

[This article is the sixth in a series by a Tribune reporter who observed conditions at relocation camps for Japanese.]

BY GUY GENTRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rivers, Ariz., May 11.—American taxpayers are paying out thousands of dollars needlessly and thousands of soldiers could have fresher and more appetizing food if the Japanese in this government relocation center were permitted to supply fresh vegetables to 38 army camps, all within overnight delivery distance.

This camp now has 788 acres in vegetables. The acreage could be increased within 60 days to 7,000 acres and eventually to 14,000, if needed. On half the present acreage, with the double season production that is possible in Arizona's warm climate, the Japanese living here produced 15,900,000 pounds of vegetables in nine months. Production is on the increase and Rivers plans to ship large quantities of vegetables to the nine other relocation centers, particularly in the colder months when production of such food is not possible in the more northern camps.

Army Buys Elsewhere.

The army now goes into the open market to buy its vegetables needed for the scores of army training camps of all descriptions scattered along the southern border in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and California. They would, in theory, pay the war relocation authority, which governs the 10 Jap relocation centers, for these vegetables. But it would be a bookkeeping transaction, one governmental agency purchasing from another, with a huge saving to the taxpayers.

When WRA officials located this center on 16,000 acres leased from the Pima Indians it was intended as the principal food production camp of the 10 centers. The growing season here is nearly nine months. Extreme heat in the summer halts the growth of some varieties of vegetables. Seven thousand acres had been irrigated and planted in alfalfa for six years. The land was in excellent condition for raising vegetables when the first contingent of evacuated Japanese began arriving last July.

Results Come Quickly.

Work was started immediately and results came quickly. Despite warnings of Arizona farmers that many of the vegetables the Japs were planting would not grow, fine crops were produced. For the first time Arizona began raising in commercial quantities such crops as celery, string beans, peas, turnips, beets, spinach, cabbage and lettuce. Leroy Bennett, camp director, remarked that "we have vegetables running out our ears."

Knowing the suspicion with which the rest of the nation looks upon them, citizen as well as alien, most of the 104,000 evacuated from the Pacific coastal area have been anxious to prove at every opportunity their loyalty and their willingness to help the national war program. One of the first requests made by the Japs was that they be allowed to grow food for the army. But the army did not care to buy their vegetables.

Packing Crates Denied.

With the nation short of food, WRA officials sought to help out by marketing vegetables that the center could not use. Arrangements were made with an Arizona firm to buy packing crates but when time for delivery came WRA officials were told this firm could not supply them. The report reached Rivers that Arizona farmers had threatened to boycott the company if crates were sold to the Jap camp. The evacuated Japs made crates from scrap lumber for their first shipments to the other centers. Later, off-size boxes that are not used commercially were purchased.

Despite the large productive possibilities at Rivers and the growing food scarcity, the Japs can produce only for their own needs and for shipment to the nine other camps. These shipments are limited, for all camps have their own farm land, tho most of the centers have comparatively short growing seasons.

Collect Scrap Lumber.

Director Bennett said requests for material to build a dehydrating plant, so that some of the surplus vegetables could be dehydrated, had been turned down. However, scrap lumber has been collected and work started on a small plant of limited capacity.

The Rivers camp has produced, in addition to its vegetables, crops of flax, castor beans and cotton as part of its effort to aid the war. The camp now has 750 beef cattle, altho priorities prevent building a slaughter house. The beginning of a dairy herd—20 Jersey cows—has been purchased and 400 brood sows were imported from California. Thousands of chickens will be raised at the camp this summer.

Carl Quast, farm superintendent, estimates that with 4,000 of the 7,000 available acres under cultivation the Japs at Rivers could produce all the vegetables they could eat and ship 2,000 carloads a year to other centers and to nearby army camps.

Land Is Unlimited.

Included in the available labor at Rivers are hundreds of Japanese who farmed in California. Japanese women, as well as men, work in the fields. One Jap ran a large seed business before evacuation. He is now in charge of 60 acres devoted solely to raising seeds for the 10 Jap centers. Two others headed large nurseries. The results they have gained here, utilizing what scrap lumber could be salvaged after construction of camp buildings, have almost revolutionized agricultural methods of this region.

The supply of land is almost unlimited. Labor is available. Unlimited water can be obtained from the Coolidge reservoir about 100 miles up the Gila river. And thousands of the nation's soldiers in the training camps and on desert maneuvers would relish their meals more if vegetables picked from the fields the day before were included.

PRESS APPLAUDS EDEN'S SCORN OF FRANCO'S OFFER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 11.—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's announcement that the British government is "not interested" in Generalissimo Franco's mediation offer won the approval of press and political commentators here tonight. Eden made the statement in the house of commons in reply to Locker Lampson, a Conservative, who in recalling Franco's speech of yesterday sought assurance that the British government would "have nothing to do with any interference on the part of this full time Spanish Fascist."

The Evening News has no doubt Hitler "agrees heartily with his friend Franco" and would "be delighted to patch up a compromise peace," despite Germany's claims it has 15,000,000 soldiers behind powerful fortifications ready to resist invasion.

"Hitler's might is on the wane," the Evening News adds. "Ours is coming to irresistible fullness. Franco's appeal will meet no response from the united nations. Peace now, with the Germans still undefeated, would be less valuable and less enduring than even the peace of Versailles."

BIAS IS DENIED IN BANNING JAPS ON WEST COAST

SupremeCourt Questions Its Right in Case.

Washington, D. C., May 11 (AP).—An assertion was made and denied today before the Supreme court that "racial prejudice" by Lt. Gen. John L. Dewitt, in charge of the western defense command, was responsible for his imposition of a west coast curfew on all persons of Japanese ancestry and excluding them from specified areas.

A. L. Wirin, Los Angeles attorney, representing an American born person of Japanese ancestry, contended that the orders were issued "in bad faith and were aimed at a group of persons solely because of their race and ancestry."

He quoted Gen. De Witt as having testified before a house naval affairs subcommittee that "a Jap's a Jap and it makes no difference whether he is an American citizen or not. I don't want any of them. We got them out. They were a dangerous element."

Denies "Bad Faith."

In reply, Solicitor General Charles Fahy asserted that "there is no justification for saying the commanding general acted in bad faith."

The Pearl Harbor disaster had "left the west coast exposed to destructive enemy attack," Fahy argued, and it was "imperative that those charged with the defense of our shores take adequate protective measures against a possible invasion."

The argument was on the validity of the convictions of two American born persons of Japanese ancestry. Gordon Kiyoshi Hirabayashi of Seattle was sentenced to three months' imprisonment for violating the curfew regulation and failing to report to an evacuation center. Minoru Yasui of Portland, Ore., was sentenced to one year's imprisonment and fined $5,000 for violating the curfew regulation.

Justices Doubt Power.

Justices Robert Jackson, Hugo L. Black, and Felix Frankfurter questioned whether the courts had power to pass on decisions of military leaders concerning what action should be taken in the face of an invasion threat. Wirin contended the regulations issued were subject to judicial review.

Wirin and E. F. Bernard of Portland, attorneys for Yasui, and Harold Evans of Philadelphia, counsel for Hirabayashi, contended that the orders unconstitutionally discriminated against American citizens born in this country of Japanese parents.

"Not one person of Japanese ancestry in the United States," Wirin said, "has been prosecuted for espionage or sabotage."

A brief was filed by attorneys general of California, Oregon, and Washington contending that the regulations "were appropriately directed to securing the safety of the Pacific coast against threatened invasion and attack and from sabotage and espionage."

Settlement Made

AVA GARDNER.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 11 (AP).—Counsel for Mickey Rooney and his actress wife, Ava Gardner, who is suing him for a divorce, reported yesterday a property settlement has been made out of court.

The actress filed suit May 1 asking a divorce from the 21 year old film star, after having abandoned divorce proceedings twice before. She married Rooney at Ballard, Cal., in January, 1942.

Rooney, rejected recently for military service after a physical examination, plans to leave soon on an entertainment tour of army camps.

Gets 90 Day Sentence for Fraudulent Voting

CHARGES JAPS AT CAMP IDLE AND PAMPERED

Mountains of Rationed Food Stored Away.

Denver, Colo., May 11 [Special].—Streets of Cody and Powell, Wyo., towns nearest to the Heart Mountain, Wyo., Japanese relocation center, were empty of Japanese today for the first time in months, the result of petitions by the town councils to Guy Robertson, camp director, to forbid their appearance in the towns unless accompanied by military escort.

Wyoming district No. 1 of the American Legion, which embraces southwestern Wyoming, announced it has adopted resolutions demanding a thoro federal inquiry at Heart Mountain. Senators Harry S. Truman and A. B. Chandler already had announced that a senate committee would investigate.

These developments followed charges by Earl A. Best of Denver, former assistant steward at the camp, who resigned in protest against methods of administration, that the 10,300 Japanese there are pampered, coddled, left largely in idleness and permitted free rein without supervision. Best presented his charges in a signed statement before Malcolm E. Pitts, regional war relocation administration director.

Mountains of Food.

A reporter for a Denver newspaper visited the camp and reported mountainlike stores of foodstuffs held in camp warehouses and surreptitiously hidden in mess hall attics by chefs and others. This investigation revealed, the newspaper said, food for 20,017,220 ration points, or enough for camp residents for three years, seven months and fourteen days.

Some of the stocks the newspaper reporter listed included: 86,480 cans of fruit, 268,293 cans of rationed vegetables, 141,405 packages of cereals, 61,914 jars of jellies, 58,840 pounds of macaroni, noodles, etc.; 7,000 boxes of soda crackers, 6,853 gallons of mayonnaise, altho 4,000 gallons had been shipped out to other WRA camps only recently; and more than 12,000 cans of spices.

Race Around in Tractors.

The investigator found the camp possessed 20 new tractors, 120 sets of mule harness and 100 tobacco carts, tho there are no mules or horses within miles of the center. Japanese told him "it was great fun to put the tractors in high and race in the fields."

Best and others charged foodstuffs were being traded by internees outside the camp for whisky. Under the prevailing guard system, they said, any one may drive to and from the camp with cargoes unexamined.

Robertson denied all the charges. Food, he said, is bought entirely by the army quartermaster corps. Much of the huge stores, he asserted, was bought before point rationing began, but, he added, all internees are held strictly to point rations.

HITLER IN PARIS, REPLACES NAZI GENERAL THERE

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, May 12 [Wednesday].—Back in Paris after a two day inspection tour of his "Atlantic wall" defenses, Adolf Hitler late yesterday ousted Col. Gen. Ernst von Schaumberg as commander of the occupation forces in the Paris region and appointed 52 year old Gen. von Beulenburg-Wehrfeldt as commander of all forces in the "northwestern region," Berlin announced early today.

The move followed long conversations with his military advisers, during which the reichsfuehrer "acted on the latest reports from Tunisia."

A usually well informed Berlin source reported that Hitler intends to extend his shakeup of the western command to all ranks. Col. Gen. Jurgen von Arnim has been mentioned as a possible appointee, tho it is still doubted here whether he succeeded in escaping the allied ring in Tunisia.

CHARGES ARMY'S RED TAPE SNAGS SAFETY EFFORTS

Official Quits in Protest; Says He's Helpless.

Omaha, Neb., May 11 [Special]. —Army red tape and burocratic confusion have nullified all efforts thus far to establish a war department safety program, E. C. Forsythe, until last week chief of the safety section of the army's 7th service command, said here today in confirming that he resigned last week in protest against the situation.

Forsythe said lack of a safety program in the 7th service command, which includes nine midwestern states, has sent the accident rate among the army's 35,000 civilian employés in this area far above normal industrial levels. He said that in one camp he found an accident frequency rate of 240 per million man hours of labor, whereas a rate of 10 is regarded as high among safety engineers.

"I have learned of war department employés having injuries and deaths from inexcusable causes, with no concrete plan of establishing corrective measures," Forsythe said in his letter of resignation to Brig. Gen. Paul B. Clemens, head of the 7th service command's internal security division.

Says Reports Pile Up.

Forsythe said that an army safety program was established by a directive dated Aug. 31, 1942, but that no active campaign has been organized. Forsythe said that the army requires detailed accident reports from industrial plants doing war work, but that the reports simply pile up, with no action being taken on them.

"I have had to observe more time wasting since being on this job than any other time in my career," Forsythe told Gen. Clemens. "I can no longer be a party to such a program and hereby ask that I be relieved of duty. I feel that I have been able to do practically nothing during recent months to contribute to the cutting down of this waste."

Forsythe said in discussing his experiences during six months here that he found his hands tied by red tape in attempting to investigate three fatalities and to recommend preventive measures. He said that in one case a civilian was burned to death in the dry cleaning establishment at Fort Riley, Kansas, while in another two men were killed at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, in accidents incident to coal handling.

Criticized for Action.

"We had no authority to go out and investigate these accidents," he said. "They were clearly cases where the causes should have been established and bulletins sent to other posts explaining the danger and recommending proper safety measures."

Forsythe said that in one instance where he took summary action to eliminate fire hazards in Des Moines hotels housing WAACs he was criticised by superiors for not following "regular army channels." He said he went to these hotels after he learned that underwriters had disapproved of conditions and found the army had converted them into firetraps by padlocking all but one ground floor exit in each case.

"Each hotel housed 800 women," he said. "A fire would have caused a situation which would have made the Cocoanut Grove fire and loss of life in Boston [Mass.] seem relatively small."

Reports Case to General.

Forsythe said he at once reported this in person to the commading general of the 7th service command, who promptly telephoned the WAAC commandant at Des Moines.

"The padlocks came off the next day," Forsythe said, "but I was severely criticised for the procedure I had followed. I was told I should have applied for written permission to make an inspection of the hotels and that my recommendations should have taken regular channels instead of going directly to the commanding general."

Forsythe informed Gen. Clemens that he was making public his resignation and the reasons for it in the hope that measures to vitalize the safety program would be taken. He sent copies of his letter to several congressmen who have expressed interest in safety work, he said.

The 7th service command headquarters reported "no comment" on the resignation.

Forsythe is a native of Kansas City, Mo., and a graduate of the San Diego [Cal.] Polytechnic institute. He worked as a safety engineer for oil companies and insurance firms from 1919 until 1941, when he joined the department of labor in Washington, D. C.

Tells of Sinking German U-Boat

MANSION THAT PIANOS BUILT IS SOLD FOR $8,000

BY AL CHASE.

One of Chicago's most famous mansions, the W. W. Kimball stone residence at the southeast corner of Prairie avenue and 18th street, in the heart of the city's south side Gold Coast of the '80s and '90s, was sold yesterday by the Architects' Realty Trust, composed of nearly 100 prominent architects.

The buyer was Miss Daisy Hull, who has been operating the Elizabeth Hull school in the old residence under a lease. She paid $8,000 for the property, which cost the architects $100,000 in 1924.

Designed by the late S. S. Beman, a noted Chicago architect, after the Château de Josselin in Brittany, it was built by Kimball, piano manufacturer, in 1892.

Take Loss on Good Deed.

Across the street, at the southwest corner, stood the almost equally famous home of millionaire John J. Glessner, designed by one of the nation's most famous architects, Henry Hobson Richardson of Boston. Glessner told the architects if they would protect him against undesirable neighbors during the rest of his life, he'd give them his home when he died.

THE KIMBALL MANSION.

So 100 architects clubbed together, putting in $1,000 each, and the Kimball house was purchased. When Glessner died, the trustees found he had willed his home to the architects. Having one white elephant on their hands, they decided against taking on another and title never was conveyed to them. Later it was given to Illinois Institute of Technology.

Has Famous Paintings.

The Kimball home was used by the Chicago chapter, American Institute of Architects, the Illinois Society of Architects, and the Architects Club of Chicago as an architectural center until 1937. Since then it has been used by the Hull school. The house still contains some famous paintings and architectural books owned by the architects.

Charles Collins wrote in "A Line o' Type or Two" of Feb. 9: "A first class French château it was, on the choicest street in Our Town, not as large as old Mr. Field's and old Mr. Pullman's, but a noble piece of architecture which stirred their envy.

"Some folks say that Mr. Kimball put almost a million dollars into it, with its furnishings. It still looks like an aristocrat, but it's an orphan of the storm and a stepchild of the blight."

Richard Schmidt, chairman; Gerhardt Meyne and Elmer Jensen, trustees for the Architects' Realty Trust, conveyed title to the new owner.

Hotel Guest Found Dead; Police Arrest Manager

An unidentified man, about 63 years old and well dressed, was found dead yesterday in his room in the Wrightwood hotel, 2616 North Clark street. Sheffield avenue police said he apparently died of natural causes. They arrested Arthur Goodell, 47, the hotel manager, on a charge of failing to register a guest.

TELLS HOW NAZI TIN FISH TOOK ITS LAST DIVE

Coast Guard Rescues 33 from Sub.

Here is a true story about a big fish that didn't get away.

Thirty years ago when Maurice D. Jester, a native of Chincoteague, Va., was an Atlantic seaboard fisherman, his favorite fishing ground was 40 miles off the coast of the Carolinas, where he once caught a 50 pound red channel bass.

Today, a lieutenant commander of the United States coast guard, Jester recently steered his latest command, the cutter Icarus, into his favorite fishing grounds. He was still fishing and his luck held out.

Send Sub to Sea Bottom.

Cmdr. Jester and his crew, one of the "fightingest" afloat, baited their hooks with depth charges and after a half hour battle, landed a German tin fish, a 300 foot submarine. They landed the scavenger right on the bottom of the ocean.

The story of the battle was told by Cmdr. Jester yesterday when he arrived in Chicago to appear on a radio program. The sinking was announced by the navy department May 1, but the commander's story gave details hitherto untold.

Jester, who enlisted as a surfman 28 years ago and served with Atlantic patrols during the first World war, said the 165 foot Icarus "contacted" the submarine about 4:30 p. m. on a quiet afternoon. The U-boat, without surfacing, fired a torpedo, but Jester swung the cutter quickly enough to escape a hit.

"We dropped three patterns of depth charges," Cmdr. Jester related. "The first two charges damaged the sub and the third blew it to the surface. We were overmatched, but the Icarus' shell fire was so accurate that the battle was settled when the sub bounced to the surface.

Nazis Give Up Fight.

"We riddled her before her crew could get into action. Three sailors hopped out of the conning tower hatch and tried to turn the sub's foredeck 4.5 gun on us, but we hit two of the men, and all three gave up the fight, leaping into the sea.

"Then the other crewmen—33 in all—emerged thru the hatch and tumbled one after another into the sea as the submarine sank slowly.

"We rescued all 33, who wore artificial lungs and life preservers. They were excited and nervous as they came aboard and until one of the Germans asked me if we were going to shoot them. That's what they had been told from home would be their punishment because they were 'commerce raiders.' They felt better when I told them we were not Nazis."

Casualties Are All Nazis.

Comdr. Jester said the Germans suffered the only casualties—the two gunners who were wounded and other members of the Nazi crew who went down with their ship. The normal complement of the U-boat was 47 men, the coast guard said.

Among those captured was the submarine's skipper, Rathke, who spoke English. Another prisoner said he once lived in Detroit.

Comdr. Jester, who will be 54 years old tomorrow, was awarded the navy cross for his achievement. His home is in Miami, Fla. He is married and the father of three sons in military service and two daughters.

BAD TEXTBOOKS BLAMED FOR U. S. HISTORY DUNCES

Expert Says World Allure Veils Americanism.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

If high school students arrive at our colleges as dolts in American history and reach voting age as dunces in historical backgrounds for good citizenship, it is attributable in large part to history textbooks which do not rate a passing grade as teaching instruments.

This is the conclusion of Dr. C. William Vogel of the history department of the college of engineering of the University of Cincinnati, one of the first to investigate the adequacy of American history textbooks used in high schools.

After questioning state departments of education, superintendents of schools, and history teachers in 300 cities of more than 50,000 population each, Dr. Vogel announced that most of the history books are out of date. The chief cause of the obsolescence of the textbooks, he said, is "mass education, which in turn produced the demand that free textbooks should be furnished to the pupils."

Costs Overshadow Needs.

In one-half of the cities reporting to Dr. Vogel, textbooks were furnished by the city or state. The consequent heavy investment, he found, discouraged public bodies from replacement at frequent intervals, regardless of the need for revision. In addition, he said, there have been many rumors that "rackets" rather than academic considerations enter into the textbook situation.

Long winded textbooks and a tendency to teach American history in the third high school year instead of the fourth also were criticized by Dr. Vogel.

"Such a procedure," Dr. Vogel said, "puts a bulky book in the hands of pupils who are not as mature as those for whom the writers intended the texts. Besides, the lengthy text often fails to 'point up' pertinent historical personages and events and disregards the fact that no extra school time is allotted to history."

One recent textbook revision, Dr. Vogel pointed out, produced a volume of 1,000 pages which had to be covered in the same classroom time as earlier and less bulky textbooks.

Assail Military Neglect.

More than half of the complaints heard by Dr. Vogel were against the neglect of the country's military history.

"Many teachers do not appear to realize the implications of this defect of the textbooks," Dr. Vogel said. "Thinking solely in terms of battles won and lost, statistics and casualties, and movement of regiments, our textbook historians have lost sight of some of the broader lessons which can be learned from our military history, including lack of preparedness with which America has always entered war, legislative interference with military strategy, importance of supply and its neglect in our military operations, and the rôle of industrial equipment in all the country's wars."

Another widely reported criticism was the failure of the textbook writers to recognize their responsibility for citizenship training. A chief source of trouble, Dr. Vogel said, appears to be the tendency to succumb to the lure of world affairs.

"There is a danger," said Dr. Vogel, "that American history may become a superficial account of contemporary world history at the expense of the great story of the growth of democracy in the United States."

Raps Unattractive Makeup.

In contrast with the brilliant illustrations and use of color printing in first rate newspapers and other journals of current history, the next defect cited by Dr. Vogel was the dullness and unattractiveness of illustration and makeup of textbooks.

Dr. Vogel said his studies show a demand for history books which are lavish in illustrations, photographs, cartoons, and graphs. The good history book of the future, he added, must be more inclusive than any yet produced, yet much shorter than most of those now on the market. This, he said, will call for a master of the economy of words.

GIRL SAYS LOVE FOR CHAPLIN LED TO TERM IN JAIL

Gets 30 Day Sentence for Annoying Star.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 11.—A red haired New York girl—a former waitress who once stood on the threshold of a movie career—is in county jail here tonight serving a 30 day sentence for annoying Charlie Chaplin, with whom, she says, she is in love. She is Joan Barry, 23, who came here from New York in 1940.

Joan was arrested Saturday at the Beverly Hills home of the white haired actor and producer, whose antics as the melancholy little man with the funny feet and mustache have made millions of screen fans laugh.

"But in spite of all that has happened, I still love Charles," Joan said when interviewed in her cell today.

Joan was hailed into court last Jan. 2 and sentenced to 90 days for vagrancy after annoying Chaplin. But Municipal Judge Charles Griffin suspended that sentence on her promise to leave Beverly Hills and never bother the actor-producer again.

Story of Her Adventures.

This is story Joan tells of her adventures in movieland and how Chaplin, Paulette Goddard's ex-husband, wooed her and won her love:

"When I came here in 1940 I worked at many jobs, including waiting on tables, until I attracted the attention of J. Paul Getty, millionaire oil man. He was assembling a party of girls to go to Mexico for the inauguration of Avila Camacho as president. I was invited to go along.

"While in Mexico I was given letters of introduction to Tim Durant, of United Artists, and when I got back I saw Durant. He suggested that I meet Chaplin and a dinner party was arranged.

"Charles [Chaplin] immediately told me that I had what it takes and he gave me a movie contract. That was in June, 1941. There was a lot of talk that he had bought the play 'Shadow and Substance' and that I was to have the starring rôle. Charles sent me to Max Reinhardt for dramatic instruction and also taught me himself.

Love Begins to Cool.

"It was during these lessons with Charles that I fell in love with him and I thought he was in love with me.

"But Charles' love finally began to cool and he began to give me what is known as the brush-off.

"Last New Year's eve, I became desperate and went to Charles' home. The watchman there beat me up and when I returned to my hotel I was so upset that I took an overdose of sleeping tablets by accident. A girl friend got excited and called the police, who had me removed to Beverly Hills Receiving hospital."

While she was still in the hospital, Joan said, police came there and took her to court where Judge Griffin gave her the suspended sentence and the warning.

Decides to Return.

"When I left court," she continued, "a policeman handed me a tourist ticket to New York and $100.

Joan said that when she got as far as Omaha she decided to get in touch with her oil man benefactor, Getty. She went to see him in Oklahoma, she said, told her story and he gave her enough money to return to Beverly Hills.

"I arrived in Beverly Hills three weeks ago," Joan continued, "and last Friday I went to see Charles again. At first he was very pleasant and seemed glad to see me. When I bawled him out for what he had done to me, he became angry and told me to get out. He called his chauffeur and ordered him to drive me home.

"I went back again Saturday and that was when they called the police and took me to Beverly Hills police station. I was sentenced that afternoon.

"No, I don't want a lawyer or anything. I still love Charles very much."

COUPLE KIDNAPS 2 CHILDREN FROM OAK PARK HOME

Phone Caller Later Says Mother Has Them.

Two small children were kidnaped from their beds in Oak Park last night by an unidentified man and an unidentified woman who by a novel ruse outwitted the housekeeper who had charge of the youngsters.

The victims of the kidnaping are Sandra Lee Snyder, 6 years old, and Albert G. Snyder Jr., 9, children of Albert G. Snyder, 911 North Harvey avenue, Oak Park, an insurance man, and Mrs. Garrison Snyder. The Snyders are separated, and Mrs. Snyder's last known address was 1117 North Dearborn street. Mrs. Snyder is 32 and a government employé.

Phones: "I've Got Children."

Two hours later Snyder received a telephone call from a woman whose voice he said he recognized as his wife's. She said, "I've got the children," and hung up.

Sandra Lee and Albert Jr. were sleeping upstairs in their bungalow home about 9 p. m., in the care of Mrs. Mary Schmitt, the housekeeper, when the front door bell was rung. Snyder Sr. was not at home. Mrs. Schmitt opened the door. A man confronted her.

"My name is Jeffers," he said. "I am looking for Mr. Snyder."

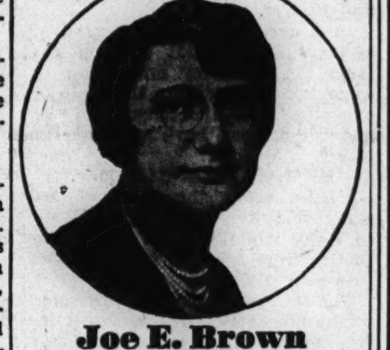
Mrs. Schmitt said Snyder wasn't in. Just then the rear door bell was rung, and the housekeeper excused herself to answer it, leaving "Mr. Jeffers" at the open front door. She found a strange woman at the rear door. The woman said she was seeking work as a maid.

Lock Door as She Talks.

While the two women were talking some one, presumably the mysterious "Mr. Jeffers," sneaked thru the house and locked the door separating the kitchen and the dining room, thus locking Mrs. Schmitt from the front of the house.

Mrs. Schmitt talked with the would-be maid for several minutes until she heard a child's cries. She tried to get thru the kitchen, but found the door locked. She ran out the back door. The woman was gone.

Mrs. Schmitt ran around to the front of the house, just in time to see "Mr. Jeffers" get into a car containing Sandra Lee, Albert Jr., and two adults, one a woman. The youngsters were screaming.



Joe E. Brown put his laughter aside to tell us THIS:

A few evenings ago, the famous Joe E. Brown (in a dead-serious mood) told America over the air that our fighting heroes at Guadalcanal were buying thousands of dollars' worth of U. S. War Bonds . . . out of their soldiers' pay. He challenged us: "Are we going to let those fellows do the fighting and buy their equipment, TOO?" We must answer that challenge. We will DO our part . . . we WILL buy War Bonds, yes, till it hurts!

NAZIS TRAPPED IN MOUNTAINS YIELD TO FRENCH

British Close on Enemy in Cape Bon Sack.

cans, British, and French in this final phase of the Tunisian fighting.

An announcement by an American staff officer at Mateur said 35,912 axis prisoners had been counted by the United States 2d army corps up to Monday night. He said there were six Germans to one Italian. Vast quantities of material including 88 millimeter guns were taken and much of the captured equipment will go to the French army, he said.

What was described by a military spokesman as "probably the last tank battle of the African campaign" was being fought between the British 6th armored division and remnants of a Nazi armored force in the neighborhood of Grombalia.

Feel Pinch of Hunger.

The round the clock aerial attacks making it impossible for the enemy to attempt any organized escape from the Cape Bon death trap also are keeping the axis forces from distributing what food and supplies they have on the peninsula.

The British reported that the Germans already are beginning to feel the pinch of hunger.

Enemy troops on Cape Bon peninsula were cut off from escape by water because of allied supremacy of the sea and air. Allied airmen sweeping the beaches said escape attempts were few.

The allied communique said five small boats were sunk off Cape Bon yesterday and the previous night. Among many prisoners taken by the naval forces was a German general, the seventh to be captured, who was trying to escape.

Coast Closely Watched.

"Intense naval activity still prevails off the coast of Cape Bon peninsula, where large fires were seen last night," the communique said, adding that "the coast is closely watched and blockaded."

The German air force has been chased out of the Tunisian skies so completely that only one enemy plane was seen yesterday—a Focke-Wulf 190 fighter which was shot down as it attempted to slip away.

P-40s [Warhawks] destroyed several trucks with bombs and strafed enemy troops and vehicles in the Hammamet-Korba area.

ADMIT FORCES DIVIDED.

The Berlin radio admitted in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press that allied forces had "cut the connection between axis troops resisting in the mountains east and northeast of Zaghouan and the rest of the defenders on Cape Bon peninsula."

Quoting the military correspondent, Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, the broadcast said the two axis groups were continuing their resistance but that "it can only take a very short while before they, too, have fired their last round of ammunition, for the blockade of the peninsula by allied naval and air force is complete and excludes every possibility of bringing up supplies."

HITLER'S SHOCK TROOPS BECOME BROKEN RABBLE

Story of Axis Collapse on Cape Bon Peninsula.

BY DANIEL DE LUCE.

GROMBALIA, on Cap Bon Peninsula, Tunisia, May 10 [Delayed] (AP).—Adolf Hitler's famous shock troops became a desperate rabble, running for their lives into the hills of Cap Bon Peninsula or surrendering in thousands today.

The collapse of the once proud German divisions rivals that of their scorned Italian satellites.

All morning I raced forward with the armored scout cars and saw the spectacle of the German army humbled in the dust of a panicky retreat.

Only a few artillerymen were making any sort of resistance to the British. Five thousand German infantrymen surrendered in four hours to one armored brigade.

Fate Worse Than Dunkirk.

A fate worse than Dunkirk has overwhelmed Hitler's African corps. I have just entered Grombalia, and six miles away to the north the little town of Soliman also has been captured.

A German vehicle containing three dead officers was still burning across the road from my car.

Four German armored force grenadiers, who said they had come from the Russian front to Africa last December, came up and asked me to accept their surrender.

"We are kaputt [ruined]," declared a grimy faced blond sergeant who towered above my height of 6 feet 3 inches. "We have no food, no munitions, no benzine."

Bundles Over Their Backs.

The four stood in the whirling white dust of the main highway, their guns abandoned and little blanket bundles slung over their backs, while passing British armor ignored them.

"You must march to the prisoner of war stockade at the junction," I advised them. The little group shuffled off obediently.

Farther on a lieutenant colonel formally accepted the surrender of a German major and all his surviving junior officers and men. Military police clambered into a captured German half-track troop carrier and escorted a column of 200 toward the rear.

"Would you like to ride?" asked the colonel politely.

"Thank you," the major replied in good English. "But I should prefer to march with my men."

Tanks Sweep Thru Gap.

The German command obviously had hoped to stall off the British at Hammam Lif, a picturesque Moslem village on the plain a half mile wide between the hills and the sparkling Mediterranean.

Sherman tanks swept thru this gap nine miles southeast of Tunis in a ten hour battle on Sunday, outflanking a line of German 88s by sending one squadron along the sandy beach.

It was strictly an armored show; no British infantry was used today.

This morning the armored advance guard swept forward 9 to 13 miles as the enemy defense collapsed in a mad rout.

Huge stocks of military supplies were found untouched in the warehouses of big vineyards near Grombalia and Soliman. In their frantic haste the enemy failed to blow up any bridge or to lay a single mine.

Large parking lots filled with undamaged enemy vehicles were scattered in the fields and the hills to the right of the main highway. Fields were dotted with baggage cast off by the fleeing Germans.

Refugees and carts piled high with bedclothes and pots and pans were returning to their shell pitted homes.

A black bereted general, who was studying his maps in the turret of a Sherman parked on a steep and rocky hill above acres of green vines, told me:

"It's all over; there isn't going to be any axis Dunkirk. A few tough chaps are still fighting, but most of the enemy is now giving in."

The wireless in a tank began sputtering and I could hear the cool, oxonian accent of some squadron leader reporting from his patrol.

"Quite an interesting story here, sir," the voice said. "We have met a British soldier who was captured and disarmed last night. This morning, he says, the Germans gave him back his rifle. Now he is here with 200 Germans who surrendered to him."

FIRST LARGE GROUP OF AXIS CITIZENS NOW UNDER ALLIES

Washington, D. C., May 11 [Special].—In occupying Tunisia the allies assume control for the first time of a large axis population, the Italians living in that French protectorate, the office of war information said today in issuing a survey of the numbers and status of Italians there, who retain their nationality.

The total Italian population in 1938 was 94,000, as against 108,000 French. The Italians live principally in Tunis and its environs. Italians outnumber the French as owners of vineyards, according to 1936 figures.

WORKERS IN WAR INDUSTRY SCORN WILDCAT STRIKE

Eight Foundry Invaders to Face Court Today.

Patriotic workers refused to quit their war jobs yesterday on a wildcat strike call at the Central Pattern and Foundry company plant, 3737 South Sacramento avenue, even when the strike agitators resorted to violence, pummeled the workmen, and pulled electrical switches on machines.

Eight leaders of the attempted strike were arrested. It was the first instance in Chicago in which war workers have resorted to their fists to break up attempts to foist a strike upon them.

Appeal for Police Aid.

There were 300 in the plant, which has 340 workmen, when the agitators rushed in. The loyal workers appealed to police to protect them in their jobs, one of them declaring that his country and his wife and children were the sufferers in two previous strikes called at the foundry.

Lt. George Barnes, head of the police labor detail, said the instigator of the outbreak was Ben Banks, 44 years old, Negro, 4147 South Park way, former president of local 738 of the Aluminum, Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' union [CIO].

Banks, who promoted two previous strikes at the plant, was suspended as president of the local several months ago when he refused to surrender the local's books to international officers, Lt. Barnes said.

Later Banks refused to stand trial on charges of violating the union constitution and was expelled. He announced then he would form an independent local.

Pull Power Switches.

Yesterday Banks appeared at the office of Frank Battles, president of the foundry, to demand that Nimrod Baily, 54, Negro, 24 West 37th street, who was discharged Monday, be restored to his job. Battles refused to see the ousted unionist. Banks then sent his sympathizers into the plant to announce a strike.

They ran thru the building, pulling switches controling power machinery, and ordering workers away from their machines. Those who resisted were manhandled, Lt. Barnes said.

Workers Sign Complaints.

Those arrested were Carl Vience, 40, of 1859 Madison street; James Herring, 26, of 2825 Prairie avenue; Thomas Brown, 28, of 511 East 33d street; Coy Cooper, 33, of 655 Bowen avenue; Harry Garrison, 37, of 3613 Giles avenue; McKinley Becton, 26, of 2619 South Dearborn street; William Taylor, 26, of 3715 South Park way, and Horace Lowery, 24, of 4342 South Michigan avenue. All except Vience are Negroes.

They will be arraigned today in the South State Street court on charges of unlawfully interfering with workers and disorderly conduct. Complaints against them were signed by workers and officials of the plant.

6,000 Mexican Laborers to Work for U. S. Railways

MEXICO CITY, May 11 (AP).—Six thousand unskilled Mexican laborers will leave late this week to work for railroads in the United States, labor ministry sources said today. Contracts covering their employment were signed by representatives of the United States man power commission and the labor ministry. Under the terms of the contracts, which are for six months' duration, the men will receive minimum wages of 46 cents an hour.

ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT WINS AIR MEDAL FOR NORTH AFRICAN DUTY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, May 11.—Col. Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, has been awarded the air medal, it was announced today by the United States 12th army air force. The award was made for "meritorious achievement while participating in five operational sorties against the enemy."

The medal is automatically given to any aviator, member of a combat crew, or army observer who makes five operational sorties as a passenger or as an active participant. It also is awarded to troop carrier pilots over certain areas.

Col. Roosevelt, while in charge of all photographic reconnaissance in the Northwest African theater, served as photographer and navigator on reconnaissance missions.

[The United States 8th air force (based in Britain) announced on Monday that Col. Roosevelt is back in England. He went to England last fall from the United States and then went on to North Africa.]

BRITAIN'S LOSSES IN AFRICAN BLITZ PLACED AT 10,800

Casualties Revealed in Parliament.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 11.—Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee today informed the house of commons that the British lost a total of 10,800 men—killed, wounded, and missing—in the swift allied stroke in Tunisia that opened the gates to Tunis and Bizerte.

In a terse review of the allied victory, Attlee said: "Casualties from the 1st army amounting to some 1,200, considering the scale of our attack and the tenacity of the enemy's defense, have not been too heavy.

1st Army Loses 8,400 Men.

"They bring the total of 1st army casualties since April 17 up to 8,400, while the 8th army casualties from April 20 to May 3 are just over 2,400."

The 1st army, reënforced by some of the 8th army's troops, thrust its way to Tunis. The 8th army has been fighting stubborn resistance in south Tunisia.

"It is estimated that from May 5, we have taken at least 50,000 prisoners, mostly Germans, but this number is continually increasing," Attlee said.

"In Complete Harmony."

For the benefit of members of parliament, the report of the deputy prime minister emphasized the achievements of the British armies, but he did praise the allied coöperation with these words:

"Gen. Eisenhower [commander in chief] and Gen. Harold Alexander, working in complete harmony with staffs composed of men drawn from both sides of the Atlantic, have given a very practical example of allied coöperation, and under their command the forces of the United States and the British commonwealth and empire and French North Africa have with great courage, determination and skill carried out successfully the very well-laid plan of the commanders. [Gen. Alexander is the commander of allied ground forces.]"

GERMAN PLANES KILL 12 GIRLS OF ATS IN RAID ON BRITISH TOWN

LONDON, May 11 (AP).—German fighter-bombers killed at least 12 girls of the Auxiliary Territorial Service in a daylight smash at an East Anglian town this morning, and big formations of allied bombers struck back at the continent.

Fifteen Focke-Wulf 190's bombed buildings and scored a direct hit on an ATS hostel five minutes after the girls had marched in from the parade ground. Rescue crews recovered 12 bodies, and searched for others. Six other persons were killed in the town, which the German radio identified as Great Yarmouth.

Renewing the assault on Europe, allied bombers and fighters roared over the channel, returning later from the direction of Boulogne. German big guns between Boulogne and Calais opened up with a few rounds of shells during the day.

AXIS WON 6 MO. DELAY IN AFRICA, COL. LANZA SAYS

Questions Whether Cost Was Worth It.

BY COL. CONRAD H. LANZA.

Until shortly before the capture of Bizerte and Tunis, the opinion among the allies was that these two places would be defended until the last possible moment. It now seems that the axis had for some time decided to abandon these two places, and had carefully prepared to do so.

The first signs that Bizerte would not be seriously defended appeared when Mateur was found abandoned on May 3. Next day dispatches from Tunisia indicated there were some signs, not, however, believed to be conclusive, that the axis was not going to make a stand before Bizerte. As the advance continued onward toward Bizerte it met but slight resistance. French civilians who were living in the country said on May 5, that trucks of the German Afrika Corps had been moving stores out of, and thru, Tunis southward for some time. Our American troops noted that no more crack German troops were in their front.

"Accomplished Its Mission."

On the same day, Mussolini in a speech at the Palazzo Venezia in Rome, said that the axis in Tunisia had accomplished the mission for which its troops had been sent there, which he explained was, to keep the allies out of Bizerte and Tunis until May 1, now already past. He anticipated the fall of these places, by acknowledging that Africa was temporarily lost to Italy.

Next day American troops entered Bizerte which was undefended. The British arrived in Tunis, but did meet opposition, which would seem to indicate that the evacuation of that city had not been completed according to any axis plan.

It seems probable that abandonment of the axis campaign in Tunisia was decided upon at a conference held between Hitler and Mussolini on April 7. Very little news has come out about this conference, but it was important. It was attended by the Italian chief of staff, Gen. Vittorio Ambrosio, and Hitler's chief of staff, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, as well as by Reich Marshal Hermann Goering.

According to French North Africa reports, Marshal Erwin Rommel, who for two years had commanded the axis forces in Africa, left Tunisia about March 15 and never returned. He must have made a report, and the Hitler-Mussolini conference must have had it when it met on April 7. Rommel may well have reported that the axis could not hold out beyond about May 1. Since he was in a position to know more about this than any one else, his report was presumably accepted. When Mussolini spoke on May 5, he had in mind that May 1 was the expected date for cessation of the defense of Bizerte and Tunis. In fact the last day the Germans fought hard and well was April 30.

According to British reports of last February, the axis at that time had about 250,000 men in Tunisia. Latest reports are that only some 120,000 men are left. This leaves 130,000 men to be accounted for. Since February, 55,000 have been taken prisoner, the reports being incomplete for the last two days. The number of axis killed and wounded can only be guessed at. It seems probable that the minimum was 30,000, and it may have been more. This leaves 45,000 still unaccounted for.

Troops' Removal Possible.

It is not impossible that following the conference of April 7 this number of men might have been evacuated by transport planes and ships. The distance to Sicily is within 200 miles from air field to air field. Planes can easily cover that distance several times a day. Germany has, according to latest estimates, several thousand transport planes. The number shot down by the allies within the month is under 100. For about two weeks none has been reported as downed. If the axis ships carried freight only and passengers went by air, 45,000 men could have been moved this way.

More may have been shipped back, for some German crack troops were brought to Tunisia and fought the Americans in the last days of April.

Axis Could Hang On.

What is left of the axis army is now penned in and around the Cape Bon peninsula. This has air fields, a few small ports, many excellent beaches, and some new jetties constructed by the Germans. The axis may continue to defend this area while gradually evacuating it, or it may decide to surrender.

To capture Tunis and Bizerte has taken the allies just six months since they landed in Algeria last November. It may take a few weeks more to recondition these two ports. The allies under Gen. Harold R. L. G. Alexander, have won an astounding victory, under difficult conditions, and have now achieved nearly all their objectives. The axis has won a six months' delay on any invasion schemes of south Europe based upon the occupation of Tunisia, at the expense of the loss and prospective loss of what may ultimately amount to 200,000 men. Time will tell whether the axis policy was worth what it cost.

Troops Move in Caribbean

Location of Caribbean action.

BRITISH TROOPS GO IN DIRECTION OF MARTINIQUE

Move from Barbados to Dominica.

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados, May 11 (AP).—Transfer of a detachment of troops to the British island of Dominica was connected by Reuters news agency tonight with the troubled political situation on the adjacent French colony of Martinique, but official sources declined comment.

The British news agency, however, gave an "official statement" as the source of its information.

[Crediting a Transocean dispatch from Martinique, a Berlin broadcast said United States naval units were en route from Barbados to attack both Martinique and Guadaloupe. "No information is available on the numerical strength of the embarked United States contingents," the broadcast said, and added: "The two French islands will be unable to defend themselves, since the French warships which fled to Martinique after France's defeat have been disarmed."]

Flanked by British.

Reuters said the units sent to Dominica had embarked from Barbados, another British Caribbean possession 90 miles southeast of Martinique. Martinique is flanked to the north and south by British islands, Dominica 35 miles to the north and Santa Lucia 25 to the south.

Both Martinique and Guadeloupe, another large French colony north of Dominica, are ruled by Adm. Georges Robert, with whom the United States recently severed relations because of his refusal to cooperate with the united nations.

Residents Fleeing.

From Martinique, which has lacked proper food supplies since last November when the United States suspended shipments, residents have been reported fleeing for weeks, both to Dominica and Santa Lucia.

[In London, British sources declined comment on the movement, but were understood to regard it as a garrisoning move without particular significance. In Washington, Secretary Knox said there was nothing new in connection with Martinique.]

BARNES TO QUIZ 2 ON NEW BOSS OF LAUNDRY UNION

Lt. George Barnes, head of the police labor detail, has made a date for 11 a. m. tomorrow with Sam Deahl, president, and Charles Lindgren, vice president of local 46 of the International Laundry Workers union. Lt. Barnes wants to question them about the successor to William J. [Bill] Donovan, boss of the laundry workers under the Capone spawned gansters' syndicate, until his death last Sunday.

Donovan was secretary-treasurer of the local as well as international president of the union, which has 45,000 members. Lt. Barnes learned yesterday that before his death Donovan put Lindgren in his place as secretary-treasurer of the local and placed Howard Davis as vice president to succeed Lindgren.

Lt. Barnes said that this move was an illustration of the "line of succession" tactics that the state's attorney's office has asked him to investigate. Lt. Barnes said he will determine whether Davis and Lindgren, who is in a position to control the local's treasury, were duly elected. He said he also will investigate reports that the international's board of directors plans a meeting within the next 10 days to select a new international president to succeed Donovan.

Britain to Get Fruits and Coffee from Africa

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 11.—How Britain's "food front" is expected to benefit from the North African victories was outlined by Food Minister Woolton today. He said a food mission flew to Algiers, Algeria, some time ago and already arrangements had been made to transport phosphates to this country. In addition, he hoped that a variety of foodstuffs, including ground nuts, palm kernals, palm oil, cocoa, coffee, dried fruits, and sardines soon will become available.

11 HURT AS BUS IS CRUSHED BY 2 LOOP TROLLEYS

Eleven persons were injured, two seriously, when a Bluebird passenger bus, bound for Berwyn and Lyons, was crushed between two street cars on State street at the north end of the loop about 5 p. m. yesterday as rush hour traffic was reaching its peak.

Lawrence Glidden, 42 years old, 4716 Woodlawn avenue, driver of the bus, said he was pulling out of the State street driveway of the bus terminal at 20 East Randolph street, flanking the Chicago theater, when the accident occurred. He said the bus carried 16 passengers.

List Injured Victims.

Most seriously injured were:

William Hill, 31, of 5148 Emerald avenue, motorman of the northbound street car, head injury and possible skull fracture.

Mrs. Emily Soukup, 55, of 2426 South Euclid avenue, Berwyn, a bus passenger, leg cuts and possible fractured leg.

Others treated at St. Luke's hospital for cuts, bruises, and shock were:

Olga Pihlik, 45, of 2725 Kenilworth avenue, Berwyn.

Margaret Manns, 21, of 1805 Gunderson avenue, Berwyn.

Eleanor Link, 43, of 2511 Clinton avenue, Berwyn.

Stanley Rusicker, 38, of 7052 West 26th parkway, Berwyn.

Mrs. Rose Gonis, 57, of 4139 South Harlem avenue, Berwyn.

Barbara Roemer, 75, of 3638 South Grove street, Berwyn.

Mrs. Lucille Bahusack, 27, of 3642 Maple avenue, Berwyn.

Richard Bahusack, 3, son of Mrs. Bahusack.

Glidden, the bus driver, also suffered a back injury but remained with his vehicle.

Jams Bus Between Cars.

He said that he was motioned to go ahead by Motorman Hill, who had stopped his northbound street car. Glidden was making a left turn into State street, he related, when a southbound street car, operated by F. J. Vitek, 3008 Union avenue, struck his bus, crushing it against the northbound car.

Several hundred homeward bound spectators gathered as police removed the injured from the bus. Street car traffic was cleared within a few minutes.

13,000 Russians Freed by Allied Drive in Tunisia

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, May 11.—Some 13,000 Russians who had been captured in their homeland's battle and brought to Africa by the enemy as part of his labor units were joyful to be released today by the allied sweep in Tunisia.

MARINE ORDERS CHOCOLATE CAKE AND HE'LL GET IT

His Mom, a WAAC Cook, Will Bake It.

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

A mother and son met for the first time in 18 months yesterday and discovered each had learned a new language.

During the long nights Pvt. Edward Brasus, 20 years old, of the marine corps spent in foxholes on Pacific battlefronts he dreamed of his mother as a shy, gray haired woman whose speeches were frosted with talk of chocolate cakes and biscuits, housecleaning and mending. He had heard that she had joined the woman's army auxiliary corps, but his memories stayed the same.

Yesterday when her train drew into the Dearborn street station, Pvt. Brasus rushed down the platform.

She Cooks All Day.

"Mother, you look great," he said and kissed her. "Will you bake me a chocolate cake?"

Auxiliary Margaret Brasus, 43, of Eglin field, Florida, stood back.

"Edward," Auxiliary Brasus said. "You know what I do all day? I cook. I'm a first cook for my company. You'll get your chocolate cake sometime during my 10 day furlough. How long is your furlough?"

"Leave, mother, leave," Pvt. Brasus explained. "In the marine corps we have leaves, not furloughs. I have 30 days' sick leave."

Pvt. Brasus caught malaria on Guadalcanal. He has been in hospitals in the United States since April 20 and arrived in Chicago on Sunday. He will return to the Corona hospital near Los Angeles, Cal., at the end of his sick leave.

Auxiliary Brasus, a widow, thinks her son looks extremely healthy for a man who has served 18 months overseas and has seen action at Midway and Makin as well as Guadalcanal. Yesterday was the first time either saw the other in uniform.

Sold the Grocery.

Auxiliary Brasus told her son of how she had decided to join the WAAC in January, had sold the grocery at 4434 South Fairfield avenue, and closed her apartment. She told how Edward's letters had bounced back and forth between the WAAC training camp at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, and Eglin field. Edward told of the trail of mail he left behind as he was shifted from hospital to hospital and of learning from his uncle, Charles M. Roman, 3006 West 60th street, that his mother would arrive yesterday.

Asked if he would like to have his mother stationed near him overseas, Pvt. Brasus hesitated. "Aw, heck," he said. "It's too dangerous."

Woman, 64, Gives Chase to Robber, Gets Back $5

Altho 64 years old, and weighing less than 100 pounds, Mrs. Maude Armstrong last night pursued a Negro woman who, she charged, had strongarmed her and robbed her of $5 in the paint store at 5314 South Halsted street, owned by her son, William Armstrong. The pursuit was noticed by Detective John Griffin who seized the robber. She identified herself as Lee Woods, 21, of 5313 Prairie avenue. Police found on her the $5 allegedly taken from Mrs. Armstrong.

NAVY ADDS TWO SLAIN HEROES TO SUBMARINE EPIC

Washington, D. C., May 11 (AP).—A young naval officer and an enlisted man were killed by Japanese gunfire in the recent submarine-gunboat battle in the Pacific in which Comm. Howard W. Gilmore sacrificed his life to save his ship.

Gilmore, mortally wounded, ordered members of his crew to leave him on the conning tower and submerge to avoid delay in getting the submarine out of range of a sinking Japanese gunboat. Knowing it meant his own certain death, he gave his final order, "Take her down."

The navy reported Gilmore's heroic action on May 7 and today added to the unidentified submarine's roll of honor the names of Ensign William Wadsworth Williams, 22, of Potter Valley, Cal., and Fireman 3d Class Wilbert Fletcher Kelley, 18, of Port Huron, Mich. They were on the control tower with Comm. Gilmore. The gunboat crew opened up with machine guns, spraying the submarine's top side. Williams and Kelley were caught in the gunfire and died at their stations. Gilmore also was hit.

INJURED PIGEON A. U. 32 FOUND.

A pigeon with an injured wing and bearing a band with the inscription A. U. 32, Chicago, 56403, was found yesterday in a vacant lot by Mrs. Luella Schewe, 870 Elston avenue, and turned over to police who in turn sent the bird to the Anti-Cruelty society.

WAVE DELIVERS A 'BOP' ON KONK TO TRESPASSER

She Knocks Him Flat and Wins Citation.

New York, May 11 (AP).—There's a wave in the head of some anonymous tippler who tried to crash the gate guarded by WAVE Audrey Pearl Roberts, apprentice seaman.

Seaman Roberts, doing shore patrol duty at the naval training station for women's reserves in the Bronx, hit him over the head with a billy club and laid him out flat, the 3d naval district reported.

For "successfully defending her post and efficiently carrying out her orders with disregard for her own personal safety," Seaman Roberts of Miami, Fla., was cited today for meritorious service by Capt. William F. Amsden, the school's commanding officer.

First Citation of Kind.

It was the first citation of its kind given a member of the WAVES, the navy said.

As related by admiring male bluejackets stationed at another gate, Seaman Roberts was approached by two men, about 35 years old, who demanded that they be admitted. The navy men said the civilians apparently had had one too many drinks, had no passes and rudely shoved the WAVE aside.

Bopped One of Them.

"I bopped one of them," was Miss Roberts' description of what happened next.

"He was knocked flat," said one bluejacket. "She really laid him out. All we had to do was round up the other guy and toss the two of them out."

Seaman Roberts' husband is in the army. Before joining the WAVES three weeks ago she worked as an aviation machinist at the naval air station, Jacksonville, Fla.

LOOT JAPANESE CURIO SHOP.

Burglars Monday night broke into the Yamanaka & Co. Japanese curio shop at 846 North Michigan avenue and took antique jewelry of undetermined value, according to a report to police yesterday. The store is being operated by the alien property custodian, who is liquidating the stock.

THESE AMERICAN WEAPONS BEAT HITLER'S TROOPS

U. S. General Discloses Performances.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 11.—Army ordnance officials, highly elated over the performance of American guns and tanks in the North African victory, today made public the Yankee batt[l]ing lineup that beat the famed Nazi Afrika Korps.

Maj. Gen. Levin H. Campbell, chief of army ordnance, said in an interview that it was American tanks, guns, and bombs which provided the superior fire power by which our troops turned the tide of battle. He said both the British and French armies were using largely American made equipment in the closing days of the fight.

"American guns and tanks are far better than anything the enemy has yet put in the field," the general said. "Individual and qualitative superiority of American armament and fire power both on the ground and in the air plus the arrival of the American soldiers gave the allies their glorious victory."

Lineup of U. S. Weapons.

Here's the lineup of these American weapons and some inside dope on their performance as disclosed by Gen. Campbell:

against enemy installations, tanks, and personnel. It is not a part of the tank destroyer force, however.

THE M7, A SELF-PROPELLED 105 MILLIMETER HOWITZER—A piece of artillery that can move forward rapidly, get into firing position immediately, and hit the enemy with amazing accuracy.

THE M12, A SELF-PROPELLED 155 MILLIMETER GUN — One of the latest pieces of fighting equipment unveiled by the army and one of its greatest. It tosses a 95 pound shell as far as 20 miles away and figuratively can set its charge down on a dime. Gen. Campbell said reports received on its performance have been "absolutely amazing."

The M-12—a 155 mm. gun on a medium tank chassis.

A Long Range Gun.

THE M1—Another 155 millimeter gun set on a high speed carriage to be towed into battle. Like the M12, these guns are used for pounding permanent installations, road junctions and railroads, and for pulverizing enemy defenses. This gun has many advantages. It can be used in all kinds of weather and its long range makes it possible for the Americans to keep pounding away at the enemy lines when bombers and fighter planes can't get off the ground.

THE BAZOOKA—The army's secret gun that can be carted about in a jeep or a peep or carried by two men at a dogtrot. Used primarily at relatively close range, the bazooka hurls a high explosive projectile. In addition to penetrating steel armor, the shell will drive thru brick walls, shatter cast steel such as bridge girders and railroad rails, and "perform other seeming miracles."

How Guns Downed Planes.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS—American troops were using 50 caliber machine guns and 37, 40, and 90 millimeter anti-aircraft guns. The 37s and the 40s were used on self-propelled mounts. Usually one 37 and two 50s were fired as one gun. The 40s and the 90s on towed mounts also were used. The anti-aircraft guns are dual purpose weapons, being used equally effectively against enemy personnel. Gen. Campbell revealed that the accuracy of these guns has written "finis" for the German dive bomber as an effective battle weapon. He said the British and American armies discovered that a concentration of these guns can keep enemy planes at such high altitudes their bombing becomes almost totally ineffective.

37 mm. anti-aircraft gun.

He said that 50 to 60 rounds of anti-aircraft ammunition have been the required average to knock an enemy plane out of the air. In the last war it required several thousand.

MORTARS—Our 60 and 81 millimeter mortars blasted the enemy out of desert defiles, Gen. Campbell reported. Their projectiles use only a shotgun shell for ignition and make "no more noise than the pop of a cork pulled from a bottle." The mortars can set projectiles down in the enemy's "hip pocket" even tho he may be hiding on the other side of a mountain from where the gun is located. They make no smoke and were used to great advantage.

Praises Garand Rifle.

MACHINE GUNS—Both 30 and 50 caliber guns were used in addition to the Thompson sub-machine guns.

RIFLES—The famed Garand that has proved to be the best army rifle in the world.

CARBINES—The new 30 caliber carbine has been in mass production about a year. It is a 15 shot, high velocity semi-automatic rifle carried by paratroopers and all company officers in the field such as lieutenants and captains, and all noncommissioned officers who normally carry pistols.

LAND MINES, booby traps, 20 to 2,000 pound aircraft bombs were used.

TANKS—The M-4, the Gen. Sherman 30 tonners, and the light M-3 and M-5 tanks carrying 37 millimeter guns were sent into battle. The M-3s are known as the Stuarts and in the British army as the "honeys." The British soldiers heard an American describe it as a "honey" and the name stuck. The Gen. Sherman tank carries a high velocity 75 millimeter gun that is an entirely different gun from the 75 of World War I.

Carries 3 Inch Gun.

The M-10 TANK DESTROYER—This is one of the most effective weapons developed since the start of the war. The self-propelled machine that is somewhat like a tank in appearance but only lightly armored, carries a 3 inch gun that will destroy any tank in existence with one hit. It can sink a cruiser at seven miles, Gen. Campbell said. It has blown up and destroyed German 60 ton Mark VI. tanks from great distances. This is a high velocity, flat trajectory weapon. It is fitted for carrying additional armor plate when necessary and frequently is used as a piece of artillery.

HALF TRACKS MOUNTING 75 MILLIMETER GUNS—This is another weapon in the tank destroyer unit. These have become more or less obsolete because the M-10s have proved so much more valuable, can go so many more places, and have considerably greater hitting power. The army has a great many of these, however, as it got a "hurry-up" order for them.

75 mm. field gun mounted on T-12 half track.

Bombs Function Well.

Ordnance department officials read with delight reports from North Africa that not a soldier lacked equipment. Reports disclosed, too, that American ammunition and aircraft bombs have a higher degree of functioning [fewer duds] than those of any other army.

Asked to compare the German equipment with America's, Gen. Campbell said the army has not yet found any guns superior to ours but that the German equipment is good. The German army uses an 88 millimeter all-purpose gun in its artillery, the same as the United States army uses a 90 millimeter gun. It has a 150 millimeter howitzer, but ours outranges it. German tanks carry 75 millimeter gun howitzers of low velocity which our tanks guns outrange.

Gen. Campbell said the Germans do not have a gun of the Bazooka type and that the standard German rifle is the Mauser of 1898 vintage. He said the disadvantage of the German big guns is that their parts are not interchangeable.

Paper Bombs for 'Raid' on City

Frank Roti and Mary Catherine Thome hold one of the paper "bombs" before it is cut into two inch lengths for the mock raid.

135 Planes

Flight strategy for the 135 civil air patrol planes which are to bombard the Chicago area with 250,000 paper bombs in a mock air raid between 2 and 4 p. m. May 23 was mapped yesterday by Ralph H. Burke, deputy coördinator of the office of civilian defense.

Burke said the planes will take off on their "attack" from more than a score of air fields in the Chicago area. The bombs, weighing ⅞ ounce, will be manufactured of newspaper and crêpe paper by about 2,000 boys, girls, and adults in park district fieldhouses.

Civilian defense community commanders have been issued a manual of instructions covering the duties of various workers during the "raid." Civilians will not participate in the rehearsal beyond obeying emergency traffic regulations in the vicinity of a "bomb" hit.

Mrs. George Liesenfelt, 420 Wilson avenue, Calumet City, said yesterday that she recognized her daughter, Lt. Olive Liesenfelt, in a group of army nurses pictured in THE TRIBUNE's rotogravure section last Sunday.

Lt. Liesenfelt.

Lt. Liesenfelt recently was appointed supervisor of surgery in a New Caledonia base hospital, her mother said, and was en route to Auckland, New Zealand, for a brief vacation when the picture was taken. She entered the army last year shortly after she had been graduated from St. Anthony's hospital, 19th street and Marshall boulevard.

Three of Mrs. Liesenfelt's sons are also in the army and navy. Leo is a coast guard stationed at Milwaukee, Norbert is with the navy, and Pvt. Irving Liesenfelt is in the army air forces.

REVEALS NAZIS BELIEVED TUNIS LOST 5 MOS. AGO

They Were Set to Flee Then, Says Consul.

TUNIS, Tunisia, May 10 [Delayed]—(AP).—How close the allied gamble on reaching Tunis with a small expeditionary force early in December came to success was told today by Leland R. A. Smith, who served as United States consul in Tunis for eight years preceding the war.

Smith, who had been held under arrest at his home in the Tunis suburb of La Marsa for the last six months, said that "on the night the American troops got to Djedeida [12 miles west of Tunis], the Germans were ready to evacuate."

"Their general staff had their bags all packed at the Hotel Majestic and planes were ready to leave with them for Italy. Every fighting soldier and every gun they had was sent into the line," he said. "The distant gunfire rattled the windows of my house. But then the gunfire faded and we knew the allied forces had been driven back."

Hid for Five Days.

"When I heard of the allied landings in North Africa, I came into Tunis on Nov. 12, 1942, to get my money out of the bank before France broke relations with the United States," Smith related.

"Then I went to the home of friends and hid there for five days. At the end of that time, the prefect of police, a good friend of mine, told my wife I would certainly be found because the Germans had given him 24 hours to produce me to be sent to Germany as some other Americans were.

"I gave myself up, but thanks to the intercession of friends the Gestapo permitted me to remain under arrest at my home.

Sees Nazi Planes Arrive.

"Meanwhile, from my front porch I had watched the first German planes come over Nov. 10. The next day more than 100 swooped over all at once and landed. After that, big German planes came over almost all the time.

"Big six engined transports would come in groups of 5 or 10 and smaller transports in waves of 50, 80, or 100."

Evidence that the Germans believed they could hold onto Tunis much longer was revealed when two German officers quartered in Smith's home moved out only a week ago into a larger villa.

"Then on Friday night, they came to my house and told me: 'Well, we are prisoners.' They had gone into Tunis in the afternoon and nearly run straight into the arms of British troops," Smith said.

Knew Cape Bon Was Doomed.

"One officer, a colonel, said to me: 'I could go to Cape Bon, but what's the use? We cannot put up a real fight there. It won't even be a Dunkirk. It will be an extermination.'

"I agreed to turn them over personally, so I brought them into Tunis today."

Smith said only the suddenness of the allied breakthru prevented the Germans from shipping him off to Germany when it became apparent the axis hold on Tunisia was slipping.

Revolution Seen in Italy.

"All during the time they were in Tunisia, the Germans and Italians would not speak to each other," he said. "Italians and Germans never were seen together in the streets and refused to frequent the same hotels and cafés.

"Italians living in Tunis are confident that the people of Italy won't stand much more and believe that a revolution is brewing."

Smith was a captain in the United States army in the World war, serving as liaison officer with the French army. He won the French Legion of Honor. He was assistant military attaché at Bucharest and Budapest from 1918 to 1920 and represented the United States with the southern White Russian army and was wounded near Rostov.

After eight years as United States consul at Tunis, he was consul at Prague for a year and a half, then retired in Nice, France. He returned with his wife to Tunis shortly before French resistance to the Germans collapsed in June, 1940.

SAILOR WHO GAVE LIFE TO SAVE 500 IS ACCORDED HONOR

Washington, D. C., May 11 (AP).—President Roosevelt has awarded the congressional medal of honor to a 22 year old coast guardsman who gave his life in the rescue of nearly 500 marines trapped by Japs on Guadalcanal. The coast guardsman was Douglas Albert Munro, signalman son of Mr. and Mrs. James Munro of South Cle Elum, Wash.

Douglas A. Munro.

Munro was fatally wounded leading a group of landing boats which removed the men from Point Cruz, Guadalcanal, on Sept. 27. He died soon afterward, the navy reporting that his last words were an inquiry as to the safety of the men for whose rescue he had been wounded.

"Assured by his shipmates that the last boatload of marines had been successfully evacuated," the navy account said, "he died with a smile on his face."

STRICKEN GUEST DIES.

Olaf Schmidt, 42 years old, 3116 North Western avenue, became ill of a heart attack early yesterday while dining with Miss Catherine Epperson, 905 Agatite avenue, and died soon afterward in her apartment, she reported to police.

Every Day Do Something To Help Win the War!

Mrs. Allen used to spend most afternoons at the bridge table bidding high, wide and handsomely (as her figure also became wider and not nearly so handsome!) But now she's an eager Victory gardener instead, growing slim and trim as she digs and plants to increase the nation's food supply. She buys War Bonds, too!

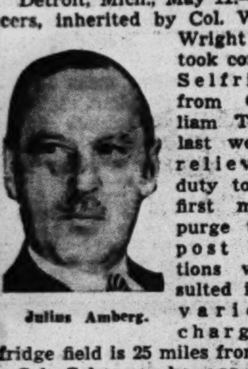
ENTIRE OFFICIAL AIR FIELD STAFF TAKEN OFF DUTY

War Department Pushes Selfridge Inquiry.

BY HARRY McCLAIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., May 11.—Staff officers, inherited by Col. William B. Wright when he took command of Selfridge field from Col. William T. Colman last week, were relieved from duty today in the first move to purge the army post of conditions which resulted in a wide variety of charges. Selfridge field is 25 miles from Detroit.



Julius Amberg.

Col. Colman, who was placed in arrest and taken to Percy Jones General hospital in Battle Creek last Wednesday a few hours after he shot Pvt. William McRae, a Negro chauffeur, was brought back to Selfridge field today and placed in confinement, a guard at his door.

Represents War Secretary.

Removal of the post staff officers came a short time after the arrival at Selfridge field from Washington of Julius Amberg, a special assistant to the secretary of war, with a party of officers headed by Col Franklin Babcock of the army inspector general's department.

"I have been sent here," Amberg said, "to inquire into the serious situation at Selfridge field, not only the shooting of Pvt. McRae by Col. Colman, but other matters about which complaints have been made.

"There will not be any whitewash in this matter. There is no desire on the part of the war department to cover up any delinquency or irregularity. It is our aim to bring to trial any person—high or low—who is guilty of any of the charges which have been made.

"We have talked with Col. Wright, the new commander of the post, and he has taken some steps toward gaining the ends we desire. Already certain members of his inherited staff have been relieved and a new staff for Selfridge field has been ordered to duty by the commanding general 3d air force.

Noted Prosecutor in Charge.

"Some members of our party will return to Washington tomorrow or the next day, but the Selfridge field investigation will be pursued to the bottom by Lt. Col. John Harlan Amen, the former Brooklyn, N. Y., special prosecutor, who was commissioned in the army some time ago."

Col. Amen, Majors F. G. Lee and H. H. Haag, and Capt. Lloyd W. Ryan of the 3d air force inspector's department arrived at Selfridge field last Tuesday on what they had expected to be a routine inspection, according to Col. Babcock. They had informed Col. Colman, the commander, of their mission, but before they had proceeded far ran into evidence of irregularities which previously had been reported to the house military affairs committee in Washington.

Col. Amen, prior to accepting a commission in the army, was known widely as the successful prosecutor of "Murder, Inc.," the New York gang which killed on order for profit.

Amberg said Col. Amen's earlier findings and the shooting would result in a thoro inquiry into assignment of soft jobs to members of the post personnel who wanted to stay near their home in Detroit, finances of post exchanges and the condition of company funds. The investigators also will inquire into the shooting of a civilian who refused to halt at the order of a sentry the day after Col. Colman shot his driver.

Brookhart's Son Assists.

Besides the inspectors already on the job, Col. Amen will have the assistance of Capt. Smith W. Brookhart Jr., son of the former Iowa senator, and several other officers who will come to Detroit from Washington tomorrow.

Col. Babcock said the army's investigation of the field would require at least two weeks. The army officers will take and record sworn testimony from officers, enlisted men and any civilians who may be able to throw any light on any irregularities at Selfridge field.

None of the officers who were relieved from duty today or none who may be relieved subsequently will be sent away from Selfridge field until the investigation is completed. Some may be kept here until after Col. Colman has been brought to trial.

Amberg said he had recommended delay of the Colman court martial until after the investigation shows what specifications should be included in the charges. So far only charges involving the shooting are apparent, he added.

Congressman Investigates.

What today's developments will do to an inquiry started Sunday by Rep. Paul W. Shafer, member of the house military affairs committee, is problematical. Shafer was sent here by the full committee to make an inquiry into various charges about Selfridge field immediately after the first shooting.

Shafer, a Battle Creek Republican, brought John H. Weiner, ace investigator for the military affairs committee, with him and they worked on the case Sunday and yesterday with the aid of other unnamed investigators.

Shafer, at the outset, said he would not permit any inquiry the army might wish to make to interfere with his quiz. He said he was concerned only with the reported irregularities and named Master Sergt. Myron Collins, formerly stationed at Selfridge field, as a key witness. Shafer said action against Colman was purely a military matter.

Prosecutor to Ask Indictments.

Two Macomb county constables from Mount Clemens are accused of having been involved in a $200 bribe to fix a Selfridge job.

Prosecution of the constables, Charles Burman, who formely umpired baseball games on the post, and Hubert K. Marks will be conducted by United States Atty. John C. Lehr in Detroit. Lehr has said at least 50 persons are involved in the job fixing and that indictments against all will be asked of a soon to be called federal grand jury.

Amberg, speaking for the secretary of war, said he would be glad to coöperate with Shafer and Lehr in any action they see fit to take.

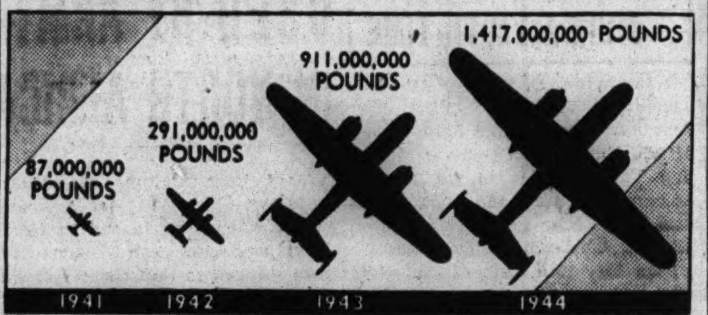
ADDRESS B X 492, TRIBUNE

Planes Measured by Weight



Production of years past compared with this year's estimated production and next year's estimate, all based on weight.

THREE CHICAGOLAND FLYERS ARE KILLED IN PLANE CRASHES

Lubbock, Tex., May 11 (AP).—Four aviation cadets were killed in the collision of two advanced trainer planes flying near the Lubbock army air field yesterday.

Ernest E. Leeson.

They were: Earl W. Kenny, Stephenville, Tex.; Nicholas G. Kirincich, Jersey City, N. J.; Edward I. Lang, Mount Pleasant, Ia., and Hector D. Lane Jr., Grenada, Miss.

All four entered advanced training two weeks ago.

Chicagoan Killed.

Norfolk, Va., May 11 (AP).—The 5th naval district made public today the names of one officer and three enlisted men who were killed in the collision of two navy land planes near Fentress yesterday.

The dead and their next of kin are: Lieut. [j. g.] Richard Golden, U. S. N. R., of Seattle, Wash.; Phillip O. Rowe, aviation radio man, 3d class, U. S. N. R., of Union City, Ind.; Ernest E. Leeson, aviation machinist's mate, 3d class, U. S. N., son of Ernest W. Leeson of Chicago, and Ira A. Martin, aviation machinist's mate, 3d class, U. S. N. R., of Baltimore.

Golden, Rowe, and Leeson were in one plane, which crashed after the collision. Martin, one of three men in the second plane, jumped, but his parachute failed to open. Another man jumped safely. The pilot, who did not know that both his passengers had jumped, brought his plane down safely.

Offers to Help Elevator Boy; Killed in Plunge

William E. Hewitson, 65 years old, 856 Eastwood avenue, assistant manager of the 40 East Oak street apartments, was killed yesterday in a plunge down an elevator shaft in the building after he volunteered to help open a door which had closed behind an elevator boy.

F. D. R. PUTS 1944 PLANE ESTIMATE IN POUND TOTALS

1,417,000,000 Lbs. Is Output Goal.

Washington, D. C., May 11 (AP).—President Roosevelt expressed conviction today that the United States is turning out more airplanes than all the rest of the world combined, and said more and more of them are of offensive types which can carry the war to the enemy.

He read to a press conference army estimates that this year's output will be 911 million pounds, compared with 291 million pounds last year, and that 1944's production will be 1 billion 417 million pounds.

The figures by weight are a truer method of measure, Mr. Roosevelt said, than the number of planes since several light planes can be built from the materials going into a single big bomber.

49,000 Planes in 1942.

The 1942 production amounted to 49,000 planes. By the weight method of comparison, this year's output will more than triple 1942's altho the number of planes is not expected to be three times last year's.

Mr. Roosevelt explained that stress now is being placed on producing relatively more multiple-engined bombers, long range fighters and cargo planes so that we can go on the offensive,

At first, he said, production emphasized lighter bombers, dive bombers, and fighter planes needed for defense.

Seeks Shipping Standard.

The chief executive also disclosed that he had asked the navy and the shipping administration to work out some uniform method of describing ship tonnage so there would be less controversy.

He said there were five different kinds of measurements for tonnage and he wanted a simplified, uniform term. The most common tonnage terms now are "gross tons" and "deadweight tonnage." The former has no actual relation to weight and is figured on the basis of the cubic content of the hull and enclosed deck structures. Deadweight is figured according to the weight of water the ship displaces. A liberty ship, for instance, is about 7,100 gross tons or about 10,800 deadweight tons.

CHURCH MISSES SON'S WEDDING TO SAVE RECORD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 11.—Rep. Ralph Church [R., Ill.] told his sympathetic colleagues today that having an unblemished record of attendance at house sessions had its drawbacks. Because he waited until the chamber adjourned yesterday before taking a west bound plane for Chicago he missed his son's wedding last evening in which he had been scheduled to participate as best man.

Had the flight been completed in the alloted number of hours, the congressman said he would have arrived for the ceremony which began at 9 p. m. in Evanston. But the plane was grounded by bad weather at Indianapolis. There were no train connections.

Church telephoned his greetings to the bride and bridegroom, the former Miss Janet Richardson and Ensign Ralph E. Church Jr., and then boarded an east bound plane for the capital. He arrived here in time to keep his attendance record intact.

NEW FRONT? IT MAY COME SOON, BRITON ASSERTS

Task for 'Forts': Keeping Axis Grounded.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 11.—How, when, and where will the new allied offensives intended to crush the axis in Europe start? This was the main theme of military commentators tonight as the curtain was being rung down on the last act of the battle of Africa.

Lt. Gen. Douglas Brownrigg, writing in the Evening News, said, "It may not be long now" before the allied pincers stretching along the entire length of the shores of North Africa and from Cairo to Leningrad "begin to pinch."

No "Church Session."

Cairo, the fulcrum of the pincers, has been the scene "of very important meetings recently" of naval, military, and air force commanders in chief in the middle east, Brownrigg recalled. He referred to Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery's "somewhat curious" trip to Cairo recently and refused to believe the visit was made "for the sole purpose of reading lessons in church Easter day."

The Evening Standard military expert, despite his own complaint that "speculators in strategy are giving [Gen. Harold] Alexander [commander of allied ground troops] and company no time to breathe," himself insisted that pending completion of allied invasion plans Alexander "must keep the Germans on the go."

Might Retain Initiative.

Germany, he said, undoubtedly fears an allied attack in the Balkans, altho from a strategical standpoint "the Balkans are a thankless theater of war for the allies." Nevertheless, he stressed the growing public opposition in Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary, and Croatia to axis domination and added:

"The combination of an allied attack plus a Turkish declaration of war, plus a local upheaval would undoubtedly force the Germans onto the defensive, even if it did not develop into a major threat to the fortress of Europe. This threat might enable the allies to maintain an initiative to be developed once the springboard was ready for the jump."

Task for "Forts."

He estimated the allied army in North Africa at 20 to 25 divisions, totaling 400,000 to 500,000 men. To attack Sicily, he pointed out, would require shipping 10 divisions across, accompanied by every available warship and airplane. Between 150 and 200 ships, excluding protecting forces, would be necessary, he says.

The task of grounding "powerful defensive axis air forces," he suggested, would have to be undertaken by American Flying Fortresses, since British fighters do not possess the necessary range.

Because of these essential preliminaries and the fact that Tunis and Bizerte, the two ports closest to axis Mediterranean territory, have been badly battered, the writer warned of a possible delay in an allied advance in the western Mediterranean.

Dr. Schacht Reported Expelled by Nazi Party

LONDON, May 11 (AP).—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German finance expert, was expelled from the Nazi party at the end of January, a Reuters [British news agency] report from Zurich, Switzerland, said today. Schacht, financial organizer of the Nazi state, was reported to have been deprived of his title of minister of economics and financial observer to Hitler.

Rommel Left Africa in March for His 'Health,' Nazis Reveal

Getting New Job

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Marshal Erwin Rommel, commander of the axis Afrika Korps, has been in Germany since March 11 and will receive "a new task" after complete recovery of his health, the German high command said last night. The special announcement, broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press, said:

"Field Marshal Gen. Rommel was in Germany when the British in October, 1942, began their great offensive against the position of El Alamein [Egypt].

"His long sojourn in Africa had so severely impaired his health that medical treatment, which until then had been postponed time and again, could no longer be put off.

Returned When British Attacked.

"After the arrival of the first news regarding the British attack the field marshal, against the most urgent advice of his doctors, immediately interrupted his cure, which had scarcely begun, and went back to Africa.

"After the landing of the Anglo-American forces in French North Africa his stay, which was intended to be temporary, was prolonged with his army. Under constant attacks and against a far superior enemy the marshal, in a movement of historic example, led his army back to Tunisia.

"As the state of health of the field marshal became steadily worse the Fuehrer, in agreement with Il Duce, decided to give orders to Marshal Rommel after his having reached the Gabes position, to return immediately to Germany in order to restore his health.

Slated for New Job.

"On March 11, 1943, Field Marshal Rommel reported at the Fuehrer's headquarters and in acknowledgement of his unique merit for the two year campaign in North Africa was given by the Fuehrer the oak leaves with swords and diamonds to the knight cross of the iron cross.

"Field Marshal Gen. Rommel's state of health is at present improving. After his complete restoration the Fuehrer will entrust him with a new task."

A later German broadcast said that Hitler, whose headquarters long has been described as on the eastern [Russian] front, now is at an unspecified point in the west.

Battle Predicted

LONDON, May 11 (AP).—The Nazi-controled Danish radio today predicted the "battle for Germany is about to begin." The broadcast said that behind his fortifications, Hitler has from 14 to 15 million soldiers set to meet the invader.

"Germany has switched to the strategic defensive, which does not exclude offensive action," the broadcast asserted. "This battle for Germany is about to begin; the situation is unique in the history of war."

Warning from Mussolini.

Premier Mussolini tried to comfort his people with a statement in the Popolo d'Italia, quoted by the German radio:

"The British and American landing in Italy will not prove so easy as bombing Italian towns."

The German radio added:

"The events in Tunisia find the Italians neither unprepared nor discouraged."

However, reports from thruout Europe spoke of rising unrest in the conquered lands.

One dispatch told of the execution of 26 Dutch patriots on May 2 and imposition of the death sentence on 120 others—all of whom were sentenced a day after Holland was placed under martial law as a result of disorders apparently connected with an attempt to stage a general strike.

Decrees State of Siege.

The Netherlands news agency Aneta quoted reports that a state of siege had been decreed thruout Holland by Arthur Seyss-Inquart, reichs commissioner,

In Norway, German soldiers were forbidden to appear in public or in restaurants because of the people's hostility.

The Algiers radio reported anti-Fascist and anti-war slogans were appearing in many Italian towns.

SAILOR FROM CHICAGO IS REPORTED DEAD IN NAVY CASUALTY LISTS

Washington, D. C., May 11 (AP).—John George Wiese, son of Mrs. Margaret Wiese, 1817 Newport avenue, Chicago, was reported dead in a casualty list made public today by the navy.

John G. Wiese.

Other navy casualties from Chicagoland were listed as Donald Scott Auten, reported wounded, husband of Rose Auten, Bluford, Ill.; Ensign James Otto Schulthesis, dead, son of Otto Schulthesis, Vincennes, Ind., and Alfred Peter Weihs, dead, son of Anton Weihs, Harlan, Ia.

The list brought to 24,945 the total of navy, marine corps, and coast guard casualties reported to next of kin since Pearl Harbor. The total includes 7,202 dead, 4,672 wounded, and 13,071 missing.

NAZI ARMY LOSES A KEY POSITION AT NOVOROSSISK

Reds' Guns and Planes Demolish Forts.

LONDON, May 12 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The Red army captured a German fortified key position in the battle of Novorossisk Tuesday. It also pounded the Germans in the Caucasus with infantry, artillery and planes.

The remnants of a Nazi Caucasus army which once numbered 200,000 men are backed up against the Black sea around Novorossisk. There "Soviet troops continued demolishing enemy fortifications by artillery shelling and air bombardment," said the soviet midnight broadcast by Moscow and recorded here by the soviet monitor.

Germans Taken Prisoner.

A number of German blockhouses, dugouts, and other fortifications were blasted to ruins in the region northeast of Novorossisk, and German soldiers were taken prisoner, the communique said. In the lower reaches of the Kuban river, apparently northwest of Novorossisk, the German key fortified position fell to the advancing soviet troops. About a company of Germans was wiped out, and war material was captured.

The Russians announced that the Germans on the Leningrad front after a heavy artillery shelling tried to reconnoiter the soviet positions.

"Two German attacks were beaten off by our units," the communique said. "The enemy lost about 700 officers and men in killed alone."

The Red air force reported downing 35 planes in air combat and 21 more were shot down by anti-aircraft fire during the day, as against soviet losses of 11 planes.

Bomb Key Rail Centers.

In an additional announcement Moscow said that Russian airmen carried out heavy raids Monday on nine key rail centers behind the German lines, including Kiev, Bryansk, and Orel. The broadcast said German troop and supply trains also were bombed.

The Moscow announcement of the air bombardment behind the German lines brought the total Red air force transport junction attacks to more than 40 in the three days ended Monday night.

[The regular communique of the German command said Russian attacks in the Kuban had been "repulsed partly."]

JAP PLANES RAID MERAUKE BASE IN DUTCH GUINEA

Inflict Casualties and Some Damage.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, May 12 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Nine Japanese planes bombed Merauke on Dutch New Guinea's south coast yesterday, causing some damage and casualties, the high command announced today.

The raid was the latest in a flare-up of enemy aerial activity. The previous two allied communiques had reported Japanese aerial thrusts at Millimgimbi, an Australian outpost 300 miles east of Darwin.

Three enemy floatplanes attacked shipping off Cape Wessel, Australia, but inflicted no damage and one plane was shot down. This also was the second enemy air activity against allied shipping reported in as many days. Yesterday's communique told of a small allied convoy near Millimgimbi driving off three Japanese planes.

Patrols Clash at Mubo.

The communique also reported continued clashes of allied and enemy guard patrols in the vicinity of Mubo, 12 miles south of Salamaua, New Guinea. The clashes occurred in the Greens Hill area where they previously had thrown back a counter-attack by the Japanese.

Allied planes were active over New Guinea. A big bomber strafed enemy surface craft in the harbor at Alexishafen. Near Lae attack planes bombed and strafed Labu lagoon, where the Japanese often try to conceal their supply barges.

New Britain Raided.

Big bombers swung across New Britain to the northern tip, where they raided Vunakanau airdrome before dawn. Fires were started visible for 60 miles. Many small fires in the dispersal area indicated burning enemy aircraft.

At Arawe, New Britain, a bomber bombed and strafed the building area. The Cape Gloucester airdrome also was attacked.

Allied medium bombers raided Dili, Timor, at night, starting fires on the airdrome. At Koepang, also on Timor, medium bombers raided Penfoei airdrome after dark.

Reports Italy Fires High Officers for Naples Blast

New York, May 11 (AP).—The Italian general staff has dismissed Vice Adm. Mario Falangola, chief of the Naples naval port, and other high Italian officers in consequence of an explosion March 28 at the Naples arsenal, Moscow radio, quoting a Stefani [Italian] report, said today in a broadcast. The Stefani report was quoted as saying the explosion killed 72 persons and injured 1,179 civilians and soldiers.

ARDIS ANKERSON HOLDEN.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 11 (AP).—Actor William Holden legally adopted his screen name today and his wife, Actress Brenda Marshall, dropped hers. Holden, a lieutenant in the army air forces, was granted permission in Superior court to drop his real name, William Franklin Beedle. His wife took the name Ardis Ankerson Holden. She said she disliked her stage name and preferred her maiden and married names.

U. S. PLANES HIT RAILROAD YARDS IN BURMA TOWNS

NEW DELHI, India, May 11 (AP).—United States Mitchell bombers attacked enemy railroad installations in central Burma at Ywataung and Pyawbwe yesterday. Direct hits at Ywataung demolished an engine shed. At Pyawbwe hits were observed in the center of the rail junction and among warehouses.

The communique said fighters from the United States Assam bases concentrated on the destruction of enemy troops and installations in the Myitkyina area. At Kwitu, 12 miles northeast of Myitkyina, the entire town was left ablaze, fires indicating that fuel dumps were hit.

British artillery shelled Japanese troops on the Buthedaung-Maungdaw road in western Burma and R. A. F. fighter planes machine gunned enemy positions in the area yesterday, a British communique said. The British have acknowledged their withdrawal from Buthedaung.

[The Tokio radio said the Japanese troops had advanced to a point 12 miles from the India border and were "mopping up enemy remnants."]

Hear Himmler Was Fired Upon by 2 Men in Zagreb

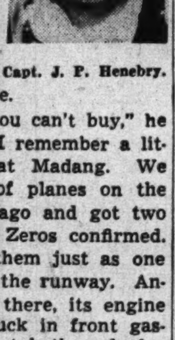
New York, May 11 (AP).—CBS today recorded a Moscow broadcast which said Heinrich Himmler, chief of all German police, was fired upon by two men during his recent visit to Zagreb, Croatia. He "escaped without injury," it said. Himmler was in Zagreb to see Dr. Ante Pavelic, puppet president of the axis satellite state.

LOVES HIS WORK AND HIS WORK IS STRAFING JAPS

Capt. Henebry, Plainfield Pilot, Tells Thrills.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, May 10 [Delayed].—If ever a man loved his work, it is Capt. John Philip Henebry of Plainfield, Ill., near Chicago, now of a squadron of B25s [Mitchell bombers]. There is no war work he would rather do than fly attack bombers, and not anything he would rather do with a bomber than strafe.



Capt. J. P. Henebry.

"It is a thrill you can't buy," he says, grinning. "I remember a little job we did at Madang. We caught a bunch of planes on the ground a month ago and got two bombers and two Zeros confirmed. We snuck in on them just as one was taxiing down the runway. Another was sitting there, its engine running and a truck in front gassing it up. We got both and also the gas truck. I made 12 passes myself.

"Luckily, we got most of the ack-ack [anti-aircraft gun] positions, and they quit firing. Then we dropped fragmentation bombs. Five Japs ran out of the bush to replace the crew of one ack-ack gun, but I saw them just in time, kicked the plane over, and got in a burst. They went tumbling all over the place. I could actually see them fall."

Bombs Two Ships.

Henebry left San Francisco last July, arriving in Australia in August, coming to New Guinea in January.

His latest exploit was day before yesterday, when on a flight over Madang harbor he strafed and bombed two small Jap ships, leaving both sinking. Henebry says 10 Jap fighter planes came within range during this raid, but only one made a pass at the Yank bombers.

"They sure as hell don't seem as aggressive as they used to be," he says. "Their fighter pilots, if evenly matched or outnumbered, seem licked before they start."

Henebry's crew shot down one Zero some time ago. A Zero all alone, Henebry says, adding: "He should have known better, the simple ——."

Henebry, who attended the Campion school at Prairie du Chien, Wis., and graduated from Notre Dame in 1940, has been in the air corps ever since. He is the son of Mrs. Hannah Henebry and has a brother, Joseph, who is a private in an army camp in Missouri.

Henebry formerly worked for the Chicago Board of Trade as a clerk and runner on his summer vacations.

He is an ardent advocate of low level bombing, and likes strafing because he "can get down and see what is going on." During the Bismarck sea battle he could plainly see Japs leaping over the sides of sinking ships into the water. While strafing during this attack, Henebry was so low that one wingtip touched the ocean, but fortunately he was able to right the ship.

Completes 40 Missions.

Since then he has concluded about 40 combat missions. His plane—the M-M, named in honor of his fiancée—got three hits in the Bismarck sea battle [in which allied planes sank 22 Jap ships].

A few days later he was on a flight that attacked a Jap sub unloading supplies at Lae harbor. Henebry says he and the others made runs at such a low altitude they were forced to pull up to miss the sub, which they saw explode.

Only One of Crew Hurt.

"The force of the blast nearly knocked us from the sky," Henebry says, adding that the American planes had come in very low, following the coastline, strafing the sub before dropping their bombs, while the Japs on the shore positions fired machine guns.

"We had machine gun bullet holes all thru the planes, but only one man was killed," he said. "He was the gunner in the plane on my right wing."

Henebry has had close calls, but only one member of his crew has been wounded on all his flights. On one mission a Jap bullet put the hydraulic system out of operation and the plane flew home with one wheel dangling.

27 Dogs in Home Fail to Keep Out Burglars

Despite the rumpus made by 27 Chihuahua dogs and a litter of puppies, burglars yesterday broke into the home of Erwin Schreiber, 320 South Hermitage avenue, and made off with jewelry and clothing valued at $420. Warren avenue police are investigating.

2 PILOTS TIRE OF OFFICE JOBS, SO BLOW UP TRAINS

China Flyers Also Let Go at Jap Ship.

WITH THE UNITED STATES AIR FORCE IN CHINA, May 10 [Delayed]—(AP).—In two days of strafing sweeps over the Hanoi and Haiphong area of Indo-China, 14th air force fighter pilots blew up seven locomotives and sank or damaged four boats on the Red river.

"Tired of just sitting in the office," Assistant Operations Chief Norval Bonawitz of Missoula, Mont., and Squadron Comm. Grant Mahoney of Vallejo, Cal., took off in their P-40s Sunday.

Below Hanoi they set fire to a coastwise passenger vessel and then poured heavy caliber machine gun bullets into a tug which was left sinking.

"We could see a number of people leap from the passenger boat, which was burning," said Bonawitz. "Then, coming back we shot up the locomotives of two trains which blew all to hell. We were careful not to strafe the cars, which were filled with passengers."

In the last month 15 locomotives have been knocked out by fighters in the Hanoi and Haiphong district near the coast.

Can't Replace Locomotives.

"That hurts the Japs," said Bonawitz. "They can replace planes, but not locomotives to haul minerals and other war supplies."

The destruction of other locomotives in northern Indo-China has forced the Japanese to operate trains only at night.

Two flights of P-40s commanded by Captains William Miller of Stevens Point, Wis., and Jewell Mathews of Temple, Tex., on Monday blew up five locomotives and in a wide sweep left one barge sinking and strafed a river boat which ran aground.

"We caught a flat car filled with Jap soldiers at the end of a train and bullets sent many of them sprawling," said Miller.

No enemy planes were sighted and they sustained a few holes in three planes from scattered rifle fire. All returned.

Japs Cross Chinese Lake.

CHUNGKING, China, May 11 (AP).—Japanese troops landed from 100 steam launches on the west shore of Tungting lake, but were unable to penetrate inland toward Changsha, the Chinese high command said today.

"Severe fighting still is in progress, but the invaders have not advanced an inch," a report from the north Hunan province front said. Heavy casualties were reported paid by the Japanese.

U. S. DIVE BOMBERS RAID JAP BASE AT MUNDA 119TH TIME

Washington, D. C., May 11 (AP).—The navy reported today that American bombers and fighters had attacked enemy positions at Munda and Vanga Vanga in the central Solomons Monday and started several fires. It was the 119th raid on Munda. The communique said:

"On May 10 a force of Dauntless dive bombers and Avenger torpedo bombers, escorted by Corsair, Wildcat, and Lightning fighters, attacked Japanese installations at Munda and on New Georgia Island. Hits were scored on enemy anti-aircraft positions and several fires were started. Dauntless dive bombers and Avenger torpedo bombers with Corsair escort bombed Japanese positions at Vanga Vanga on the southwest coast of Kolombangara Island. All United States planes returned from the above attack missions."

TONS OF MAPS USED BY ARMY IN NORTH AFRICA

More than 40 tons of military maps were carried by American troops when they landed in North Africa and more than 600 tons have been shipped to that theater of war since, Col. W. A. Johnson, commanding officer of the army map service, yesterday told delegates attending the 38th annual meeting of the Lithographers National association at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Mobile map reproduction units, consisting of a two ton truck and three trailers, all air conditioned, camouflaged and equipped to produce thousands of maps within an hour of the return of reconnaissance planes, now are operating with American troops in the field.

Use Fluorescent Ink.

American lithographers have developed since the start of the present war in Europe a fluorescent ink which makes possible the illumination of maps by a violet ray in airplanes at night without the plane being seen from other planes in the air or from the ground.

The army map service supplies only about one-fourth of the maps required by the nation's military forces, Col. Johnson said, the remainder being supplied by some 50 lithographing firms under contract.

W. F. Maxwell, secretary of the association, pointed to the record of the industry in completing within two weeks 75 tons of bank records required for the start of ration banking.

Furnish Army Trained Men.

The industry, Maxwell said, has furnished more than 600 trained workmen for the air corps alone. Despite this man power contribution, the delegates were warned by Maj. Harry Taylor, selective service occupational adviser, that deferment of younger employés in the future could not be expected.

Lt. Col James G. Strobridge told of the successful use of women for many of the skilled tasks in the army's map service plant at Washington, and urged private lithographers to begin now training women for jobs now filled by men.

TWO RADIOS STOLEN.

Burglars who threw a brick thru a window of a radio repair shop at 1421 Taylor street stole two radios and an electric clock, all valued at $50, the owner, Anthony Rufo, reported yesterday to police.

NEW MOISTENING AGENT

From juicy, fresh, moist apples comes an amazing new moistening agent to help seal in the freshness of Old Gold cigarettes.

Scientists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture discovered it!

WE CALL IT APPLE "HONEY"!

Lightly sprayed on the delicate Old Gold tobaccos, Apple "Honey" penetrates every particle—protects their freshness. It's made by evaporating the pure, golden juice of fresh, luscious apples to a honey-like syrup.

NOT A FLAVORING

All in all, we think Apple "Honey" is finer than glycerine, now released for war duty. It is not a flavoring—does not change the taste of Old Golds in any way.

ANOTHER "NEW" HAS BEEN ADDED!

First, it was Latakia—a natural way of seasoning the Old Gold blend. Now, it's Apple "Honey," a natural way of protecting our fine tobaccos on their way to you. Get a pack of Old Golds today! You'll enjoy them more than ever.

Guadalcanal's Hell Bared; Rap Draft of Mentally Unfit

War on Nerves

Detroit, Mich., May 11 (AP).—The hitherto unrevealed medical story of the hell on Guadalcanal which broke strong men until they gibbered was told to the American Psychiatric association today by Lt. Comm. E. Rogers Smith of Mare Island, a naval surgeon.

He said the strain on the marines produced nervous symptoms that never have been seen before and may never be seen again. The men broke down mostly after the fight was over and not in the course of it.

Men who had been proud of their ability to carry alcohol found they no longer tolerated it, he said, and a couple of beers would make them cry like babies, or they would want to fight every one in sight.

Healthy and Tough at Start.

"We believe," he said, describing some of these marines treated at the naval hospital, "that never before in history has such a group of healthy, toughened, well trained men been subjected to such conditions as the combat troops of the marine corps faced during the days following Aug. 7, 1942.

"These men do not like to exaggerate their trials—in fact, they do not like to talk about them.

"One cannot but help think that the enemy made a careful study of our psychology and ways of thinking and living and used this knowledge against us in this campaign. Most of us consider night as a time for rest and sleep, and the Japs centered their activities on this period.

Dark Hours Filled with Abuse.

"They were taught a few American words or phrases, chiefly threatening or profane, and the dark hours were filled with this abuse. They were Machiavellian in their cleverly timed bombings and raids. Sleep was impossible or negligible.

"All the marines lost weight, and none of them had been pudgy when they landed on the beach. Weight losses in muscular, toughened young adults ran as high as 45 pounds.

"Rain, heat, insects, dysentery, malaria, all contributed—but the end result was not blood stream infection nor gastrointestinal disease, but a disturbance of the whole organism—a disorder of thinking and living—or even wanting to live. And this incredible strain lasted not one or two days or nights, but persisted for weeks and weeks.

"Hope left most of these men—hope of winning the battle—hope of being aided or rescued. Fatigue wore them down. Painful, aching fatigue that they felt never could be relieved or cured.

"To us the similarity of complaints, symptoms, and objective findings is almost beyond comprehension. In this group we have all types of physiques, mentalities, enviromental, and educational types—yet clinically they were all the same individual — with identical symptoms.

Cotton Stuffed in Ears.

"Even after their arrival at our hospital the slightest sharp or sudden noise would cause them to jump or run from the room. Many arrived with cotton stuffed in their ears. On the returning transport many of them required physical restraint if there was test firing.

"Yet these men were intellectually normal when we saw them at least three weeks after battle.

"The fear that they would be thought yellow was universal. We found one of our first duties was to endeavor to relieve them of this thought, and it was pathetic to see how grateful they were when told no one would consider them cowards."

What of their future? Smith asked. Some, he said, had suffered concussions that may have disturbed parts of their brains, to account for forgetfulness, complete mental blackout from time to time, and palsies.

But they were, originally, as a class, tougher and mentally superior and their doctors hope that after six months on the continent all or nearly all will be fit for civilian life and many will be qualified for limited military duty, he said. But it is now considered doubtful that any of them can go back into the kind of action they faced last fall.

Needless Tragedy

Detroit, Mich., May 11 (AP).—Preventable tragedies have occurred in American war theaters because of failure to screen out from military service men who were mentally unfit for war, Dr. Arthur D. Ruggles of Providence, R. I., president of the American Psychiatric association, declared here today.

"It is unfortunate that thruout the fateful days since Dec. 7, 1941, no one in high places has emphasized the need for a quality army," Dr. Ruggles said in his presidential address before the association.

"Planning has been in terms of 10 or 11 million personnel, including an army of 8 million 200 thousand. But in that army and navy do we want those who in all reasonable probability will break down in a few weeks, becoming mental casualties, many of whom will be permanent dependents of the government?

Rejection Held Main Problem.

"This association, together with other psychiatric and neurological associations, has emphasized this point for many months. The central problem has been rejection from the armed forces for those who, because of nervous and mental disability, obviously are unfit for any kind of effective service with the armed forces.

"We have endeavored to see that selective service obtained adequate histories pointing toward such ineffectiveness and provided the induction boards with such records. This has been accomplished thru the efforts of some of our outstanding leaders, but in all too few localities.

"As a general policy it has had lip service from selective service, but it has not yet become nationwide, and relatively little has been done by selective service to promote such a procedure.

Breakdowns Termed Needless.

"Preventable tragedies have occurred in the theaters of war, thousands of young men have broken down unnecessarily, yet we still await the enforcement of the requirement for a preliminary production of adequate histories on inductees."

On the other side, Col. Roy D. Halloran of Washington, D. C., said: "The incidence of neuropsychiatric casualties in the army, especially since the declaration of war, has been surprisingly low up to the present time. This has also been the experience of the navy."

Earlier in the meeting Col. Halloran said induction centers had rejected 7 or 8 per cent of those examined for mental reasons, compared with 2 per cent in the World war.

FRAT FEUDISTS JOIN SAILORS THEY 'RIBBED'

The reasons for an "out of bounds" ban placed on Psi Upsilon fraternity house at the University of Chicago by the navy last summer were revealed for the first time last night. It all started with an exchange of remarks between students at the house at 5639 University avenue, and sailors assigned to the University of Chicago for special instruction. Hundreds of sailors are quartered near the house.

"Some of the sailors called some of our boys 4-Fs," explained Vytold Yasus, fraternity president. "So some of our boys retaliated by playing a phonograph record of the marine hymn when the sailors marched by. You know how sailors like marines."

Then the out of bounds ban was invoked, forbidding sailors to enter upon Psi Upsilon premises. "It was for our protection, not the sailors'," said Yasus, He added that of 45 fraternity members as of last September, 28 are now in uniform, and 13 more—nearly 100 per cent—will be in the army and navy by July 1. Furthermore, said Yasus, who will leave July 1, only one is in the marines. Almost all the others are or will be in the navy.

WOMAN CALLED AUNT IN WILL IS HELD MOTHER

Mrs. Sarah W. Fester, 97 years old, of Atlantic City, N. J., was declared yesterday to be the mother of the late Mrs. Florine C. Mix, who died last Oct. 23. This ruling paved the way for court action to set aside Mrs. Mix's will, which left the greater portion of her $300,000 estate to a former Chicago policeman serving in the navy. Mrs. Mix's will identified Mrs. Fester as an aunt.

The ruling was made by David J. A. Hayes acting as referee for the Probate court in obtaining a declaration of heirship to the estate. Atty. Hayes said that he would forward his report to Judge John F. O'Connell for approval within 10 days.

Home and $75,000 to Policeman.

Mrs. Mix, widow of Henry A. Mix, real estate dealer who died in 1935, bequeathed her $25,000 home at 1112 East 48th street and $75,000 to Henry O. Larson, former policeman at the Hyde Park station, who patroled in front of the Mix residence. Mrs. Fester was left a $15,000 trust fund, while an additional $15,000 was bequeathed for the care of dumb animals. Numerous minor bequests were contained in the will.

Benjamin H. Black, attorney for Mrs. Fester, began taking legal steps shortly after the will was admitted to probate to have the aged woman declared Mrs. Mix's mother. A deposition from Mrs. Katharine Neely, Bellevue, Pa., disclosed that her own mother and Mrs. Mix's father were sister and brother. The document further attested to the maternity of Mrs. Mix.

Will to Be Contested.

Atty. Black said he would contest the will on the ground Mrs. Mix was of unsound mind when she drew it.

Mrs. Mix, 73 years old when she died, was thrice married and widowed. A single child died at the age of 10 years. Attorneys Henry V. McGurren, representing the estate, and Francis H. McKeever, guardian ad litem for several minors, said they had been unable to find any other direct heirs.

RATION BOARDS' GAS REVOCATION POWER WIDENED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 11.—Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown today broadened the authority of local ration boards to suspend or revoke motorists' gasoline books for violations of rationing regulations.

In a new order, aimed at stricter enforcement of rationing rules, Brown authorized local boards to suspend or revoke gasoline books without a hearing in two types of cases: when the board finds the ration is excessive or was issued on the basis of misinformation and, for commercial vehicles, when the office of defense transportation certifies to the OPA board that the holder of the book has violated ODT regulations.

Local Hearings Prescribed.

The revised ruling also directs local boards to conduct hearings and revoke rations, where justified, for the most commonly charged violations, without referring the case first to an OPA district office, as previously was required. Boards may conduct hearings on their own motion when:

1. A motorist is charged with driving more than 35 miles an hour.
2. A motorist is charged with abuse of tires.
3. An applicant for a ration renewal is believed to have committed a previous violation of ration rules.
4. A motorist's book has been turned in to the board with a report that he has broken the rules and he demands return of the book. The board then is required to hold an immediate hearing.

Three Day Notice Required.

The OPA said the hearings must be public and that notice must be sent to the motorists three days in advance. Appeals from ration suspensions or revocations may be made to OPA district offices within 15 days after the board's decision.

When a board finds that a violation has occurred it may suspend the motorist's book for an "appropriate" time, take a certain number of coupons away from him, or rule that no new ration may be issued for an "appropriate" period.

Brown said the increased authority was granted boards in order to handle most gasoline violation cases at the "neighborhood level."

BOY, 14, IS FOUND SHOT AFTER HE GETS SCOLDING

A few minutes after being reprimanded by his mother, Kenneth James, 14 years old, 3900 North Christiana avenue, was found shot in the head, a .22 caliber rifle beside him, in his home last night.

The boy, son of George C. James, superintendent of the Chicago Temple building, 77 West Washington street, was taken to the Wesley hospital. Surgeons said that altho the wound is serious he probably will survive.

According to Albany Park police, they had called upon the James family earlier in the day to say that neighbors had complained that Kenneth and other boys were breaking glass in alleys and defacing garage walls. Mrs. James scolded Kenneth. The boy is a member of the R. O. T. C. at Lane Technical High school.

Treasurer and Auditor Appropriations Filed

Springfield, Ill., May 11 [Special].—Two appropriation bills came into the state senate today, one of $2,476,084 for the state auditor and $748,200 for the state treasurer. Sen. Arnold P. Benson [R., Batavia], administration leader in the senate, introduced a bill to extend the utility tax without termination date. The tax would expire June 30 of this year under the present law. The tax brings approximately $11,000,000 a year in revenue.

15 PCT. OF TRADE IS BLACKLISTED BY GUATEMALA

Pro-Nazi Stores Still Obtain Goods.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala, May 6 [By air mail].—In the windows of most Guatemalan business houses, and on the walls of most offices, hang framed posters bearing a gray V, super-imposed upon the grouped flags of the United States, Guatemala, and Great Britain. "We Fight for Freedom and Democracy" is the legend in English.

These are more than posters. They are certificates. They identify the establishments which are not included in the roll that is known officially as "The proclaimed list of certain blocked nationals," and, unofficially, as "the black list."

Those concerns named have been found thru investigation to be controled by axis sympathizers who contribute part of their profits to axis causes and further the designs of the nations opposed to the allies.

Up to the late summer of 1941, when the first edition of the list appeared, Nazi Germany had considered itself well entrenched in Guatemala and many other of the Central and South American nations. But the Guatemalan government coöperated promptly and fully with the United States.

Confiscate Coffee Lands.

Merchandise and supplies were ordered shut off from the concerns named.

After Pearl Harbor more drastic action was taken. Guatemala expropriated all coffee lands owned by enemy aliens. These properties, representing 40 per cent of the total acreage and 40 per cent of the annual exportable crop of 20 million pounds, are being administered by the Banco Central de Guatemala.

About 140 farms were involved. Owners of many of them along with their German overseers and helpers were deported to Germany, as were 500 merchants and professional men.

Many exterprises named on the original list have ceased to exist. The restaurants and food shops, denied supplies, closed up in a few days. Others were sold and their names restored to good standing.

Still Obtain Foods.

It was considered certain that there would be no pro-axis dealers in Guatemala after a few months, so steadily did their number dwindle. Then, unexpectedly, the closings and the sell outs stopped. Roughly 15 per cent of Guatemala's 1,000 stores, export and import agencies, hotels, and factories are still on the blacklist and seem to be doing quite well.

"The city's best stocked jewelry store and its best book store are blacklisted," said Matthew V. Melanphy, chairman of the coördination committee, Institute of Inter-American affairs. "These concerns are denied goods by America, England, and Guatemala, yet they are receiving them.

"Their manifests are examined and checked, but their source of supply has not been disclosed. Their consignees are investigated, but so far without result.

"Their patrons are almost exclusively Guatemalans who are sympathetic to Germany, or who are indifferent. A few newcomers from the United States make purchases sometimes pefore they learn about the blacklist."

The blacklisted stores are, of course, suspect as sources of axis propaganda and are kept under close scrutiny by the government and by independent watchers.

BILL TO PERMIT SLUM RAZING IS FILED IN SENATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 11.—Sen. Richard J. Daley [D., Chicago], minority leader of the state senate and spokesman in the legislature for the Chicago city government, today introduced a measure designed to make more stable the legal ground on which the city can take over and raze substandard properties.

Daley said the bill does not affect the neighborhood development program and is designed to allow the city government to condemn and purchase buildings which do not conform to standards fixed by the corporate authority. Purpose in taking over such property would be to prevent the formation of blighted areas.

"One building without tenants, with the windows out, generally run down, can blight an entire block or a neighborhood," Daley said. "This bill is a forerunner to rebuilding the blighted areas of Chicago and to stop the formation of new blighted areas. The building or the property so acquired might be used for city purposes or it might be sold or leased by the city to others who would construct new buildings or maintain the old."

Youth, 18, Shoots Friend While Examining Pistol

Casimer Frystak, 17 years old, 13436 Avenue N, was shot accidentally yesterday by his friend, Frank Holda, 18, of 13427 Avenue O, as the two were examining a .22 caliber revolver in Frystak's home, East Side police said.

10 DIE AS BLAST TRAPS THEM IN ALABAMA MINE

12 Escape Shaft, but 5 Suffer Burns.

Birmingham, Ala., May 11 (AP).—Ten coal miners were killed today when trapped more than a mile underground by a gas explosion at the Praco No. 10 shaft of the Alabama By-Products corporation, about 20 miles west of here.

Twelve others in the shaft escaped, but five were burned and required hospitalization. Three of these were in serious condition.

Only the maintenance crew was at work. The mine had been tested for gas at 1 a. m., and the men inside were engaged in maintenance work in preparation for the 7 a. m. work shift of approximately 200 men.

P. H. Neal, manager of the company's coke and byproducts department, said a pocket of gas near the bottom of the shaft apparently was ignited by a spark from a coal cutting machine.

The dead were listed as Cleve Walker, Fred Blackston, Lovell Cook, Raymond Kemp, Francis Dill, John Files, Henry Merritt, Mack Feltman, F. E. Wood, and Henry B. Beacham.

Rescue crews were seeking the bodies. Several hundred persons gathered about the mine entrance after the blast.

Estimates U. S. Agencies Can Cut Paper Use 42%

Washington, D. C., May 11 (AP).—Rep. Lyle H. Boren [D., Okla.], chairman of a special committee investigating the use of newsprint and paper, estimated today that the "government can save as high as 42.3 per cent" in its consumption of paper. The committee in a report filed with the house recommended that the war production board "exercise all its power to eliminate waste and reduce nonessential use of paper." "While there is such a shortage, we ought to quit putting out so much wastebasket material," said Boren.

N. Y. BARGE CANAL TRAFFIC IMPEDED BY HIGH WATER

Schenectady, N. Y., May 11 [Special].—High water in the Mohawk river, which is part of the New York state barge canal system, was reported today to be impeding traffic altho it has not approached a flood stage. It was reported that the progress of several barges was held up last week because of swift water.

Guy W. Pinck, state canals commissioner, said at Albany that Lake Erie ice combined with high water in the Mohawk had contributed to the impediment of traffic. However, he said that conditions of the last two weeks were little changed and that normal traffic is dependent upon rainfall conditions.

The Mohawk river, for its approximately 115 miles between Albany and Rome, forms a part of the cross-state barge waterways which carries shipping from the port of New York to Lakes Ontario and Erie.

FARM INTERESTS HOLD UP ACTION ON AIRPORT BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 11.—Farm interests, which have been cool toward the airport authority bill since its introduction, today succeeded in delaying action on the measure in the house of representatives until a more complete hearing is given the plan.

Rep. Clinton Searle.

A hearing by the house as a whole has been set for tomorrow. Hugh Dobbs, corporation counsel for the city of Springfield, which is backing the bill with an emergency clause in order that the state capital can plan an airport before federal funds lapse on July 1, will be the principal speaker.

Rep. Clinton Searle [R., Rock Island], acting spokesman for the opposition bloc, agreed to adoption of nine amendments to the bill. The bill was then held on second reading and will be considered tomorrow, after the amendments are printed and after the open hearing is held.

4 DIE IN TEXAS STORM; WIND CRUSHES SCHOOL

Kilgore, Tex., May 11 (AP).—Four persons were killed yesterday in a cyclonic storm which flattened homes and crushed a school where more than 100 children escaped with minor injuries.

"Children flew thru the air like leaves," said Mrs. Lavada Woods, the principal.

One of the dead was Thelma Mae French, 4 years old, of McLeansboro, Ill.

2 DIE, 13 HURT IN EXPLOSION AT ARMS PLANT

Charleston, W. Va., May 11 (AP).—An earth-shaking blast in a unit of the Carbide and Carbon chemicals plant in South Charleston today killed two men and injured at least 13 others. The plant produces war materials.

One of the injured said a brick wall was shattered by the explosion and fell on him, leading to fears some men might be trapped in the unit, which is on Blaine Island in the center of the Kanawha River.

No statement was forthcoming from company officials but one plant worker said he believed 20 men normally were employed in the affected unit.

TELLS HOW BUND IMPLANTED NAZI CREDO IN YOUTHS

Taught and Toughened in Camps, Says Witness.

BY PAUL HEALY.

The behind-the-scenes story of the German-American bund—how it trained American youths in Nazi doctrine here and abroad and how it "flaunted" the constitution of the United States at private meetings—was unfolded yesterday by Peter Gissibl, former bund leader in Chicago, in Federal Judge William J. Campbell's courtroom.

Gissibl put in his second full day as the government's first witness in a hearing attempting to establish that membership in the bund is cause for revocation of a naturalization citizenship.

After this issue has been decided nine defendants, including Dr. Otto Willumeit, former bund leader here, will be tried separately on denaturalization charges.

Opposed to Constitution.

The proceedings yesterday reached their climax late in the afternoon when Gissibl, under cross-examination by Defense Atty. C. Bentley Pike, declared emphatically that bund members were opposed to the constitution.

After Pike read aloud the oath of allegiance to this country which Gissibl took in 1929, the witness said he had broken his oath by his actions as a member of the bund here.

The story of the inception and development of the Free Society of Teutonia and the Friends of New Germany, organizations which fathered the bund in America, had been drawn earlier from Gissibl by United States Atty. J. Albert Woll.

Big Beer Treasury.

Joseph T. Harrington, also a defense attorney, tried to get Gissibl to say that the Teutonia society, founded in 1924, was purely social. The witness, however, steadfastly asserted that beer drinking was only a part of the group's activities, despite the size of its "beer treasury."

The witness' story of bund operations included the following disclosures:

1. That the bund organized youth movements similar to those in Germany, with week-end and summer camps where youths were secretly instructed in boxing, marching, physical education and the National Socialist philosophy. There were seven such camps in the United States, including Camp Hindenburg, a short distance from Milwaukee.

Sent to Germany.

2. That American youths were sent to Germany for training as future bund leaders.

3. That soon after its organization here in 1936 the bund established schools to educate American youth of German descent in Nazi philosophy. One school was in the Haus Vaterland, then north side bund headquarters.

4. That a Deutscher Konsum-Verband [German Consumers' league] was organized here to make sure that members bought German merchandise.

5. That he [Gissibl] met a unit leader of the bund stationed on the liners Bremen and Europa when he took a trip to Germany in 1938. Bund meetings were held during the voyages and the crews told him they attended bund meetings regularly on the east coast of the United States.

6. That the bund collected tin, copper, and brass, and sent these strategic materials to the German bund in New York, which shipped them to Germany on German ships.

"Did bund members ever sing the Star Spangled Banner at meetings?" Gissibl was asked by Harrington.

"Only at public meetings," he answered.

Points Out Teacher.

Once during his testimony Gissibl was asked to name the leaders of the bund since its organization and was asked if he could recognize any of them in the courtroom. He pointed to one of the spectators, Dr. Hubert Schnuch, who is a Spanish teacher at Mundelein college.

Dr. Schnuch, he said, was a national leader of the bund for eight months during 1935, when it was known as the Friends of New Germany.

[Mundelein college officials said Dr. Schnuch was hired for one year to teach Spanish because of an extra large enrollment. Dr. Schnuch came to Mundelein from the College of St. Theresa in Winona, Minn., they said. He will be released automatically at the end of the school year.]

In addition to Dr. Willumeit, the defendants are Mrs. Irene Matz, his former secretary; Hugo Johannes Luethje, Ernest Henry Scharf, Frank Alphonse Schoennagel, Frederick Ohrt, Karl Herman Sautter, Carl Ernest Vogl, and Friedrich Kiefer.

HAROLD TEEN—GROUND CREW

COURT UPHOLDS CIO CONVICTIONS FOR STRIKE RIOT

10 Chicagoans Among Thirteen Held.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 11 [Special].—The Indiana Supreme court today affirmed the conviction of 13 CIO members, all except three from Chicago, for participating in a strike riot two years ago at the International Harvester company plant in Richmond, Ind.

The court denied pleas for new trials for the 13 but ordered a retrial for a 14th defendant, Theodore Lorek of Chicago. The tribunal said that the attorney general conceded, "with commendable candor," that it was an error to have convicted him.

The case grew out of a strike called Feb. 17, 1941, at the plant by the Farm Equipment Workers Organizing Committee [CIO]. The plant was tied up six weeks by the strike, thru which the unionists sought to enforce demands for higher wages, abolition of piece work and other concessions.

Rioting at Plant.

The rioting occurred on March 27, 1941, when the plant was reopened and 900 employés marched back to work under police guard. Pickets and employés clashed in a bloody battle in which iron bars, clubs and a variety of weapons were used. More than 20 persons, including several policemen, were injured in the fighting.

Police Chief Ellis Duckett of Richmond later told of being warned that the strikers had prepared heated pokers for use against nonstrikers and that a CIO truck near the plant gates was filled with weapons. Police found two axes, a pitchfork, clubs, and rocks in the truck.

Eighty-two persons were arrested during the riot and 37 subsequently were indicted by a Wayne county grand jury which accused CIO leaders of having planned the "violent and illegal" activities.

"Willing to Spill Blood."

During the trial it was testified that Clifford Kerr, president of the Richmond union local, had declared the union was willing to "spill blood" to gain its end but Kerr admitted on the stand that he prevented any spilling of his own blood by watching the battle from a parked car.

At the conclusion of the trial, which was taken from Wayne to Randolph county on a change of venue, 23 defendants who were residents of Richmond were found not guilty of the charges of resisting and obstructing peace officers. Each of the 14 convicted was fined $100 and most of them were given jail sentences ranging up to 90 days.

All of the 11 Chicagoans indicted were convicted. Besides Lorek, who won a new trial, they are Robert Foley, a CIO field representative, and John Hull, William Klepser, Thomas Dublinski, Allen Krzywda, Stanley Wronski, John Semetulskis, Paul Chuey, Bruno Gawalek, and Edward Wasniak.

SAM HUNT.

Sam [Golf Bag] Hunt, former Al Capone associate, appeared at the Englewood police station yesterday and told Capt. Patrick Collins that he was ready to answer any questions put to him concerning the slaying of Danny Stanton, south side hoodlum, and Louis Dorman, an aid, in a tavern at 6500 South May street last Wednesday.

Hunt insisted that he was not implicated in the double killing, was given a lie detector test at the detective bureau and then released. He gave a minute description of his recent movements to Capt. Collins and to Assistant State's Atty. Francis T. McCurrie, who aided in the questioning. Capt. Collins said that Stanton's widow, who was scheduled to appear yesterday for questioning, had failed to show up.

Hunt, who recently was acquitted of the fatal shooting of Michael Wade, Negro Winnetka houseman, appeared at the station unaccompanied. He told police he has been living at the Piccadilly hotel, 5107 Blackstone avenue, and that he has been occupied with the operation of southern Illinois oil wells in which he owns an interest.

HOLDS MINE PAY HIKES FAR AHEAD OF LIVING COSTS

Washington, D. C., May 11 (AP).—Soft coal miners' complaint that their wages cannot buy enough food at present prices brought a reply from operators today that miners' weekly earnings increased almost 60 per cent from Jan. 1, 1941, to February, 1943, while living expenses rose only 25 per cent.

The figures were contained in a survey report made by Dr. David Friday, Washington economist for the bituminous operators. It was presented to the war labor board's special three man panel as hearings into the soft coal phase of the contract controversy were brought to a close.

Morris Cooke, panel chairman, announced that tomorrow's scheduled opening of anthracite hearings had been postponed because negotiations still were in progress.

CEILINGS BLOCK SALES; FISH ARE DUMPED IN SEA

Tons Lost After N. Y. Dealers Revolt.

New York, May 11 [Special].—Hundreds of New York City food merchants are refusing to handle poultry and fish under conditions established by office of price administration regulations, it was learned today.

Some 250 poultry dealers closed their doors yesterday and went on "strike" as the revolt gained momentum. Along the New Jersey coast, fishermen began dumping hundreds of thousands of pounds of fresh whiting back into the sea from their nets because Manhattan dealers will not handle whiting under the 4 cents a pound OPA ceiling.

Meanwhile, local spokesmen for the department of agriculture and the packing industry admitted that the meat shortage is growing worse thruout this area, with no immediate relief in sight.

Can't Afford Freezing.

The disclosure that fishermen were releasing their catches came from Edward Irwin, supervisor of the fishery council.

The council explained that the demand for fresh whiting is well below the supply. In other years this surplus was sold in the market to be frozen by dealers and then reoffered for sale as frozen whiting after Jan. 1.

The council explained that, while the ceiling for frozen whiting is 4 cents a pound, dealers would have to spend 5 cents on freezing and packaging, even if the fishermen gave them the whiting free.

The striking poultry retailers charge that some of the wholesalers demand 5 cents a pound more than OPA ceiling prices. Retailers' ceilings have been fixed, so they refuse to handle the chickens offered above the legal limit.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that the OPA would file within 36 hours criminal charges against six New York City wholesale live poultry dealers, accusing them of selling above ceiling prices. Edward L. Coffee, chief OPA district attorney, made this announcement.

Outburst Hits Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 11 [Special].—Hundreds of poultry retailers swarmed into Philadelphia's wholesale poultry market district today to protest what they described as inadequate government control of black market activity and virtually forced dealers to suspend business.

One man was stabbed, and stones were hurled in the outburst. Two arrests were made.

The action followed the vote last night of more than 500 members of the Philadelphia Live Poultry Dealers association to close shops until given relief by the office of price administration.

PRICE OF ALARM CLOCKS SET, BUT TRY TO GET ONE!

Washington, D. C. May 11—(AP).—The office of price administration today set a ceiling price of $1.65 on the new "war alarm clock," effective tomorrow.

In addition to the $1.65, buyers will pay a 10 per cent federal excise tax, as well as local sales taxes, if any Sound sleepers reportedly have paid as much as $9 for alarm clocks as a result of a shortage.

The war production board said 100,000 of the war-model clocks, with revised steel innards to save brass, have been made, but the date of their public appearance was not announced.

Workers in shipyards and war plants probably will get first chance to buy the clocks, it was believed, on the theory that the more vital your job, the more reason to wake you up in the morning.

Nye to Assail 'Globaloney' Plans at Chicago Session

Sen. Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] will be the principal speaker at an "anti-globaloney" massmeeting to be held May 20 in the Mural ballroom of the Morrison hotel, W. J. Grace, Chicago lawyer, who is making arrangements for the meeting, announced yesterday. Grace said more than 5,000 announcements have been sent to Republicans in Chicago and Illinois. Early replies, he announced, indicate a large attendance.

ASK 10½ MILLION PARK DISTRICT TAX PEG AGAIN

Dunham Says Pay Raises Increase Costs.

The Chicago park district board yesterday authorized its president, Robert J. Dunham, to present to the legislature a request for extension of its pegged tax levy, now fixed at 10½ million dollars a year. The 1942 Chicago tax rate is the highest in the city's history and two-thirds of the increase over last year's rate has been attributed to the pegged levy system used by several of the local governments.

In a letter to his board, Dunham said the park district's tax revenue would be reduced to $5,584,000 if the pegged levy system were abandoned. He said the district needs 10½ millions to maintain its present operations and to pay for increased costs.

$577,000 Pay Increases.

Salaries have been increased a total of $577,000 a year as a result of the 12 per cent pay raise for park policemen and a 10 per cent raise for other employes earning less than $250 a month, Dunham said. In addition, he explained, the park board has been obliged to spend an extra $350,000 a year as a result of the war. The parks' revenue from fees, principally the Monroe street parking lot, has been reduced $100,000 he said.

Dunham said the extra war costs included higher prices for supplies, the expense of supplying staff members for the office of civilian defense, and the expense of a service men's center.

It was recalled that Dunham, at a press conference last November, contended that altho 253 employes from public pay rolls are working full time for OCD, they are workers who can be spared because war conditions have reduced work in the agencies from which they were withdrawn.

Heads Board Third Time.

Dunham, who was reappointed a member of the park board on May 5 by Mayor Kelly, was reëlected president of the board yesterday for his third successive term. The board also reappointed Blaine Hoover for a six year term as superintendent of employment for the district at $7,200 a year.

At Dunham's request, the board approved a petition to the legislature for authority to transfer to park district control the old sewage pumping station at Pershing road, which now is unused. It was explained that the parks need the building as a garage and a storage place for equipment.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friends of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

O. S. D. writes: "I guess I'm just one of those 'oldsters' who want to do their bit, but every time I talk with the United States employment service, or with the civil service offices I don't seem to get much satisfaction. I've spent practically my whole life on waterfronts as stevedore, hatch boss, gang boss, and one or two stretches as what I suppose would be called a pier superintendent. I'm just past 46 and I ask you, is that too old to get in and pitch?"

ANSWER: Your age certainly shouldn't be against you because the army wants to commission men up to 55 years of age who have had experience as stevedores, pier superintendents, and water terminal managers. As stevedore, you would be responsible for the planning of stowage on cargo vessels and the actual loading; as a pier superintendent you would be in charge of pier operations and the supervision of stevedore operations, and as water terminal manager you'd be in charge of all operations. Why don't you drop in and talk with an officer in the Chicago Officer Procurement District Office, Civic Opera Building, Chicago?

A. T. P. asks: "Are all WAACs subject to overseas duty?"

ANSWER: No. Overseas duty is voluntary, but over 90 per cent of the WAACs have requested overseas duty and now they have to wait for their turn. WAACs receive a 20 per cent increase in base pay for overseas duty.

C. I. T. writes: "I am 47 years old and have been on the park district police for nine years. Before that I was a mechanic and electrician. I now have three sons in overseas service and no one more than I has reason for wanting to 'get in and pitch' by producing tanks and guns so our boys have something to fight with. However, I learned that I cannot get a furlough from this job to enter a defense plant even tho if I were younger I could be furloughed to the armed service. What is the matter with our smart civil service boys? Couldn't these rules be amended for the duration to let us go into defense plants and really produce?"

ANSWER: If enough fathers who feel like you do get together, maybe enough pressure will be developed to accomplish a change in the rules. The Chicago park district office said it is powerless to do anything about it, but to write and make application, and then as soon as changes in the rules are made furloughs can be given.

E. P. asks: "Are doctors who are being commissioned into the A. M. C. supposed to take their ration books with them?"

ANSWER: If they intend taking their meals in the regular officers' mess they won't need their books, but if they live off post the books will be needed. Take the books along anyway—just in case!

PAROLE DENIED TO JIMMY HINES, N. Y. POLITICIAN

Ossining, N. Y., May 11 (AP).—James J. Hines, 66 years old, former Tammany district leader, must spend another year in Sing Sing prison, the state board of parole decided today.

Hines, serving a four to eight year term on a conviction for conspiring to operate a lottery, appeared before the parole board after serving his minimum sentence. With time off for good behavior, Hines was automatically entitled to a hearing for release on parole.

Frederick A. Moran of Albany, chairman of the board, said that the board "does not believe Hines' release would be compatible with the welfare of society," and that it was not convinced "the time has come when Hines could be released with the reasonable expectancy that he would be a suitable parole risk."

TAXPAYERS GET AID IN NEW BILL, EXPERTS ASSERT

Favor Pre-Adjudication Measure Here.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Experts on Chicago tax problems said yesterday that the tax pre-adjudicating bill unanimously adopted last week by the state senate would stop unfair punishment of small home owners and also be a deterrent to taxing bodies that take advantage of the present adjudicating machinery to pad their levies with items they know are illegal.

William J. Tuohy, assistant state's attorney assigned as counsel to the county board, also said the bill, sponsored by State Sen. Richard J. Daley [D., Chicago], would be a great help in getting the full tax bills paid early. The house is expected to adopt the measure.

How Present System Works.

At present, the tax levying system begins with the passing by local taxing bodies of appropriations bills. They then set up their anticipated revenues. The expenditures begin at once.

Later, the county assessor compiles the valuations of all real and personal properties. His figures are then divided by the cash needed to meet the local governments' bills and the result is the tax rate, announced by the county clerk. For 1942, it was $10.42 on $100 in Chicago, an all time high.

The taxpayer, however, has no opportunity to go to court and complain until his taxes become delinquent, a long time after these levies have become effective. The taxpayer, defending himself from an illegal levy, may sue and escape payment of illegal levies.

Little Fellow on the Spot.

"But the benefits of the reduction in the County court only go to those who sue," Tuohy pointed out. "The little fellows can't afford the court costs to save themselves a few dollars. So it is the big taxpayers and associations that sue. They can hire lawyers. If they win, they alone profit.

"Sen. Daley's bill would require the levies be presented to the County court before the tax bills are made out. Either the taxing body or objectors could ask for a finding on legality and all taxpayers would share alike in any reductions."

Heretofore, the courts have been chary of going into pre-adjudication because no taxpayer can prove he is hurt until he receives his tax bill.

In 1937 and 1939, pre-adjudication laws were adopted by the legislature, but were declared unconstitutional. In 1941 another law for the same purpose was vetoed by Gov. Green because of its doubtful constitutionality. Daley has said the present bill will not be subject to these objections.

Vacations for Workers Are Urged by Nelson

Washington — (AP) — Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board Tuesday indorsed vacations for industrial workers this year as "helpful to war production."

Nelson said experience has shown that the volume of production is increased "if the workers can restore their energies through periods of physical and mental rest, change and relaxation."

Where to GO in Michigan this Summer

The above clipping confirms what England and other nations at war long since have learned. Proper rest, relaxation and recreation result in increased production because man-power energy and ability have been renewed . . . What better place than Michigan for such a program? Michigan, so close at hand, so easy to reach, so blessed by Nature with everything the worker needs for complete re-creation!

Don't Forget the Family

Michigan composes four great recreational areas containing long stretches of shore line, thousands of inland lakes, rugged forests, and ample accommodations. Entire families need the benefits to be obtained from a stay in summer-time Michigan to safeguard them against the ills of another winter.

HEARING IS HELD ON BILL TO TAX PUBLIC HOUSING

Witnesses Advance Both Sides of Issue.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 11.—Tax exemption for public housing projects would be abolished under a bill approved today by the Illinois house revenue committee. Many witnesses pleaded both sides of the case at length before the committee voted, 12 to 10, to recommend passage.

Legislators assailed the tearing up of tax roots of local government. Housing authorities in Illinois own 40 million dollars' worth of property. In addition the Chicago housing authority has leased property valued at more than 14 million dollars from the United States housing authority.

A remarkable feature of the hearing was the apparent conversion of some of the Chicago Democrats, ardent New Dealers of record, against the continued tax-free life of public housing. One was Rep. Peter P. Jezierny, the only legislator to list his occupation as politics.

Saves for His Property.

"There's that new Lawndale project at California avenue and 25th street," he said. "Near by I have my two story place. I bought the lot 32 years ago. I got the money from a building and loan association, even tho I have only one arm. With my neighbors it's the same. We knew how to save.

"Now while I charge $65 a month for rent the nicer flats in the housing project get $25 or $30 a month. The project should pay taxes the same as I do."

The bill is sponsored by Assessor John S. Clark of Cook county and was introduced by his research chief, Rep. Edward S. McCabe.

"With rents frozen, property owners are up against it," said Frank J. Bilek of the Cook county civic council. "Give us a run for our money once in a while. Cut out a lot of this rank class legislation, won't you?"

Not Aid to Slum Clearing.

Morgan L. Fitch, former president of the Chicago Real Estate board, declared that subsidized housing has not cleared slums. Rather, it has caused their expansion, he said. At the same time it has increased the tax burden on the home owner and created "relief" housing costing $6,000 per unit, compared with $3,500 average value of other residential units, he said.

Only 12,000 of Chicago's 3,400,000 inhabitants are in public housing projects. To extend such subsidized shelter to the "ill-housed one-third" would cost $200,000,000 more than the assessed value of all the property now in Chicago, said J. V. O'Neil of the Oakland-Kenwood Property Owners association.

Defends Public Housing.

"This is an attack on public housing, pure and simple," said John T. Reardon of the Quincy housing authority.

"If the bill passes, the federal government will have to take over operation of the projects and then you will lose payments in lieu of taxes and lose home rule," said Warren C. Skinner, who said he appeared in behalf of the mayor of Moline.

Rep. McCabe was angered when Byrd Kramer, president of the Metropolitan Housing council of Chicago, said that private enterprise would not supply low cost housing. There has been no action under the 1941 Neighborhood Redevelopment corporation act, Kramer said.

"Of course not!" McCabe snapped. "There has been a war on and materials couldn't be obtained. After the war private business will go ahead under that law and build better buildings than the federal projects."

Leo Kopp, staff conductor for the Chicago Civic Opera company for the last 12 years, will be musical director.

HOUSE OFFERED STATE EMPLOYE PENSION MOVE

Cost to Illinois Would Be Million a Year.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 11.—An administration bill to create a state employés' pension system was introduced in the house today by Majority Leader Reed F. Cutter [R., Lewistown]. With the plan in full operation, cost to the state would be an estimated 1 million dollars yearly; employés would contribute roughly the same amount.

Pensions would range from $29 to $200 a month, depending upon average salary, length of service, and amount of contributions. Low salaried employés would receive a slightly higher return upon their 5 per cent pay roll deduction than the others.

Retirement Age 65.

Normal retirement age would be 65, but retirement with lower pensions would be permitted employés 60 years old with 15 years or more of service.

The state would provide $500,000, including $50,000 for administration, as a starter to cover the first 18 months.

Cutler introduced two other administration bills to iron out an administration disagreement with George F. Barrett, attorney general, and Arthur C. Lueder, state auditor, over the new form of appropriation measures. Definitions of various items are provided to fit in with the plans for a more businesslike accounting system, which is one of Green's goals.

A substitute measure was offered for Green's plan to reclassify state employés on an "equal pay for equal work" basis. The new measure would increase by $10 the salaries of all employés getting less than $200 a month.

Ask Liquor Law Changes.

Four Chicagoans brought in a series of bills proposing important changes in the liquor laws. The law prohibiting public officials from participating in the liquor business would be repealed.

One measure would restrict each Illinois city to one liquor store or tavern for each 500 inhabitants after next Jan. 1, unless the city voted an ordinance allowing a greater or lesser number. Chicago precincts voting upon taverns in local options could also vote to ban the package sale of liquor.

Sponsors of these bills are Representatives Michael Ruddy and Walter McAvoy, Republicans, and Michael Hannigan and John P. Boyle, Democrats.

The house passed two bills to enable Cook county tax officials to wipe off their books about 8 million dollars in invalid personal property tax debts. Rep. Edward J. McCabe [D., Chicago], chief of research for Assessor John S. Clark, said certificates of error were issued for these taxes from 1928 to 1941.

Girl Page Takes Over Her Brother's Job in House

Springfield, Ill., May 11—[Special]. — The Illinois house of representatives has its first girl page, Beverly Crumly of Springfield, who is working on the Democratic side in the absence of her brother, Robert, who is a surgical patient in a local hospital. Beverly, who is 14 years old, was introduced to the house this morning by Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg.

WORKMAN QUITS STATE FINANCE ASSISTANT POST

Springfield, Ill., May 11 (AP).—The resignation of Samuel L. Workman of Chicago, who as assistant to the state finance director was one of the ranking officials in Gov. Green's administration, was announced today by Finance Director George B. McKibbin.

McKibbin said the resignation would be effective May 15 and that Workman, 40, was quitting because he considered it "imperative" that he return to his private business, a commercal calculating and typing service in Chicago.

Workman, a Chicago Republican ward committeeman who was active in Gov. Green's 1940 state campaign, was supervisor of revenue divisions of the finance department for 18 months prior to appointment in 1942 as assistant to the director. In January this year he was named acting director when McKibbin resigned to run, unsuccessfully, for mayor of Chicago. He returned to his former post as assistant when McKibbin was reappointed director a month ago.

Irishmen Poke Drifting Mine; Explosion Kills 17

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, May 11 (AP).—A mine floated ashore and exploded near the west coast village of Donegal today, killing 17 men and injuring four. A large crowd had gathered near the mine and several men were trying to loosen nuts of the explosive with monkey wrenches. Others were prodding it with sticks. The explosion was heard for 50 miles.

We're growing friends in our Victory Garden!

"OUR 'Victory Garden' would make Uncle Sam himself proud. We're raising enough beets and beans, and carrots and peas to feed our family all summer—and to can for next winter, too.

"But best of all, we're harvesting—much to our surprise and delight—a bumper crop of friends!

"For these spring days, digging out there in the backyard, in slacks and overalls, we're having plenty of company.

"Neighbors, passersby, folks to whom we've seldom said more than 'How do you do!' often stop and admire our rows of sprouting vegetables.

"Usually that's a good excuse to knock off work for a few minutes—whereupon I suggest: 'You know, something tall and cold would taste mighty good right now. Won't you folks join us in a glass of beer?'

"Well, when those frosty bottles of Pabst Blue Ribbon come out on the tray, we all sort of let down and relax. It's mighty pleasant."

All over America, people are rediscovering the simple pleasures of life. Home... back porch... neighbors. And more than ever, Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer has become a symbol of friendly companionship.

That softer, kindlier taste is obtained by a Pabst process of FULL-FLAVOR BLENDING. Pabst actually combines no less than 33 master brews into one magnificent beer.

Pabst Blue Ribbon is a delightful experience in taste—thirst-quenching, satisfying, tongue-tingling. There is no finer beer in all the world than Pabst Blue Ribbon.

MEN 18-21 MAKE BEST SOLDIERS, SAYS GENERAL

Those in 30s Are Found to Lack Adaptability.

[The following is the second story in a series by Mr. Trohan, who is making a tour of army camps thruout the United States.]

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Knox, Ky., May 11.—Young men, those between the ages of 18 and 21, make the best soldiers in America's armored force—the youngest, most mobile, and the hardest hitting branch of the army ground forces—Maj. Gen. Charles L. Scott, commanding general of the armored force replacement training center, declared here today.

Gen. Scott, who served five months as senior American military observer in the Libyan campaign, hailed young men as physically superior and more alert mentally to the realities of war. He lashed war complacency in the army and among civilians.

"The efficiency of army divisions went up when the nation began drafting younger men," Gen. Scott asserted. "In the armored force we could see it at once. I'd like to have all younger men.

Men in 30s Not So Good.

"Older men are not so good, especially those in the 30s. As a rule they have too much fat around the middle from too much car riding and are slower in taking to military life.

"The enemy is smart, cunning, and ruthless. The only way we can lick him is to be smarter, more cunning, and more ruthless. Our soldiers must kill without compunction and, if possible, get a little fun out of it."

Gen. Scott described indifference to the war as a major problem among troops as well as among civilians.

"Some of them don't know there's a war on," he said. "They look on training as Boy Scout stuff. Some don't come out of it until they get bombed and shelled. They have to be jolted out of complacency.

Some Termed "Just Dumb."

"Like a great many civilians, the complacent soldier is that way because he's too far from the war. Some of them are just dumb. They are the illiterates who didn't finish school and didn't work. They are the boys who let their mothers support them.

"We have no trouble with the boy who finished high school or had some high school. Those with college training also give no trouble. A lot of our complacency is just dumbness.

"This war is a grim business. We are fighting for our very existence. The sooner we realize it the sooner we will win. That is something civilians must realize more than they now do. Strikes and complaints against rationing and the like should stop. Civilians are fighting in this war as well as the men at the fronts."

Gen. Scott championed younger soldiers to a group of newspaper men touring army installations as guests of Robert Patterson, undersecretary of war, after the visitors witnessed battle inoculation exercises which are part of the training at Fort Knox.

BANDIT ROBS COLLECTOR.

Gustave Bass, 3544 Wilson avenue, an instalment collector for a clothing firm, told police yesterday he was robbed of $48 by a Negro who held him up in front of 1641 Washburne avenue.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by John Craven, 5209 South Paulina street.]

THE QUESTION.

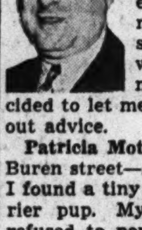
Have you ever accomplished anything by going on a sit-down strike?

WHERE ASKED.

Field building, 135 South La Salle street.

THE ANSWERS.

Lorraine Sinski, typist, 3203 South Throop street—It was like running a race for me to try to keep up with my boy friend on walks. Words didn't help, but he slowed down after he looked back a couple of times and found me leaning against a tree half a block away.



Joseph Kaufman, salesman, 1521 South Ridgeway avenue—The family felt I couldn't drive and look at the scenery, too. Telling these back seat drivers to leave the job to me didn't help, so I stopped right where we were and didn't move until they decided to let me do the driving without advice.

Patricia Motycka, clerk, 4430 Van Buren street—A couple of years ago I found a tiny fox terrier pup. My father refused to permit me to keep it, so I refused to eat. For two whole days I had nothing except the malted milks he never knew I had. I kept the puppy.

Constance L. Musso, secretary, 2321 Seminary avenue—My friend had a habit of making dates on the spur of the moment. I resented it, but talking didn't help. He was soon cured when I played stubborn and refused to go out unless he called me at least an hour in advance.

Loretta Thompson, receptionist, 1718 West 63d street—When I start telling a story at home I can never finish it without several interruptions by younger brothers and sisters. Now that I rebel every time they do it I'm getting results. Stopping in the middle of the story and refusing to go on is the best method.

Harriet Kempski, comptometer operator, 2928 North Lawndale avenue—There was no limit to the number of miles my friend would walk once we started out on a hike. The only way I could convince him that I had gone far enough was to find a nice, shady spot and go on a real sit-down strike.

WPB Cites Rotarians for Help in Salvage

A citation for the contribution of 3,500 Rotary clubs and their 150,000 members in the United States to the salvage program was presented yesterday by the war production board to the Rotary International board of directors. The board is meeting in Chicago this week.

CHICAGO'S FIRE FORCE RETAINS PEAK STRENGTH

Other Cities Held to Face Heavy Draft Losses.

Fire fighting forces in other cities face serious depletion under present selective service regulations, but the Chicago fire department expects to be able to maintain its force at nearly peak strength, it was disclosed yesterday.

The national outlook was described by George J. Richardson, secretary of the International Association of Fire Fighters, at the 47th annual meeting of the National Fire Protection association in the Palmer House.

"Unless selective service regulations are revised to defer firemen, 43 per cent of the nation's professional fire fighters will soon be inducted," he said. "Fire protection service of the nation will be left dangerously weakened as a result, imperiling the war program.

Draft Outlook Is Told.

"In 527 cities employing 80 per cent of the country's professional fire fighters, 8 per cent already have been inducted and another 35 per cent are eligible for induction unless draft rules are revised."

Anthony J. Mullaney, first deputy fire marshal, said Chicago has 2,743 firemen out of a total of 2,808 permitted in the city budget and that the full quota will be reached within a few months. Because the average age of Chicago firemen already is 39.9 years, he said, the city expects to lose only 100 men in addition to the 207 who already have left for service. The city has had no difficulty in obtaining replacements, he added.

The Chicago Board of Underwriters announced a program of public education for fire protection which will reach its climax next October when national fire prevention week is observed during the anniversary of the great Chicago fire of 1871.

Sponsor Radio Program.

Walter M. Sheldon, board president, said the twin objects of the program would be to prevent fire in war properties and to avoid the economic loss from fires at any time. As one phase of the program, Sheldon said the board will sponsor a weekly radio program over W-G-N at 9:30 p. m. on Thursdays, beginning tomorrow. Speakers will include war heroes and others who have distinguished themselves in various fields.

Further reduction in Chicago fire losses is the goal of the program, he said. The board is made up of 6,000 agents and brokers and 201 capital stock fire insurance companies. It operates the fire insurance patrol, which last year responded to an average of 38 alarms daily.

BURGLARS GET 39 CASES OF LIQUOR.

Thirty-nine cases of liquor valued at $1,267, a watch, and $30 were taken yesterday in the burglary of a tavern at 2260 North Clark street, the owner, William Spiegel, reported to police.

Finer Flavor! Money Saver

GIANT FLOATING AIRPORTS URGED FOR SEA FLIGHTS

Firm Would Set Up 3 in Atlantic.

Washington, D. C., May 11 [Special].—Three floating seadromes, spaced every 800 miles across the Atlantic to provide safe air traffic, were proposed today by American business leaders in a plan for post-war travel which ultimately would cost only an estimated 6 cents a mile. All planes of all countries would be allowed to use these floating hangars.

The mile long islands of steel would cost 10 million dollars each and would extend 70 feet above the ocean level. They would rest on buoys 160 feet below the surface, thus giving safety from pitch or roll caused by angry waves. Every drome would have refueling facilities, plus hotel accommodations which would allow ocean travelers real vacations at sea. The dromes would be powered and would be capable of moving from place to place at 8 knots.

Line Applies to CAB.

Application for authority to establish an air route using such docks was made to the civil aeronautics board today by C. Bedell Monro, president of the Pennsylvania-Central Airlines. He said the project also was being sponsored by the United States Steel corporation, the John A. Roebling company, the Sun Shipbuilding and Drydock company, the Wirth Steel company, and the Belmont Iron works. The ship concern would build the docks.

"We desire to open these facilities to all companies that may qualify," said Monro, "because we do not want to impede the progress of aviation after the war. Also our attitude shows that the United States will help in aviation, rather than hinder it. No monopoly is sought by us."

He said the seadromes have been approved by leading engineers and by the American bureau of shipping.

Reducing hops to 800 miles each would enable planes to increase their loads and would aid in the development of trans-oceanic air mail, Monro said.

Sees Hope of Progress.

"That we are going ahead with these plans now is proof that America can fight and win a war and at the same time produce ideas that help guarantee continued progress and prosperity," he declared.

Several routes are under consideration, according to Monro.

The civil aviation board only last week reaffirmed its war policy of delaying until peace returns any action on applications for new routes—unless required by the war.

GEOGRAPHICAL STUDY NEEDED IN AMERICA, N. U. PROFESSOR SAYS

The allied nations must develop geographical science to the point where it can be useful in planning a workable post-war world, declared G. Donald Hudson, professor of geography at Northwestern university and geographical editor of the Encyclopedia Britannica, at a luncheon meeting of the Northwestern University associates in the Chicago club yesterday.

"Today," he said, "we are a nation of geographic illiterates. Our understanding of geography is usually based on our recollections of the seventh grade, which covers the two-times-two stage of geographic thinking."

The new geographical science, which will be used for the benefit of mankind and which will serve to neutralize the German science of geopolitics, which is a blueprint for the enslavement of mankind, must, he said, study the distribution of the world's natural resources, populations, techniques, and even ideas. Only thus, Prof. Hudson insisted, can post-war trade arrangements, transport plans, and projects for the development of backward areas be realistically and intelligently handled.

FIND MISSING MAN DROWNED.

The body of Arthur E. Sander, 70 years old, an inmate of an old people's home at 7824 Madison street, Forest Park, was found yesterday in the Des Plaines river near 47th street in Lyons township. K. R. Mueller, superintendent of the home, said that Sander had been missing since April 27, and had impaired vision. He said he believed Sander wandered into the river.

Is this a case of SWELLED HEAD?

NON SEMPER EASUNT QUAE VIDENTUR, is the answer. Or in plain English: Things are not always what they seem. And this seems to be really a case of a small hat rather than a swelled head.

Now, when you want to pick an oil for your motor, one that will serve you well and save your motor and your money, here are facts, in plain English, to help you choose with confidence.

Phillips produces a variety of oils because cars, motorists, and pocketbooks vary. But if you are the kind of careful car owner who wants our best oil, you need have no question. Phillips frankly tells you that Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest quality . . . the highest grade and greatest value . . . among all the oils we offer to average motorists.

It is always good sense to use good oil. But now it is plainly more important than ever. So be safe and saving. Ask for Phillips 66 Motor Oil when replacing winter-worn lubricant, or when making the recommended every-two-months oil change.

Capt. Joe Foss' Own Story

How America's mighty marine pilot outwitted the Japs while blasting 26 of their planes out of the air!

THE ex-farm boy who was "too old to fly" gives his own version of the fighting teamwork which won him honors as America's "Ace of Aces."

At 27, he was told he was too old to be a fighter pilot. At 28, he is America's Ace of Aces—the mighty marine of the air who has shot down more enemy planes than any other American pilot!

That's Captain Joe Foss, who came up the hard way from obscurity on a South Dakota farm to fame and honors as the most spectacular American fighting pilot produced by this war.

On Sunday he will start telling his own story in the Chicago Tribune—the first-person account of breathless action over Guadalcanal, where this mild-mannered youth, who rarely disagreed with any one, turned into a terrifying avenger of the air and nightmarish legend for the Japs.

Don't miss this air hero's own version of what it takes to meet a cunning enemy in the air and outwit him. It is a thrilling story of personal bravery and of team spirit co-operation of which every American will be proud.

Be sure to start Captain Joe Foss' own story, as told to Walter Simmons, starting in Sunday's

THEY TAKE 'EM UP! This is a Buick-built 14-cylinder Pratt & Whitney aircraft engine destined for use in a giant four-motor Liberator bomber. These engines are now coming regularly from Buick plants.

Just about two years ago now, Buick took its first step toward actual production of war goods when it broke ground on its big, new aircraft engine plant in Melrose Park, Ill.

How'd you like to take a trip today through Buick's many factories to measure the pulse of America's production as this hard-hitting outfit reveals it?

You might start by looking over the pay roll books, where you'd find double the number of men and women listed as at Buick's peacetime peak.

You might visit the great Flint forges where tough, rugged parts get their start—parade the long aisles where shining metal is cut and trimmed and polished to make the elements that go into an aircraft engine.

You might stand by the Melrose shipping platform and count for yourself the finished Pratt & Whitney aircraft engines that roll out each day from Buick.

You'd thrill to big presses that formerly stamped out car fenders, now busy making shell cases from steel instead of the critical brass once used exclusively.

There's a section where men toil with endless patience turning out traversing and elevating mechanisms for AA-guns that are so precise in fit and workmanship there is not the slightest "play" in any part.

There's a big plant, once used for shipping 300,000-plus Buick cars each year, that hums now with massive machines producing husky final drive units for tanks.

A brand-new aluminum foundry, most modern known, produces cylinder heads both for Buick and for others; there are automatic machines, converted from car production, that turn out high-explosive shell bodies quite literally by the million.

And right on the factory grounds there is even a complete and modern school which regularly graduates fresh classes of aircraft mechanics to keep battle aircraft flying at the front.

All told, there are thirty different jobs in work this moment at Buick. And all told there is only one job that urges, directs and inspires this whole pulsing, productive team.

That's the job of winning. Of doing all we on the home front can to back up—and live up to—the boys who do the fighting.

The word at Buick is "Victory is Our Business"—and there's no other job that matters—or will till Victory's won.

THEY'VE GOT PULL! Enough pull, in fact, to drag a 30-ton American tank out of the heaviest going. Buick builds these final drive units, which have to be both tough and exact, both rugged and precise.

STEEL, NOT BRASS, is the material used in these Buick-made shell cases. This conserves large quantities of precious brass for other vital uses.

WHEN AUTOMATIC CANNONS SPIT, shell bodies by the million are eeded. Buick is delivering millions—each one capable of a high-explosive sock as it hits.

THEY KNOCK 'EM DOWN! When an anti-aircraft gunner twirls his controls, there can be no slack or play of any sort. Buick builds super-precise traversing and elevating mechanisms for guns like this.

TAX PROSPECTS.

The senate is about to consider the tax bill reported to it by the majority of its finance committee. The measure closely approximates the original Ruml proposal. It forgives practically all of the 1942 personal income taxes, making an exception only of incomes which in 1942 were notably larger than in previous years. A bill of this sort was defeated by the narrow majority of 206 to 202 in the house a week ago and it comes to the senate with a majority of 13 to 8 in the finance committee.

In this bill, as in the one which passed the house, are provisions for a checkoff, beginning July 1. Everybody in congress, whether for or against the Ruml plan, seems to be agreed that this provision is needed if wholesale delinquencies are to be avoided.

There isn't any time to waste. If the checkoff is to be instituted on July 1, there must be prompt agreement. It can be had if the administration is willing to accede to the view of the Rumlites. They would have had a majority in the house save for strong pressure exerted on congressmen by the administration, and they appear to have greater strength in the senate. The alternative to acceptance of the Ruml plan may well be a prolonged dispute which will prevent the adoption of the checkoff on which every one is agreed.

This newspaper has never been persuaded that the Ruml plan is the boon that its supporters have proclaimed it to be. In view of the growing spread between government income and outlay and the consequent threat of a runaway inflation, we have doubted the value of forgiving anybody his tax obligations. Still, the alternatives which have been under consideration have been at least as bad or worse. The Doughton bill, which had the treasury's blessing, was in reality the most drastic legislation to destroy the middle classes that ever has come before congress, and at the same time would have forgiven taxes due from the very people whose incomes have increased most rapidly since the war and from whom the danger of inflation is therefore greatest. The Robertson-Forand compromise contained the same faults, but in less aggravated form.

In these circumstances we believe it may be well to accept the Ruml plan now in order to get the checkoff started. To that extent the tax prospect will be clarified, even tho the question of tax increases will remain to be settled.

THE GUARDS WERE READY.

When the Touhy gang escaped because of defects in the prison staff that he had inherited from the previous administration, Gov. Green undertook a reorganization of the staff. The new administration was put to a test not long ago when 19 desperate convicts attempted to break out at Joliet. They had no difficulty in assaulting and overpowering the inside guards who, in accordance with practice in all penitentiaries, were unarmed, but when they reached the walls the tower guards were waiting for them with ready rifles and there was nothing for the convicts to do but surrender. Citizens thruout the state will breathe easier at the knowledge that our prison authorities are alert and capable of handling the dangerous charges committed to their custody.

The attempted break makes clear a fact which is occasionally forgotten. This is that men in prison are desperate characters, many of them murderers, who are quite willing to take more lives to regain their liberty. The convicted killers who led the attempted break on Tuesday did not hesitate at assaults on four guards, one of whom was critically injured.

Prison and Will county authorities will take the necessary measures to impose additional punishment on the convicts, but the incident demonstrates anew that a good prison administrator, while he must be fair, must also be strict and alert. Convicts in the old Joliet prison are not very satisfactory prospects for social rehabilitation. If they were they wouldn't be there.

AMERICANS IN ASIA.

William Phillips, the special Presidential envoy to India, has completed whatever was his mission there and departed for home. What he was expected to accomplish is not quite clear and what his relations were to the British government in India is even less so. The Indian government under Linlithgow appears to have regarded him in some part as merely an inquiring reporter. He apparently sought information from various quarters and interviewed many representative people, both English and Indian, but when he wanted to talk to the two outstanding Hindus, Gandhi and Nehru, he was told that it would be impossible to give him the facilities for an interview.

Gandhi and Nehru were both in custody without trial. It is not a new experience for either. Nehru has probably spent more of his adult life in jail on various arrests for nonviolent acts than even Gandhi. Gandhi is not held wholly incommunicado. Mr. Phillips was able to talk to people who had talked to him, but he wasn't allowed to see either of the leaders. One Englishman of position said that Mr. Phillips would indeed be an optimist if he expected to see them.

Mr. Phillips' status in India as a special Presidential envoy was loosely defined. As such a person he might be supposed to be representing Mr. Roosevelt on an official mission, sent to India to report facts and findings to the White House. It might be presumed that the British government had been asked if this were at all objectionable and had said that it was not. It would seem improbable that a special Presidential envoy to India was an unofficial person seeking to pick up what he could. Yet the refusal of the Indian government to permit him to see the chief characters in India's movement for freedom would indicate that he carried with him no prestige, was entitled to no particular consideration, and could be denied facilities necessary to a complete understanding of Indian problems. The Indian government's attitude would reveal that his presence was resented rather than welcomed.

We might gather from this that our interest in India as a problem relating to the war and the subsequent peace is in the nature of an impertinence, that the problem is a domestic affair of the British, and that our participation in it is undesired. That may be something more than a hint and it may be worth taking to avoid future difficulties. We may have been led into a false position by our own governmental pronouncements. Our talk about the freedoms has aroused a great many expectations thruout the world, and most of these expectations seem to be doomed to serious disappointment.

A DECISION THAT SMELLS.

A Philadelphia jury on Jan. 29 awarded $50,000 as damages to Reporter John O'Donnell of the New York Daily News for libel committed against him by the New Deal Philadelphia Record in a smear campaign that originated in the White House. This verdict has just been set aside and a new trial ordered by the three judges of the common pleas court division in which the case was tried. Their decision is a disgrace alike to the bench and to the newspaper whose interests they are serving.

O'Donnell is the head of the Washington bureau of the New York News. His opposition to this nation's intervention in the European war before Pearl Harbor earned him the hatred of the New Dealers and their camp followers, and his case against the Record, pending now for two years, illustrates the malignant extremes to which these people will go to interfere with justice when one of their favorites is concerned.

In April, 1941, O'Donnell wrote a story saying that charges would be made in the United States senate that American warships were convoying lend-lease materials to Great Britain. Those charges were made in the senate two days later by Sen. Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire, but meanwhile Stephen Early, White House press secretary, had charged that O'Donnell's story was "a deliberate lie." The Record, picking up that phrase as the title of an editorial, charged O'Donnell with being a lover of Nazis and made other libelous remarks about him. Later J. David Stern, publisher of the newspaper, admitted that he wrote the editorial himself.

O'Donnell sued for libel and during the first trial of the case the Record printed a story in which it named the amount of damages he was seeking, which, under the rules of Pennsylvania courts, is held to be prejudicial to the plaintiff in a suit. Altho counsel for O'Donnell, the plaintiff, informed the court that they would not take advantage of this technicality, attorneys for the Record, which had committed the offense, were allowed by the trial judge to turn it to their own advantage. He granted a mistrial on their plea.

Before the second trial the White House secretariat was actively engaged in gathering witnesses for Stern. Early not only gave a deposition but went to Philadelphia to testify, and other New Deal propagandists were brought from all parts of the country to testify for the defense. At the same time, pressure was exerted to prevent O'Donnell's witnesses from testifying. He reported that one of his witnesses regretfully informed him that the White House had "put the heat" on his employer, with the result that it was suggested to this man that he stay away from Philadelphia.

On the eve of the second trial, Stern paid a visit to President Roosevelt at the White House. A few days later, at a press conference, the President astonished the newspaper men gathered there by handing to a radio commentator a Nazi cross, which he requested be given to O'Donnell. The announced reason for this insult was a letter which O'Donnell had printed in his Washington column, written by Jack Turcott, a New York Daily News war correspondent in Australia. In the letter, which was obviously a personal and friendly passage between newspaper men, Turcott jokingly accused George Durno, a former White House correspondent who is now a captain in the army air forces, with having drunk all his scotch, and in a postscript Durno countered with the charge that Turcott was irked because his gentleman's gentleman had failed to draw his morning bath at the proper temperature.

There was no doubt in the minds of observers that the President's real purpose was to use his high office to slander O'Donnell as a Nazi in order to aid Stern in the defense against O'Donnell's suit. In the trial of the case, counsel for Stern sought to persuade the jury that the President was personally interested in a victory for Stern.

The judge before whom the case was tried a second time was Joseph Sloane, a Democrat who had been supported by Stern for the bench. He did his best to narrow the grounds on which O'Donnell sought damages and at the same time gave the Record much leeway in using hearsay conversations to try to prove its case. Altho in instructions to the jury the judge discarded nearly every one proffered by O'Donnell's attorneys and adopted virtually in their entirety those proffered by the defense, the jury had no difficulty in reaching a quick verdict and awarding damages.

Under Pennsylvania law the trial judge sat as one of the three members of his division in ruling on the Record's plea for a new trial. The presiding judge of this division is L. Stauffer Oliver, another Democrat for whom Stern, the publisher of the Record, was active in obtaining his seat on the bench when it was created under George H. Earle, the New Deal governor of Pennsylvania, in 1937. The third judge in the division was also a Democrat, altho among the 21 judges of the common pleas court only 7 are members of that party.

Thus, in granting the new trial, Judge Sloane, a beneficiary of Stern's favors, found himself guilty of committing errors in the conduct of the trial and was sustained in this finding by Oliver, another man politically indebted to the defendant. Whatever views the third judge may have had were obviously immaterial, since the two men named constituted the majority.

This is the kind of justice the people of America may expect if the New Deal ever succeeds in reducing the courts to executive dictation. Fortunately, there are few such courts today and, fortunately for the good name of American newspapers, there are few newspapers that would stoop to using their influence to subvert justice for their own benefit as the Record has done.

Called in, in an emergency, a Hollywood songwriter dashed off a production number in 35 minutes, believed to be a record, even when done from memory.—New Haven [Conn.] Register.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

CHICAGO'S SHARE IN TEXAS.

See a curious entry in "Who Was Who in America":

"Farwell, Charles Benjamin, merchant, senator . . . joined his brother in firm of John V. Farwell & Co., wholesale dry goods. . . . With his brother built, 1887, the Texas state capitol, receiving 3,000,000 acres of land therefor. . . . Mem. congress, 1871-'76 and 1881-'87; U. S. senator, 1887-'91."

The eyes of Chicago were apparently upon Texas in that era, and the swap of a capitol building for a principality in the Panhandle sounded like good real estate business.

The Texas legislature approved the construction of a capitol by land grant financing in 1876 and advertised to this effect. After the sealed construction bids were compared, the contract was awarded to Matthew Schnell of Rock Island, Ill., in 1882. This contractor promptly assigned his complete interest to Abner Taylor, Amos C. Babcock, John V. Farwell, and Charles B. Farwell of Chicago, who formed the firm of Taylor, Babcock & Co.

A little later Taylor, Babcock & Co. tossed the entire matter into the hands of Abner Taylor. These corporate manipulations do not seem to have affected the underlying Farwell interest, for in his self-prepared biography for "Who's Who," quoted above, Senator Farwell claimed full credit for the building enterprise, in association with his brother.

The construction was delayed by the governor's yearning for Texas granite. Texas had granite outcroppings but no quarries, so the governor opened a quarry by "state labor." Lonsdale Green, veteran Chicago architect and builder, quotes a letter from his brother on this granite:

"I have never seen a big building all brown. It strikes me as very odd. The stone appeared to be wonderfully hard, showing no signs of weathering."

Whenever the eyes of Texas rest in pride upon the brownstone capitol at Austin the citizens can remark: "They shore do things in a big way up no'th in Chicago." They should worry whether the Farwell speculation in Panhandle grazing lands paid off or not. To answer that question, a staff of certified public accountants and Probate court experts will be required.

MINOR TRAGEDY.

out, O, out, you damnéd spot
before I lose my mind you are the thing I've always sought and hoped I'd never find

please disappear some place, somehow
I'm much too young for you my brow's unwrinkled and serene
I'm only thirty-two!

I've kept my figure trim and slim
my legs still draw a glance
I'm full of pep and joie de vivre
I swim, I ski, I dance and yet you slyly come to view

I find you always there reminder of a youth that's gone
O, wretched first gray hair!

Bird Housing Problem.

Judy and I spent three man-child hours building a birdhouse too large for a humming bird and too small for the average eagle, but about right for one of the in-between-sized birds which frequent suburban hedges. We painted it blue and hung it, a month ago, on the east side of an oak. One day a brown bird with a yellow bill stopped on its front porch and looked inside. Another day an inquisitive gray bird perched on its roof. Neither stayed. No other birds have considered it for a dwelling.

Judy thinks they object to our having painted it exactly the same color as our pantry. She assumes that birds, like people, have to be just a little different, tho not too different, from their neighbors. As a student of ornithology, I think our mistake lay in sawing out a square door instead of borrowing the Magruders' auger and boring out a round one. Audubon lists no square-shaped birds in this climate, and no wren or finch wants to be a round bird in a square hole. Probably we shall have to repaint our pantry and buy an auger. Tumbleweed.

CHERRY BLOSSOMS.

O, winds of spring, be gentle,
These blossoms die so soon!
The petals falling, falling,
Are snow beneath the moon.

The spell that comes with winter
Long holds its barren thrall;
Why must the spring's first blossoms
So quickly fade and fall?

Our hearts know well the sorrow
Of the long dark night of grief;
Why must the hopes that flower
Be so brief, so bitter brief?

Alphabet Avenues in Chicago.

Linemaster: You certainly did stick your neck out [May 7] by telling the world "Nothing like this R street business can happen in Chicago because we have no alphabet streets."

The Indiana-Illinois state line, from Lake Michigan to the city limits, is divided as a thorofare by the two states, known as Stateline avenue on the Indiana side and Avenue A on the Illinois side. From there the Chicago streets run consecutively, B, C, D, E, F, G, H [I was omitted because it is often written like J], [K was renamed Ewing], L, M, N, and O.

Of course, technically you are still correct. All these thorofares are avenues and not streets, but your article tended to give the impression that we had no alphabet thorofares in Chicago.

A SEMI-TROPICAL MALADY.

A NUMBER of inquiries have come from parents of soldiers concerning bacillary dysentery. In semi-tropical regions particularly and in some localities within our own borders, reports of outbreaks have been received. The disease has a habit of becoming fastened upon communities, and, in a few districts, it may exist the year round. With the exception of syphilis, no ailment can mimic so many disorders.

The malady is important because it is so weakening. In fact, unless managed with skill and dispatch, it may take life. The focus of infection is probably within the digestive tract, where it may be responsible for damage to the heart, impairment of the circulation, or bad behavior on the part of the colon. The trouble may become acute, then quiet down, later breaking forth with renewed violence.

Sometimes abdominal pain will persist over a long interval—a year or more. Thus it appears that the condition can settle down into a semi-chronic stage. The body is unable to manufacture antitoxin to destroy completely the causative microbe. After 15 months of suffering and ill health, the germs were found in the discharges of a 46 year old man.

There seems to be no question but that these bacteria can render the victim sensitive to their presence and considerable adroitness may be required to associate various allergic manifestations with a bout of diarrhea that occurred a year or two ago. In such cases, stool examinations will frequently disclose the culprit.

Fortunately, when convalescence comes quickly, the individual may be immune to subsequent attacks. This had led to the perfection of vaccines which are now available. Furthermore, serum from recovered patients is being preserved so that it may be employed as needed.

Here again sulfaguanidine has proved its value. In a small detachment of troops sent to Puerto Rico, 34 of 97 became infected. Large doses of the drug were given three times daily for three days. Those who still showed the "bug" received the benefit of a second course. During the succeeding six months no more positive carriers were observed, and hospital admissions because of diarrhea ceased.

Scarcely any difficulty can incapacitate an army quite so thoroly. This is unquestionably the disease which decimated the contending forces of the world for several centuries. Sick soldiers cannot be depended upon to launch a vigorous attack. Neither will they be able to resist effectively.

Our boys have been taught how to safeguard drinking water and food because the germ enters the circulation by way of the intestinal tract. Chemically treated or boiled water is safe as are well cooked and tinned products. During the Spanish-American war our service men learned how to avoid Asiatic cholera in the Philippines by shunning native edibles. The sons and grandsons of the veterans of '98 can apply the same principles in dysentery-infested areas.

SORE HEEL.

Mrs. D. L. writes: My 11 year old son's heel gives him so much pain that at the end of the day he can hardly walk. What causes this condition?

REPLY.

A number of factors should be thought of: stone bruises, chilblains, shortening or irritation of the Achilles tendon, some defect of the arch, bursitis, blisters, or infection within the bone.

EYE DISTURBANCE.

E. E. R. writes: What does a broken blood vessel in the eye indicate?

REPLY.

Degeneration of the walls of the conduit [arteriosclerosis], high blood pressure, etc.

EXTRA BEAT.

Mrs. V. C. writes: What is the cause of extra systoles of the heart?

REPLY.

Points of sensitivity or irritation appear within the heart muscle. These pull the trigger and oblige the lower chambers to contract out of turn.

FOR ACUTE MENTAL ILLNESS.

Chicago, April 28.—I have read with keen interest Dr. Cutter's column in The Tribune of April 27, entitled "Rehabilitation of the Dipsomaniac." We in the state service recognize the problem of alcoholism as one of the acute problems to be dealt with. We are practically all agreed that it is not the problem of the neuropsychiatrist alone, but of the physiologist, chemist, internist, social worker, psychologist, and other disciplines as well.

In the Cook county area, if an individual has tuberculosis, the city affords him attention and treatment in a highly specialized hospital; if people are physically ill they are taken care of in a general hospital. We are in crying need of a hospital for acute mental illnesses where these conditions can be studied and treated energetically.

I have proposed for post-war planning in the state that an institution be erected on the grounds of the medical center on the west side in Chicago to house individuals suffering from acute mental illness, including drug addiction and alcoholism. Many of these individuals are a great economic problem to the state, from their own standpoint and that of their families, and if some of them can be cured a burden will be removed from the taxpayers of the state.

People in the low income bracket, or without funds, cannot go to a general hospital, and private sanitariums are expensive. Where can the large bulk of individuals addicted to the use of alcohol go for intensive medical treatment?

MINERS HOLD THE SACK.

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—I quite agree with your correspondents, S. M. Ward of Benton, Ill., who says the miners are reaping the penalty of the failure of John L. Lewis to support the third term, and will not receive fair treatment and settlement of the just complaint on an equitable basis.

I hold no brief for Lewis [I well remember his war on one group of coal miners in Illinois years ago], but he had his way in the White House as long as he supplied the money for Roosevelt's campaigns and swung his support at election time.

Well, he is the same John L. Lewis. He hasn't exchanged his halo for horns, but the President is taking out his personal revenge on the miners.

GOOD APPOINTMENT.

Chicago, May 6.—Gov. Green's recent nonpolitical appointment of Paul D. Angell to the state planning commission reflects most favorably on our governor.

Mr. Angell's understanding of the manifold problems concerning post-war planning and slum clearance is best exemplified by his numerous magazine articles and talks on the subject, all of which shows careful study and understanding of both the practical and legal aspects of the subject matter. The people of Illinois will profit by Mr. Angell's acceptance of the position.

FEDERAL VACATIONS AND SICK LEAVE.

Downers Grove, Ill., May 5.—I would like to answer "A Bond Buyer" in this morning's Tribune. I am a civil service employé, and there are a myriad things in government work of which I do not approve, but I do like to have people learn the truth about matters before they try to get them into the newspapers.

Government employés are ordinarily given 26 days of annual leave and 15 days of sick leave per year. During the war, however, they have been requested to use no more than 18 days of their annual leave, with only one six day period, the remainder to be taken in periods of three days or less. Add that to the fact that they are now working six full days a week, and that during 1942 the only legal holiday recognized was Christmas and you will see that they were on the job just as much as any employé in private industry, with a two week annual vacation, five holidays, and an occasional day off for this or that, and in most instances a regular half holiday every week.

Also, if the sick leave is not used, it is lost at the termination of employment, and at no time can it exceed 90 days. Annual time on the other hand accumulates and is paid for at the termination of employment if not used.

ALSO A BOND BUYER.

Chicago, May 5.—Our sick leave amounts to 15 days per year. If we use over two days at a time on this sick leave we have to produce a doctor's certificate proving we were really ill.

CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYE.

Chicago, May 6.—Since "A Bond Buyer" has become statistically energetic on man power in war time, our remarks will be confined to conditions since Pearl Harbor, covering government employés generally and war department employés particularly. Since December 7, 1941, we have had two holidays, Christmas of 1941 and 1942. The remaining holidays, excepting Jan. 1, 1941, we worked without pay. During the calendar year 1942, we were allowed five consecutive days of annual leave, providing such leave did not interfere with the war effort. In addition, five days of annual leave were allowed, taken not more than one day at a time. Sick leave was allowed according to the particular case. In hundreds of cases in Chicago government employés worked a 48 hour week without pay for the extra eight hours. This latter condition has been rectified. During 1942 the 700 government employés in the office of this writer averaged working 300 days, taking time off for Sundays, one holiday, and an average per person of nine annual leave and three sick leave days. Bonds were bought without fanfare and flag waving.

A REGULATION BROKEN.

Omaha, Neb., May 4.—In the April issue of Inspection News, a company organ published by the Retail Credit company of Atlanta, Ga., the secretary of the founder of the company refers to the founder having received a telegraphic birthday greeting on Feb. 7, 1943, from President Roosevelt. The founder was celebrating his 74th anniversary.

A few days prior to Feb. 7, 1943, one of the telegraph companies refused to send for me a telegram of congratulation and encouragement to my daughter who had just given birth to a son. Reason given, "It is against government regulations to send congratulatory messages."

What is the unknown balancing item that temporarily suspended "government regulations" in the one event and not in the other. "Didja ever notice" that regimenters regiment every one but themselves?

THE BAR AGAINST ASIATICS.

Chicago, May 3.—I am submitting a $64 question for the public to answer.

Why is it that altho we are nationals of the United States we Filipinos in America, 65,000 strong, are not allowed to seek citizenship, yet peoples from Europe and Spanish-America are entitled to that right?

We have been under the Stars and Stripes for over 40 years, and years have proven that we are industrious, loyal, and peaceful, and yet such citizenship right has been denied us all these years.

Test Your Horse Sense By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 42.

1. Which one of these fruits normally has the least acid content?
   Pears Plums Apples Oranges.
2. The hair of which of these creatures is most popular for shaving brushes? Hog Badger Seal Horse.
3. The chief constituent of lampblack is which of these?
   Lead Salt Acid Carbon.
4. A bombardier should be associated with which one of these airplanes? Spitfire B-18 Glider Airacobra.
5. Which one of these types of soil will raise the least crop?
   Clay Alkali Muck Sandy loam.
6. In this vocabulary test, you are to match the words in the left hand column below with the things to which they most logically refer. You are entitled to one point for each correct judgment.

[a] Turnkey	[v] Machine shop
[b] Turntable	[w] Treachery
[c] Turnstile	[x] Locomotive
[d] Turncoat	[y] Subway station
[e] Turnbuckle	[z] Prison

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

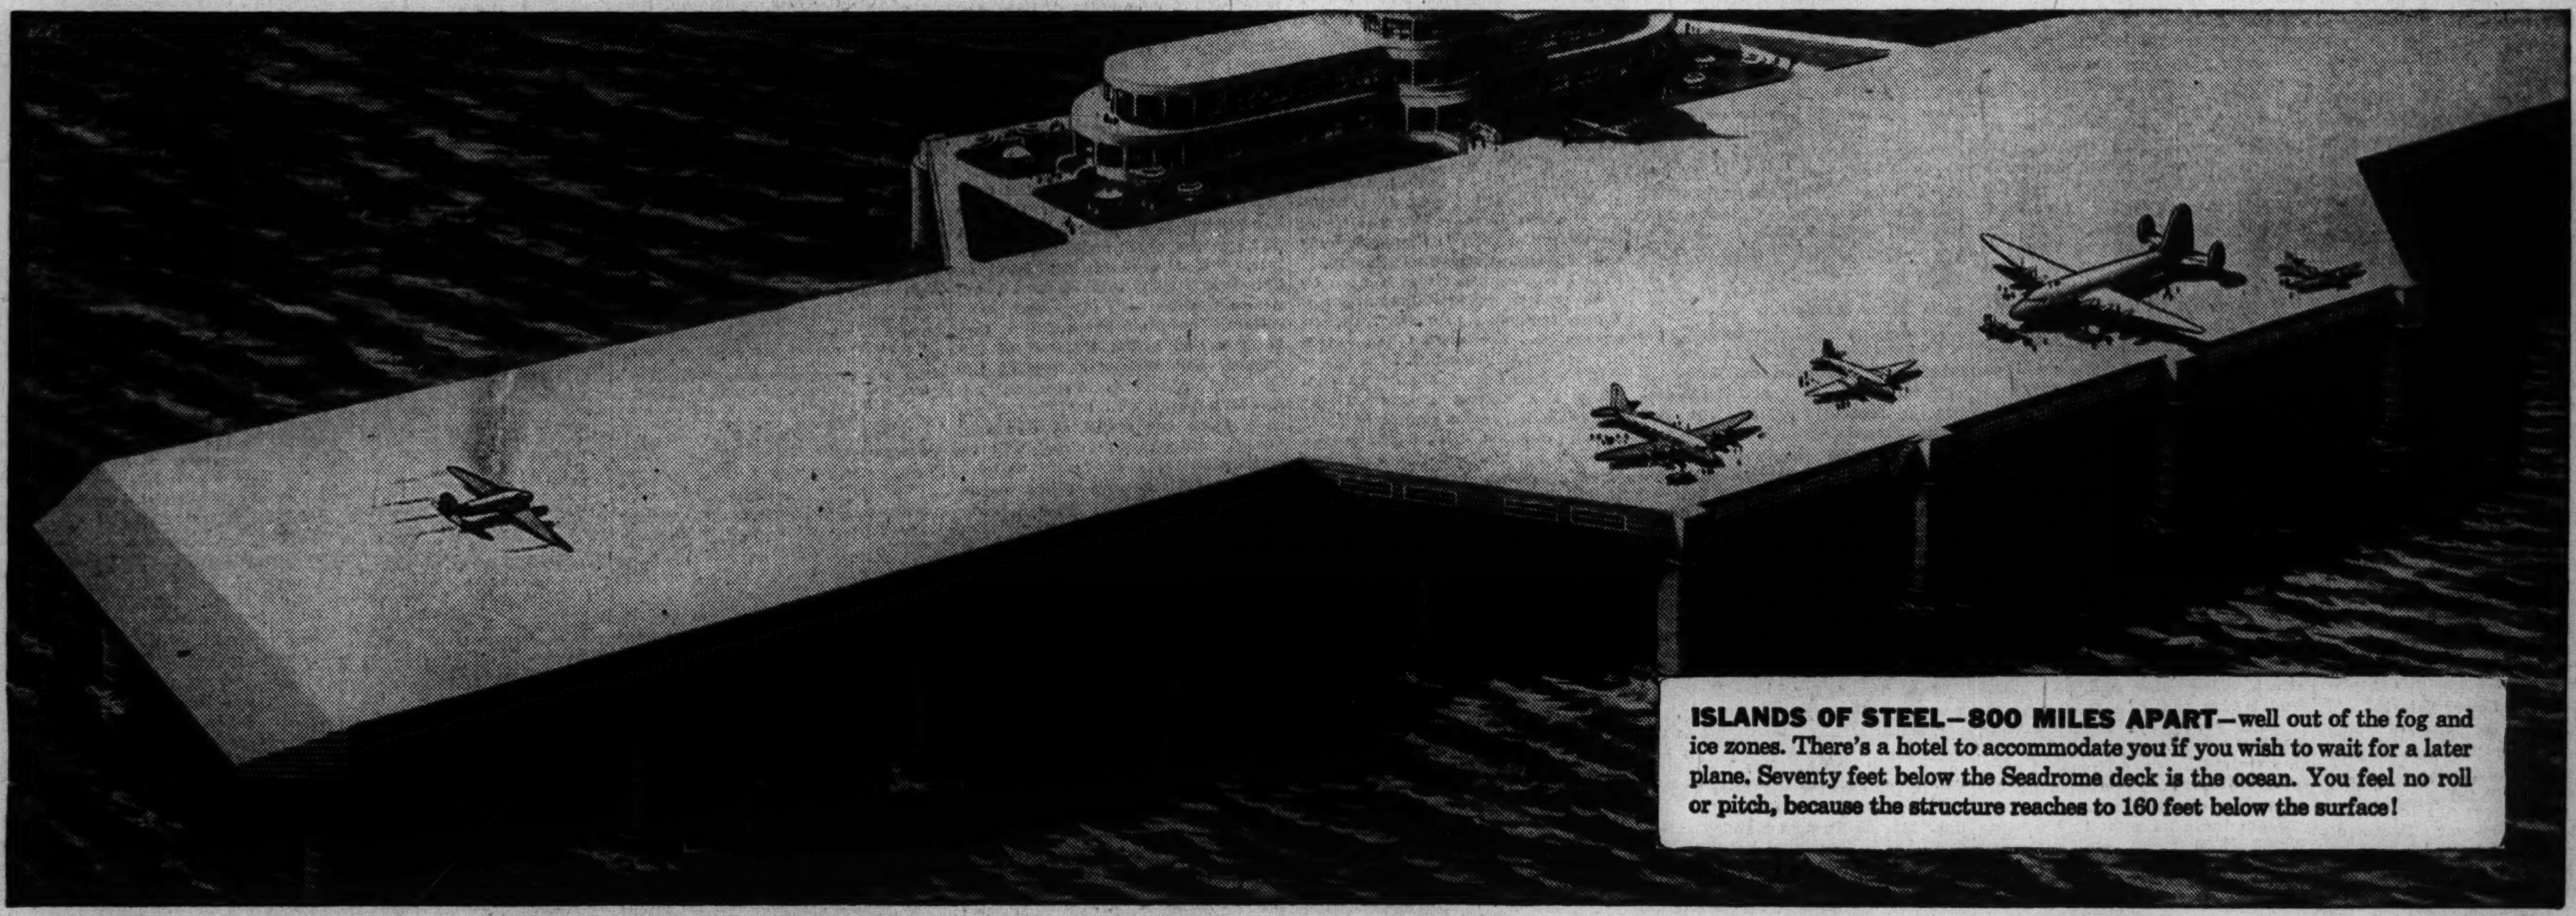
Pennsylvania-Central Airlines projects SEADROME ROUTE TO EUROPE



ISLANDS OF STEEL—800 MILES APART—well out of the fog and ice zones. There's a hotel to accommodate you if you wish to wait for a later plane. Seventy feet below the Seadrome deck is the ocean. You feel no roll or pitch, because the structure reaches to 160 feet below the surface!

New Air Bases for America! The practical answer to transatlantic flying . . . stepping stones of steel to be built with private capital. Open to all Companies . . . all Nations.

☆ ☆ ☆ ☆

PCA files application with Civil Aeronautics Board

Here's one "post-war plan" that's right down to earth—and as practical as a piece of steel! Here's one dream that's ready and workable right now! And it may be the biggest bit of aviation news since the Wright Brothers' flight in 1903.

Think what this new Seadrome route means!

To America it means new island bases in the Atlantic . . . a strengthening of Uncle Sam's commercial arm . . . another step toward keeping America in the forefront of world affairs.

Floating Airfields

These new "American Air Bases" are Seadromes, invented by Edward R. Armstrong, world-famed construction engineer. Floating steel islands, spaced at 800-mile intervals, they will stand 70 feet above the waves. Their draft of 160 feet will keep them as steady as the mainland itself.

Are they practical? America's outstanding engineers say "yes." Aviation experts concur. And the American Bureau of Shipping rates the Seadrome structure *A-1, the highest rating possible.

THE SEADROME ROUTE connecting East Coast cities with Great Britain . . . as proposed by Pennsylvania-Central Airlines, one of America's pioneer airlines—now in its 17th year of operation.

Seadrome Makes Ocean Flying Routine

The Seadrome project is revolutionary—making possible transoceanic flights with as much safety and dependability as any routine trip between New York and Chicago.

The short 800-mile "hops" between Seadromes means vastly increased weight-carrying capacity . . . providing for the first time transoceanic travel at a moderate cost. Today's airplanes can easily fly this Route of Tomorrow. Tomorrow's airplanes will have even greater efficiency because of it.

The war has stimulated a courageous type of thinking. The Seadrome project is a product of such thinking. It is proof that America can fight and win a war—and at the same time produce ideas that help guarantee continued progress and prosperity.

INDUSTRY TILLS COLLEGE FIELDS TO HIRE GRADS

50 to 100 Jobs Awaiting Every Student.

Every man or woman graduated from college this year will have the choice of from 50 to 100 jobs, it was indicated yesterday by a survey of placement opportunities for senior students in large Illinois colleges and universities. Salaries offered will be larger and many firms will provide additional training on the job or offer scholarships in special training schools.

The demands of war industries and the fact that every male student not deferred for technological or physical reasons is liable for military service have curtailed sharply the supply of young people for jobs of any sort. Increase in the number of jobs open to women in business and industry will relieve only partly the shortage of man power in the younger age bracket, in the opinion of college placement directors.

Firms Haunt Campuses.

Many college campuses are being visited daily by representatives of large firms thruout the country seeking help of any kind.

Industries and business houses not engaged in war work will have to depend almost exclusively for women to fill the jobs that are open, the survey indicated.

Engineers are scarcer than last year, said John J. Schommer, director of placement at the Illinois Institute of Technology. "We have requests from three war plants alone for a total of 3,380 engineering graduates," he said. "We have 100 jobs for every one of our 76 senior engineering students and every one of our 13,500 alumni has a job."

Women Grads in Demand.

The University of Chicago, Northwestern university and the University of Illinois at Urbana reported unprecedented demands for women graduates, with exceptional opportunities for special training while working. Most requests come from war industries, and scant interest is shown by students in other types of jobs, unless unusual opportunities are offered by firms not engaged in manufacturing war materials.

At the University of Illinois, all engineering and chemistry students have been placed in jobs. University officials reported that the average salaries are 50 per cent higher than a year ago.

Some Take Lower Salaries.

Northwestern students are accepting positions with large salaries with a realistic attitude, said Morris Rogers, placement counselor. "They know their services are in demand now, but that post-war adjustments will be necessary," Rogers said.

Mrs. Marguret Lund, placement counselor for women at the University of Chicago, reported that many women graduates had deliberately accepted offers with small salaries because of the opportunities for national or community services offered.

At De Paul university, women seniors are being offered jobs in business at salaries 50 per cent higher than a year ago, because of the competition of federal civil service, it was said.

DOCTOR TO BUY MIKE CARROZZO FARM FOR $150,000

Arrangements were completed yesterday for the sale of Superior farms, the 1,200 acre estate owned by the late Michael Carrozzo, Chicago union boss, in LaPorte county, Indiana, for $150,000. The purchasers are Dr. Walter M. Behn and his wife, Frieda, of 652 McKinley street, Gary. Dr. Behn is a former Gary health commissioner.

Judge Robert S. Baker of Superior court of LaPorte county approved yesterday the sale of the personal property on the farms, including trucks, machinery, and 50 head of pure bred dairy cattle, to Dr. Behn and his wife by Mrs. Julie Carrozzo, widow of the union boss and administratrix of his estate. Sale of the real estate for $120,000 is expected to be completed tomorrow.

Carrozzo died without leaving a will and his property, under Indiana law, is to be divided equally by his widow and two children, Michael, 14, and Carole, 11. Judge Baker also approved a settlement for $20,000 of a $45,000 claim for legal fees against the estate, submitted by the Chicago firm of Gottlieb & Schwartz.

ASK QUARANTINE OF LAKE COUNTY AGAINST RABIES

The Lake county board of supervisors, headed by Joseph P. Welch of Barrington, yesterday adopted a resolution asking the Illinois department of agriculture to place all of Lake county under quarantine for rabies. Barrington and Cuba townships are already under quarantine.

Five Barrington children are now under treatment for the disease. Two were bitten by gophers, two by cats, and one by a dog. Quarantine would require all dogs to be penned or leashed on penalty of extermination.

The supervisor said packs of 8 to 10 dogs are roaming the rural districts.

Persons who may have touched the dog owned by S. Feinberg, 3040 Eastwood avenue, were warned yesterday by Dr. A. G. Misener, veterinarian at 6448 North Clark street, that tests for rabies by the city health department were found positive. The dog had been tied up in the yard and on Thursday was taken to the veterinarian, who observed it until Saturday when it died.

GIRL ACCUSES DEFENDANT AT HAMMER TRIAL

Suspect Offers Alibi Supported by Wife.

Dorothy Fendrich, 14 year old freshman of the Sabin branch of Tuley High school, positively identified Eugene A. Schmittling, 24, married factory worker, before a jury yesterday in Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro's Criminal court as the man who forced his way into her home at 1814 North Francisco avenue at 2:45 p. m. on April 26 and threatened her with a knife.

Schmittling, who was acquitted last year of attempted rape and recently was arrested suspected of being the hammer and knife attacker of 10 women and girls, took the stand in his own defense and offered an alibi. The trial is expected to be completed today.

Tells Story of Intrusion.

Dorothy testified that she opened the door of her home, where she was alone, in response to Schmittling's knock, and that he thrust his foot into the opening and pushed his way in. He asked to see a telephone book "and made me look up a name for him," she testified.

Altho she told him to get out, the man asked for water, she continued, and he went to the kitchen.

He returned with a butcher knife, telling her he wanted money and when she attempted to pick up the telephone to call police, she testified, he threatened to kill her.

"He was backing me toward the bedroom and then I screamed," Dorothy told the jury.

Assailant Throws Knife.

Her annoyer then fled for the door. He threw the knife at her, but it missed her.

Schmittling, his wife, Sylvia, who now lives with a brother at 1443 Congress street, and their landlady, Mrs. Bonnie Massaid, 19, of 322 North Kedzie avenue, testified in support of the alibi.

On April 26, the day of the knife attack, Schmittling said, he worked from 7 a. m. to 9:30 a. m. at a novelty factory near the Kedzie avenue address. Then, he testified, he went to a United State employment service office in connection with his occupational classification.

From there he went to his home about 12:30 p. m. and remained there all afternoon assisting his wife as she did the family laundering in the basement.

Mrs. Schmittling testified that her husband remained at home during the afternoon. Mrs. Massaid said she heard Schmittling go up and down the basement stairs several times, altho she did not see him.

R.O.T.C. AND ARMY PAY TRIBUTE TO FALLEN SOLDIER

Two hundred members of the Marshall High school R. O. T. C. joined high ranking army officers yesterday to pay tribute to the memory of 2d Lt. Leonard W. Ochs, son of Mrs. Rose Ochs, 3170 Monroe street, who was killed on Guadalcanal last Dec. 27 after performing a heroic mission.

The occasion was the posthumous award of a silver star for heroism to Lt. Ochs in a ceremony in the 132d Infantry armory, 2600 Madison street. His mother accepted the award from Col. George C. Hollingsworth, who represented Maj. Gen. H. S. Aurand, commanding the 6th service command.

Lt. Ochs, who was graduated in 1936 from Crane Technical High school, was cited for advancing 100 yards into enemy territory to locate fortifications. Until he fell mortally wounded, Lt. Ochs directed mortar fire that silenced a heavily constructed Japanese pillbox.

REPORT ZILLER INDICTED AGAIN ON JOB CHARGE

Bloomington, Ill., May 11 [Special].—The McLean county grand jury was reported today to have voted to reindict George W. Ziller, Democratic political promoter and union representative, on a charge of operating a confidence game in the alleged sale of jobs at government ordnance plants in Illinois.

Ziller, who weighs 538 pounds and maintains residences at Springfield and in Weston, was first indicted in July, 1942, on five charges of confidence game and conspiracy to collect fraudulent fees from men who obtained construction jobs at ordnance plans near Joliet in 1940. These indictments were quashed.

COAL RATIONING IS PREDICTED IF U. S. RUNS MINES

Chicago coal retailers, attending the annual meeting of the Chicago Coal Merchants association last night in the Morrison hotel, heard the prediction that nation-wide coal rationing will be instituted by mid-June if the government keeps control of the coal mines in the current wage dispute of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

The prediction came from Andrew T. Murphy, editor of The Black Diamond, national trade magazine of the coal industry, who said he had been an observer at conferences in New York and Washington between Lewis and mine operators.

OBITUARIES

Charles Fahlstrom.

Funeral services for Charles Fahlstrom, assistant to the president of the American Manganese Steel company, Chicago Heights, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the First Presbyterian church of that suburb. Mr. Fahlstrom died Monday at the age of 56 in Rochester, Minn. He was born near Moline and came to Chicago as a young man, starting his career in the accounting department of THE TRIBUNE. Since 1910 he had been associated with the steel company. He also was formerly vice president of the Citizens National Bank of Chicago Heights. His home was on Travers lane, Flossmoor. His widow, Clara, survives.

Charles F. M. Tingling.

Charles F. M. Tingling, 84 years old, former executive of the Illinois Central railroad, died yesterday in his home at 104 Scottswood road, Riverside. As a youth, Mr. Tingling was employed by the Northern Pacific railroad and helped in the extension of its rails to the Pacific coast. Later he became associated with the Illinois Central railroad, retiring in 1936 as supervisor of demurrage and storage. He is survived by his widow, Mary, two sons, and two daughters. Private services will be held at 2 tomorrow in the chapel at 44 Burlington road, Riverside.

John Julius Dobbertin.

Funeral services for John Julius Dobbertin, 65 years old, formerly of Oak Park, a retired marine corps veteran of 22 years' service including the first World war, who died Monday in Edward Hines Jr. Veterans' hospital, will be held tomorrow in the chapel at 2d avenue and Lake street, Maywood. He enlisted in the marines in 1903 and retired in 1925 after service in Cuba, the Philippines, the Dominican Republic, and elsewhere. In France he was attached to the 5th regiment of marines. Surviving are his widow, now residing in Bangor, Mich., and a son.

James E. White.

Masonic rites for James E. White, a veteran Chicago Negro lawyer, will be held at 11 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 3515 Indiana avenue, and the funeral will be at 11 a. m. Monday in the Greater Bethesda Baptist church, 53d street and Michigan avenue. Mr. White died Monday at the age of 81 in Provident hospital. His home was at 3630 Vernon avenue. He was the oldest Chicago alumnus of Howard university, Washington, D. C., and was a trustee of the Greater Bethesda church.

John F. Glaser.

Funeral services for John F. Glaser, 62 years old, 1528 Morse avenue, who died of a heart ailment Monday in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue. He was an expert in the tool and die field and was superintendent of the Norlipp company. His widow, Lillian, survives.

John Kelley.

John Kelley, 83 years old, retired Joliet merchant, died yesterday in St. Joseph's hospital, Joliet. Mr. Kelley, whose residence was at 423 Buell avenue, Joliet, is survived by a son and two daughters. Services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 111 North Broadway, Joliet.

ALIBI OFFERED WOMAN QUIZZED IN DEATH OF BOY

Friend Says She Saw Her in Detroit.

Mount Clemens, Mich., May 11 [Special].—An alibi for Mrs. Violet Nonnemaker, 23 years old, held on a charge of kidnaping a boy whose body was recovered yesterday from the Clinton river here, was offered today by a friend of the accused woman.

Mrs. Betty Georgiadis, 23, of Detroit, Mich., wife of a soldier in North Africa, told Prosecutor Wilbur F. Held she saw Mrs. Nonnemaker in Detroit daily from April 26 to 30 and from May 4 until yesterday. She said that during the intervening time Mrs. Nonnemaker visited the New Jersey home of her sailor boy friend.

Disappeared April 28.

The victim, Danny Lyons, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lyons, disappeared April 28 from the yard of his home here. When his body was recovered his neck bore bruises indicating he had been choked. Altho he had been missing 12 days, medical authorities expressed the belief the body had been in the water only a week. Danny was buried today.

Mrs. Nonnemaker was hunted on a warrant charging kidnaping after Danny's mother, Dorothy, 27, reported that the woman had vowed to "get even" with her. Mrs. Lyons had accused her of stealing a coat when she was a lodger in the Lyons' home, but a charge of petty larceny against Mrs. Nonnemaker was dropped after the coat had been returned. Mrs. Nonnemaker surrendered to Detroit police yesterday, several hours after the boy's body was found.

"I loved Danny and wouldn't have harmed a hair on his head," Mrs. Nonnemaker asserted. "I never threatened to hurt him and I didn't steal the coat. I had a little boy of my own once, and I wouldn't hurt any one's child."

Tells of Son's Death.

She explained that her baby son, Cecil, born two years ago, died at the age of 6 months.

"I was signed up with the WAACs," she continued, "and was waiting to be called up when I had this trouble with Mrs. Lyons. She accused me of stealing her coat, but I didn't do it. Mrs. Lyons told the WAACs about having me arrested, and they wouldn't take me, altho I had been sworn in."

Telling of her friendship with the sailor she went to New Jersey to visit, Mrs. Nonnemaker, who is separated from her husband, said they told guests at a Detroit hotel where they lived that they were married.

VETERAN WHO RECORDED PEACE MEETING DIES

William T. Woods, who as an army stenographer at the Versailles peace conference, saw and heard at close hand all the allied world figures of the first World war, died yesterday in the Alexian Brothers hospital after an illness of two weeks. He was 50 years old, an employé of the city smoke abatement department, and lived at 6220 Wayne avenue.

Mr. Woods saw months of combat action in the front lines as a member of the signal corps. After the armistice he was about to board ship for home with his unit when he received an order to report immediately to Versailles. As a result, he helped preserve for posterity the remarks of men who shaped the ill-fated peace of a quarter of century ago. President Wilson gave him a citation for his work.

Surviving Mr. Woods are his widow, Mabelle; a daughter, Margaret, and two sisters. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Friday from the chapel at 1359 Devon avenue to St. Gertrude's church. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

EXPECT 40,000 IN MEMORIAL DAY PARADE COLUMN

Plans for the Memorial day parade will be completed Saturday evening in the headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic Memorial Day association in the Public Library building. It was estimated yesterday that 40,000 persons will take part in the parade, which for the first time will be held on a Sunday—May 30.

The parade will form in the area about the intersection of Chicago and Michigan avenues. The column will proceed south on Michigan avenue, past the reviewing stand at Congress street, to Roosevelt road, where the line will disperse.

Capt. Thomas Ambrose, Civil war veteran and grand marshal of the parade, and Walter Jasper of the Disabled American Veterans, adjutant general, will review the parade from the stand at Congress street. Also in the stand will be representatives of the nation's armed services and other dignitaries.

New Gateway Amendment Introduced in Senate

Springfield, Ill., May 11 [Special].—Another constitutional "gateway" amendment was introduced in the senate today by Senators Walker Butler [R., Chicago] and Nicholas L. Hubbard [D., Mount Pulaski]. The amendment would allow amendments to be made to three articles of the Constitution in one election instead of one as now expressly set forth in the Constitution.

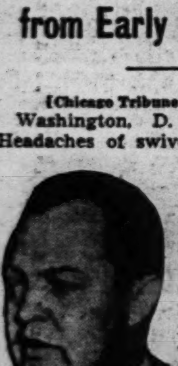
FSA CHIEF TELLS OF SWIVEL CHAIR FARMER'S WOES

Holds Trouble Inherited from Early New Deal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 11.—Headaches of swivel chair farming were related today by C. B. Baldwin, youthful appearing administrator of the department of agriculture's farm security administration, which the house has moved to abolish.



C. B. Baldwin

He told his story to a house agriculture subcommittee amid demands by Rep. John W. Flannagan Jr. [D., Va.], that the authors of some of the ideas responsible for the headaches be driven out of government service.

The house acted April 20 to abolish the FSA by refusing it funds in the department of agriculture appropriation bill, but there has been speculation that the senate may save the organization. Meanwhile, the house subcommittee's investigation into complaints of FSA socialistic actions has been continuing.

Cites Tugwell Rôle.

Baldwin testified at the first open hearing of the investigation and blamed many FSA ills upon projects inherited from the early days of the New Deal. Flannagan mentioned that Rexford Guy Tugwell, who has been under fire as governor of Puerto Rico, formerly was administrator of the resettlement administration, which the FSA succeeded.

Baldwin testified that FSA's principal work now is its rehabilitation and farm tenant programs. Among the headaches he listed were:

The government isn't going to get all its money back when it liquidates its farm experiments. Many of the improvements placed on farms at the taxpayers' expense with works projects administration labor were too costly. The 13 coöperative farming experiments FSA conducts have been none too successful. Many farmers the government was trying to help in buying farms have left their homes for jobs in war industries.

Lash at 99 Year Leases.

Baldwin was discussing the 99 year leases given some farmers on land bought by the government when the subcommittee chairman, Rep. Harold D. Cooley [D., N. C.], asked:

"How do you reconcile 99 year leases with home ownership? Neither they, their children, nor their children's children can ever achieve ownership."

"Who hatched that up?" asked Rep. Flannagan. "Was it one of Tugwell's brainchildren?"

"I think Dr. Tugwell was administrator then," Baldwin replied.

Rep. Cooley asked about a statement attributed to Dr. George S. Mitchell, assistant FSA administrator, that long time leases were preferable to ownership by farmers. The statement was mentioned as part of a discussion by Mitchell regarding farmers who exhausted their lands instead of replenishing them. Some contracts under which FSA is helping farmers buy land provide for cancellation in case the farmers fail to care for land.

Opposed to Long Leases.

Cooley asked Baldwin if he opposed permanent ownership. Baldwin said he did not and expressed doubt that Mitchell had been correctly quoted. Asked specifically if he subscribes to plans for leasing the land for 50 or 99 years instead of permitting farmers to buy, Baldwin replied:

"I certainly don't now. I don't recall that I ever did. I'm becoming more and more convinced of the advisability of fee simple ownership."

Baldwin was explaining a coöperative farming scheme, under which 450 of the 10,000 families on resettlement projects are living, when Rep. Cooley said the law forbids FSA to lease or sell land to coöperative organizations.

"I don't know how it's possible," said Rep. Cooley, "for the FSA to embark on such a program against the law. It seems to me illegal to try any such experiment as that."

Baldwin explained that the project already was established when he became administrator, and said part of the money came from national recovery administration funds.

"It seems to me," said Rep. Flannagan, "that a lot of strange ideas are creeping into Washington agencies. Somebody down there in your department hatched up this scheme of getting around congress."

RIVER CROSSING DELAYS BLUES IN WAR MANEUVERS

Cumberland Helps to Protect Reds.

BY HAROLD SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Field Headquarters, 2d Army, Lebanon, Tenn., May 11.—Red forces defending the Cumberland river fought stubborn delaying actions today as the numerically superior Blues charged steadily northward in the third problem of the 2d army maneuvers here.

The Blues are bent on annihilation of the defenders, well established north of the river from Avondale eastward to Rome, and have sufficient pontoon equipment to construct combat bridges at several points, if necessary, buoyant enough to support their heaviest armor and artillery. They will need it, for the retreating Reds left the only two usable highway bridges, at Hartsville and Hunter's Point, in theoretical ruins as they evacuated the south bank last night.

Weather Complicates Job.

Bridging the river, a tough job at best for the sweating combat engineers, was made more difficult by spring weather which turned dirt roads into rivers of mud and swelled trickling mountain streams into brown torrents cascading new current and depth into the tricky Cumberland.

Blue preparations for the main effort were slowed by the necessity of by-passing bridges and culverts on main lateral roads just behind the front line, which Red demolition squads "destroyed" as their forward elements fell back. A "blown" bridge by maneuver rules is out of use for hours, and the Blues are in a hurry, so they throw up rope and pontoon bridges where fording is impossible.

Use Rubber Rafts.

Reconnaissance forces for both sides have been ferrying men, supplies and light mechanized equipment back and forth across the Cumberland constantly on huge rubber rafts pulled across by hand power by means of lines spanning the stream.

A Red infantry company pocketed on the wrong side when the bridges were "demolished" escaped northward after Lt. B. H. Short of Jasper, Ala., swam the river in the dark to notify engineers on the north bank of his comrades' plight. Six assault boats and two rubber boats slipped up and carried the men to safety.

In order to try its crossing in force before the problem ends Friday, the Blue army supplemented its customary night movement with intensive behind the lines activity today. The Reds can only guess which of the 10 possible crossing points their enemy will use.

BLOOD APPEALS FOR BABY BRING QUICK RESPONSE

Published appeals for blood donors to help save the life of Thomas Robert James, 2 years old, suffering from a streptococcus viridans infection in Children's Memorial hospital, yesterday resulted in a flood of offers, his father, Thomas V. James, 4170 Barry avenue, said. Blood from one of the callers, who had recovered from the malady, was taken and a transfusion will be made today, James said. A second donor, who also has survived the disease, has volunteered a transfusion and is standing by.

Bandit on Probation Gets Year for Second Holdup

Ralph H. Finley, 27 years old, 4853 Carmen avenue, was sentenced yesterday to the Bridewell for one year for the robbery of Miss Mildred Impey, clerk in the Norsted hotel at 3750 Broadway, of $12 on April 22. Finley, who had been on six months' probation on a similar charge, told Judge Frank E. Donoghue in Felony court that he used a toy pistol.

Aged and Adult Charities Get $60,000 on Tag Day

A total of $60,000.51 was netted in the 27th annual tag day sponsored on Monday by the Chicago Federation of Aged and Adult charities, Carl Somer, auditor, announced yesterday. Thirty-eight institutions will benefit. Each will be permitted to keep the amount collected by its representatives.

CALUMET CITY OFFICIALS FREE TO ISSUE BONDS

One of the horns of the legal dilemma menacing Calumet City officials was abated yesterday when Judge Joseph A. Graber, in Superior court, vacated his order of Monday restraining the city from issuing and selling $425,000 in bonds to meet special assessments.

Judge Graber dissolved the injunction on a motion by Assistant State's Atty. Francis Clamitz, who told the court that his office had not been given adequate notice of the hearing. The state's attorney's office is a party to the action inasmuch as it represents County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, who was named in the suit.

When the injunction was ordered Monday, Mayor John W. Jaranowski and the city council of Calumet City found themselves facing contempt action if they failed to obey Judge Graber's order, and courting a like penalty if they refused to issue the bonds, thus violating a mandate issued some months ago by Circuit court Judge John Prystalski.

MOTORIST TO GET MENTAL TEST.

Stuart Hamilton, 40 years old, 3110 Milwaukee avenue, was fined $70 and costs yesterday in Auto court by Judge Cecil Smith, who withheld final disposition of the case until Hamilton, who wrecked a rented automobile on May 1, can undergo a mental test.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Gail Compton

May 11, 1943.

THE oat fields finally have been seeded, but it was not because the farm had a break in the weather. The work was done under the constant threat of rain, and the fields were so wet the tractors were hard put to keep from miring down.

The heavy clay soil that predominates over most of the farm has a tenacity for water that makes spring work unpleasant. Altho the fields were disced three and four times the soil still remained balled up in damp clods.

The first seeded oats now are up and are carpeting the 16 acre field in a light green. As the soil was too wet when these were put in, the field has baked as hard as Michigan boulevard under what sun has shone. The same fate lies in store for the rest of the oat acreage. The men have a hard time believing crop reports which state that the middle west needs rain.

Three Weeks Behind.

There has been so much rain that two of the farm families just this week have been able to get their home gardens plowed and the first rows of seeds set out. The entire planting season is a good three weeks late this year.

The new Southdown lambs have been bouncing about the sheep pasture the last few days. Three were born last week, but only two survive. One was so small the flockmaster believes it was premature. It came, he claims, as a result of the bad scare suffered by the ewe when the flock was raided by stray dogs. The workers were afraid this would happen.

The alfalfa fields are thriving. In many places the forage is up almost five inches, and holds promise of a steady, healthy growth because of the plentiful supply of moisture in the soil.

The large field of clover which was combined last fall and then left to reseed has proved a failure. It now is doomed to the plow and probably corn will take its place.

Reset Pasture Fences.

While the two tractors and the caterpillar have been rolling in the fields from dawn to dusk, workers have been busy repairing fencing and resetting end posts to get ready for the summer pasture season. The Angus breeding cows, expected in a few weeks, will demand a lot of ground, and this means strong, tight fence.

One hot, windy day last week performed miracles among the trees. The warmth brought out buds at a tremendous rate, and now most of the fruit trees are in bloom. The apple, pear, and cherry trees are coloring the landscape with their delicate pink and white flowers. All they were waiting was one good day of sun.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

DAMAGE to vegetable plots by neighborhood dogs already is a troublesome problem for many gardeners. We have received numerous letters and calls from gardeners who want to know what recourse they can take against such damage.

Chicago city ordinances permit a dog to run at large only if it wears a muzzle and license. Any dog found on the streets without these items may be captured and taken to the city pound, where the owner may reclaim the dog by buying a license and in some cases paying a fine.

A home owner or tenant whose property is damaged by a dog may have the dog's owner arrested for possessing a nuisance. Such a procedure demands that the complainant go into court to prove the charges.

Suburban towns have a variety of ordinances similar to the Chicago laws on the subject. The laws, in effect for many years, seldom are strictly enforced. Damage to gardens will continue until dog owners have been educated to the fact that they have a legal and moral obligation to keep their pets under control, either in their own yards or on leash in the streets.

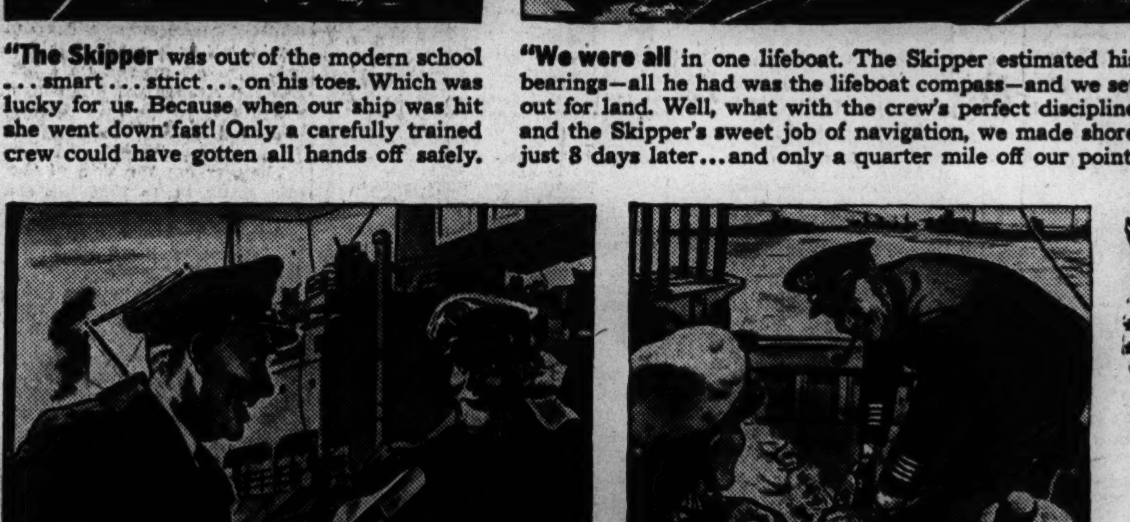
"Who'd have thought the Skipper had a soft spot?"

Long days in a lifeboat had taught him a lesson. On his next trip . . . just in case . . . he came well prepared. An amusing true story about an Alcoa Skipper, told by his First Mate.

"The Skipper was out of the modern school . . . smart . . . strict . . . on his toes. Which was lucky for us. Because when our ship was hit she went down fast! Only a carefully trained crew could have gotten all hands off safely.

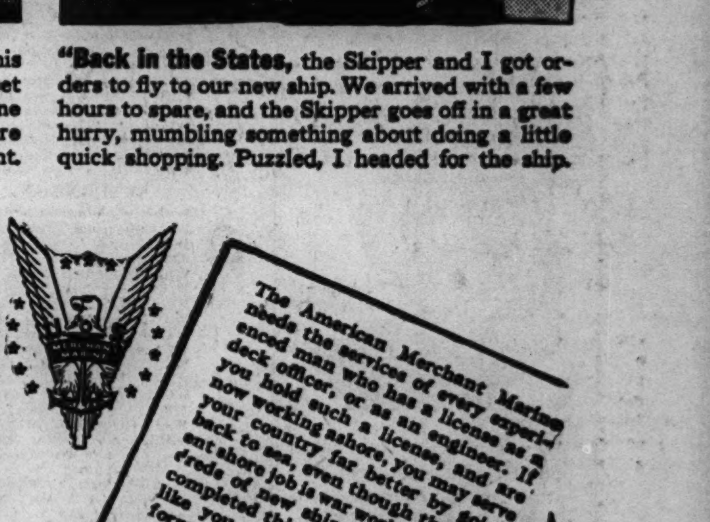
"We were all in one lifeboat. The Skipper estimated his bearings—all he had was the lifeboat compass—and we set out for land. Well, what with the crew's perfect discipline and the Skipper's sweet job of navigation, we made shore just 8 days later . . . and only a quarter mile off our point.

"Back in the States, the Skipper and I got orders to fly to our new ship. We arrived with a few hours to spare, and the Skipper goes off in a great hurry, mumbling something about doing a little quick shopping. Puzzled, I headed for the ship.



"When the Skipper came aboard, he was carrying a carpenter's plane. 'Would that be a secret weapon for the U-boats, sir?' I asked. 'Well, Mr. McKenna,' he said, 'last time I was in a lifeboat, that seat just about ruined me. If I ever have to get into another one . . . you can be sure I won't be a victim of those blankety-blank sharp edges!'

"We laughed as he went to work with his plane . . . So the Skipper does have a soft spot, I thought to myself. And maybe it's a clue to the spirit of the Merchant Marine . . . the way all hands round off the 'sharp edges'—with a laugh—and keep coming back for more."



The American Merchant Marine needs the services of every experienced man who has a license as a deck officer, or as an engineer. If you hold such a license, and are now working ashore, you may serve your country far better by going back to sea, even though the present shore job is war work. The hundreds of new ships which will be completed this year will need men like you as officers. Get full information at the nearest office of the U. S. Employment Service or write the War Shipping Administration, Washington, D. C.

Manning Tells Stand Against Church Merger

New York, May 11 [Special].—Declaring that the Episcopal church is a mediating influence between the Catholic churches of the world and the Protestant church, a position which might be lost if the Episcopal church were to merge with one of the Protestant sects, Bishop William T. Manning told the 106th annual convention of the diocese of New York today that he would oppose the proposal to unite with one of the Presbyterian churches in the United States.

Bishop Manning said he regretted that the question of the merger is to be brought up at the forthcoming general convention of the church, adding there would not be time for the discussion of such an important step.

He told the 500 clergymen and lay delegates gathered at Synod hall at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine that he felt the several Presbyterian churches should be unified before they unite with any other. He said he is vitally interested in Christian unity but added, "I am opposed to this present proposal because in my judgment it will not further the cause of Christian unity but will certainly create diversion and disruption in our own church."

Describing the merger as a step directly away from world-wide reunion, he said, "Let us remember that the historic Catholic churches of the world, Eastern, Roman, and Anglican, include today more than three-fourths of all the Christians in the world."

He attacked the merger as contrary to "the faith and order of the Holy Catholic church as it has come to us from the apostles' time," calling it a violation of the principles and teachings of the prayer book, as likely to bring about a crisis in the Episcopal church, and "because I am certain that Christian unity cannot be achieved by overriding the conscientious conviction of great numbers of our clergy and people." He concluded, "I trust and pray and believe that this issue will not be forced upon the church."

In Newark, where the Episcopal diocese is having its sixty-ninth annual convention, Bishop Benjamin M. Washburn also expressed opposition to the Presbyterian merger.

Council Rejects Plan

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., May 11.—Complete disapproval and rejection of the proposal to merge the Presbyterian and Episcopal churches in the United States was voted today by the council of the Episcopal diocese of Milwaukee.

The vote came after 140 delegates from southern Wisconsin heard Bishop Benjamin F. P. Ivins denounce the proposed merger in his annual address as "unthinkable and intolerable."

Bishop Ivins reminded the delegates that the Episcopal church of the United States is a part of the Anglican communion and said approval of the merger would result in such a fundamental change in the church's policy and character that the new church probably would not be acknowledged by the rest of the Anglican communion as being a part of it.

Thru the Looking Glass

At this point it looks to us as tho a beauty editor would need the wisdom of a Solomon and the research staff of a Rockefeller Institute to speak with complete authority on the respective merits of the cosmetic stockings that are coming to market this summer. At the rate they're appearing there will be thousands of them; the confusion among the consumers, the clerks, and the experts probably will be colossal.

But one thing will be important, as we have mentioned before, and that's the grooming of the skin to which any one of these is applied. Cosmetic hose will not veil imperfections of the skin as mercifully as the silk and nylons did in happier days. You're implored to remember that almost half the battle in using any stocking out of a bottle lies in conditioning the skin to a point that's as close to perfection as you can manage by careful grooming.

Removing the superfluous hair, every single smidge of it, is absolutely necessary. The nicest, smoothest, best made liquid stockings gets all messed up otherwise. Use any method you find convenient and kindly to the skin surface, but don't fail on this score.

Then, cream the skin of the legs and scrub it, so that it's smooth, with no little bumps. Here again, the best synthetic stockings that money can buy fail completely in their purpose if you overlook this. Women probably aren't going to like this new nuisance of grooming the leg skin, but there's just nothing else to do if they want to be presentable with the war time means at hand.

Before the very warm weather sets in, get the habit of grooming the skin. Then, when the stockingless season arrives you'll use the synthetic of your choice with complete assurance of a really smooth job.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

Oh's and Ah's.

"Have you heard about the busy white collar girls who all stopped work long enough today to model a hydrangea colored John Fredericks original hat, belonging to a silvery-ringleted society matron, when the hat was delivered by mistake to their office? The oh's and ah's can still be heard around the vicinity of Clinton and Washington streets."—W. C. G. [Nosey Parker's Gremlin.]

From a Red Cross Secretary.

"I thought perhaps you would like to know just where I finally landed after Australia. Well, here I am 'Somewhere in New Guinea.' We have an ideal setup here; our recreation hut is about 50 feet long, made of grass and surprisingly cool in spite of the heat. Rainy season is on and it rains every blessed day for hours. This is not a typical tropical paradise, but it has many beautiful spots. We have a grand swimming place—a river that runs thru the jungle—and gorgeous waterfalls that would put Niagara to shame. And, we have natives to add to the atmosphere. It's all very nice, even to wading in mud up to our ankles.

"The outfit we wear is not exactly a Paris creation. We wear coveralls and slacks and regular men's GI shoes. We take atabrine for malaria; live in tents, shower outdoors and ride around in jeeps in which we bounce and gallop and then settle down to a fairly rough ride over our 'Burma Road.'

"The sunsets are most gorgeous here. The sky is actually pink all over as the sun sets amid a convoy of clouds. We've explored the jungles for bananas, limes, coconuts, and even orchids.

"We've experienced our first air raid. The wave of enemy planes coming over in formation was a sight to behold. Nuf sed! I'm all right if that is what is on your mind! But it gave me some uneasy moments for a time . . . believe me!

"Let me hear from you. Honestly, mail here is scarce [it takes a month to arrive] and is as precious as diamonds."—Skeets.

For Real Persons.

Anyone who has watched the progress of women in business in the past few years has witnessed an increasing emphasis on personality. What kind of person you are, more and more determines what kind of job you fill.

The best recommendation for a book such as Harry Emerson Fosdick's "On Being A Real Person" is the simple statement: "It helped me." Paragraphs like:

"It takes genius to serve mankind by doing some things that need to be done, but mankind is also served by those who simply do not crack up when all expect them to. They make a stimulating company."

Or, "Abnormal persons take appreciation for granted and regard criticism as an impertinence. The normal person comes much nearer taking criticism for granted and regarding appreciation as velvet."

Or, the child's prayer: "Make all the bad people good and all the good people nice."

Or, the description of the "jammed conscience — like a jammed automobile horn which, having fulfilled its rightful function of warning, now keeps up a blare."

Or, applicable to the white collar girls: "Whoever has a task that dignifies his days so that he proposes to see it thru, has one of the major prerequisites of mental and emotional health."

New D. A. R. State Board Will Hold Meeting Today

The new state board of Illinois Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution will appoint state committees and outline plans for the season when the members gather this morning in the Fine Arts building for their first conference. Mrs. J. De Forest Richards will preside.

Extra Values Stressed Now in Play Shoes

BY REA SEEGER.

Play shoes, still unrationed, flaunt all kinds of color, air conditioned tops made with crossed straps, materials that are not even remotely related to anything in leather, and best of all, rope soles. Yacht skippers for years have bewailed the fact that too many people come aboard without rope soled footgear, marring the polished decks. For years these experts have proclaimed enthusiastically the comfort of rope soles, and now it takes a war to make us women discover the fun of these smart rope soles.

In one showing you'll find slip-on house sandals with rope soles the crossed straps of leather, sturdy denim, printed cottons, or cool eye-catching striped denim or twill. There are play shoes made of airy net material with a very coarse mesh pattern that contrasts with the rope sole. A few remain of ooze and pigskin leathers, but they're going fast. The cheerful rope soled play shoes with uppers of peasant printed cotton or chintz are gay and young.

There are plenty of play shoes in gay colors in pigskin, with ankle straps, and the minimum amount of straps over the insteps. These are made with wedge heels and feature red, beige, copper, black and white, and a few yellows and greens.

Others are made in the regulation sandal model with a matching cord to tie around the ankles in more or less decorative design, the cord being laced thru eyelets all round the upper edge of the sandal. The ooze leather kinds, of stuff that resembles rough suede, are ideal with tailored slacks for indoor lounging as they are a bit more finished in detail than the more casual play shoes.

Cedar Chests Finding New War Time Uses, Their Makers Report

The cedar chest, for generations the symbol of safeguarding cherished articles, has achieved new importance in war time America, it was announced yesterday by the Cedar Chest Manufacturers of America.

Manufacturers reported that cedar chest production in 1942 hit a new peak. They said many chests were purchased by young men, in or about to enter the services, to be given to their sweethearts or fiancées. Cedar chests are purchased as storeplaces for civilian clothes by men and women about to enter the army, navy, WAACs, or WAVES.

The manufacturers assured the public that they will endeavor to keep up the production of the chests, tho many of them hold war contracts and at the same time are faced with a man power shortage.

What Is History?

Maybe you are one of those who saw to it that Sally Rand made $5,000,000, sent nine persons thru college, and bought a ranch in Montana and an orange grove in California thru a judicious arrangement of two enormous beige ostrich feather fans.

Thru one of those hazards that landed us in Chicago the year Sally had foresworn fans for balloons, we did not contribute to her wealth, but have always thought they must have been remarkable fans. Well, last week end thoughtful little Sally, who sometimes slips out of the public eye but always manages to sneak back in, offered to take care of us and the millions yet unborn who never dreamed that two fans and a stomach muscle could earn $5,000,000: She made a clean gift of her fans in perpetuo to the Chicago Historical society.

In making this magnanimous gesture Miss Rand indicated that 40 years from now the museum will be howling its head off for just such a relic of the Century of Progress exposition. For are not Sally Rand and her fans as inextricably linked with the exposition of 1933 as was Little Egypt with that of 1893?

Miss Rand proffered her fans neatly and nicely and within the bounds of decorum, but in so doing she tossed the dignified board of trustees of the Historical society into frightened retreat in a two hour conference. Out of it emerged this statement:

"The board of trustees of the Chicago Historical society feel that the fans used by Miss Sally Rand at the Century of Progress are not relevant to the World's Columbian exposition material now on exhibition, and they do not believe they have sufficient historical interest to warrant their acceptance by the museum."

A few indignant ladies telephoned us on the matter. They had heard of the gift and wished to say they thought the fans not only irrelevant to the 1893 exposition but irrelevant to anything. Frankly they did not want them in the same museum as Paul Revere's copper tankard, the first Mrs. Potter Palmer's decorous outer garments, Mary Todd Lincoln's lace mitts, or Daniel Webster's big silk hat.

We hesitantly said that perhaps Miss Rand was thinking in larger, more cosmic terms. The ladies did not. That ended that.

Dr. Faye Cooper-Cole, the University of Chicago's noted anthropologist, disagreed with the ladies. He contended that Sally Rand's fans, along with a number of other relevancies born at that exposition, are perfectly legitimate historical relics—as long as the society is not compelled to display them.

"We are interested," he said benignly, "in anything that will tell us anything about the way people have started and people have lived. Now I," with emphasis on the pronoun, "think it would be highly desirable to have not only the fans but the things that Little Egypt wore or did not wear, with a good description of how she danced. It would be quite illuminating."

Well, Sally, it is a cold, callous world that does not think you history. Why not try an industrial museum? Or bequeath your torso to a taxidermist and offer that with the fans? Or, if no museum will display you openly, why not just crawl into a corner stone?

Coleman Lake Club to Open New Season with Stag Party

BY JUDITH CASS.

BRUCE BORLAND, president of the Glenwood Manual Training school, won't be able to attend the alumni association's annual dinner on Friday night at 120 South La Salle street as he will be in the group of members of the Coleman Lake club who will spend this week-end at the club to mark the opening of the season. The fact that the week-end probably will be cold is the only balm to members' wives who traditionally are left at home for the grand opening, which is a stag affair. During the rest of the year, however, members' families are welcomed cordially at this informally attractive fishing haven in Wisconsin.

Frederick A. Preston, president of the club, will be in the crowd going north, as will be F. Hampden Winston and Huntly H. Gilbert, among others. Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood, the Frank E. Wilhelms, the Huntington B. Henrys, the William D. Coxes, the Edward D. Shumways, and the Joseph M. Cudahys are others who visit the club each summer.

The Glenwood school alumni also will be disappointed that Mrs. Edward B. Butler and Mrs. Arthur T. Evans have had to decline invitations to be special guests at the alumni dinner, for the late Mr. Butler served as the school's president for 31 years. He was followed by N. Chester Mather, who now lives in the east, and then Mr. Borland.

School, In Its 57th Year, Is Attended by 300 Boys.

The school, which is in its 57th year, is attended by an average of 300 boys, most of whom pay some part of their tuition and board. The high school age students live on the Glenwood campus in a special dormitory, which was given by Mrs. Robert H. McElwee of Lake Forest, a daughter of the late Jesse Spalding. They attend the Bloom Township High school, however. Every boy at the school is taking military training, so the dinner guests will be interested in hearing the speakers of the evening, Gen. W. H. McCarty of the army and 3d officer Margaret Pate of the WAAC.

Ernest S. Ballard of the school's board of directors will be among the dinner guest, but Philip F. W. Peck, vice president, is expected to be out of town. Other directors include Howard Linn, Floyd B. Evans, who is Mrs. Evans' son; Marvin B. Pool, Walter B. Smith, who is the treasurer, and Wilfred Sykes.

The Borlands' daughter-in-law, Mrs. William F. Borland, is in the process of moving from the apartment of her parents, the junior John Jay Bryants, to her own little apartment in Lake Shore drive. Her bridegroom of a few months, Ensign Borland, is on active sea duty.

Families on North Shore Are Raising Live Stock.

While victory gardening is the spring time preoccupation of most north shore residents, victory ranching, chicken raising, bee keeping, and pig raising are innovations on the estates of the Clay Judsons of Lake Forest and Mrs. John P. Kellogg of Libertyville.

There are 15 sheep grazing in the green suburban fields on the Judson property, 100 chickens in the chicken house, and a sizable apiary, which is the exclusive hobby of Mrs. John T. McCutcheon, Mrs. Judson's sister. The McCutcheons, who will be moving out from town to Lake Forest as soon as the weather improves, are looking forward to a visit this summer from Mrs. McCutcheon Jr., their oldest son's bride. The young McCutcheons were married recently in New Orleans. Of course, the Judsons have not neglected to have a victory garden, too, but it is nothing new with them, since their rather large vegetable plot has been producing for years and feeds 21 persons, summer and winter.

Mrs. Kellogg, with the help of John, 13; Robert, 12; Sheila, 10, and Tony, 4, takes care of 13 sheep, 400 chickens, 2 pigs, and an acre of vegetable garden while Lt. Comm. Kellogg is in Africa. Mrs. Kellogg plans to leave for her Vancouver Island farm about July 1.

Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins Is Experienced Farmer.

Mrs. Robert Maynard Hutchins finds nothing new in war gardening, because she is an experienced farmer. The Hutchinses have had a farm at Mundelein for two years, on which they grow all the usual vegetables and several others which amateurs would fear to try raising, such as cauliflower and eggplant. In the back yard of their south side home Mrs. Hutchins has an electrically heated hotbed in which she starts the seeds of these plants and transfers them to a cold frame at the farm when the spring weather is warm enough. Dr. Hutchins takes time from his duties as president of the University of Chicago to do some plain and fancy hoeing and digging.

Milton Morse has been promised a rotary plow, but that handy gardening accessory probably won't be delivered until late this summer when it won't be of much use to Mr. Morse in digging his own war garden, or to the Lake Forest neighbors to whom he had promised to lend it. The Morses' daughter, Mrs. John P. McWilliams, and her two little girls are in Norfolk, Va., with Lt. [j. g.] McWilliams, who entered the navy last summer. Their home is one of a row of 750 houses, all exactly alike, but they were glad to find it.

Fifi Montgomery Will Be Naval Lieutenant's Bride.

Pretty Miss Fifi Montgomery, who was a debutante of the past season, will be a bride as soon as her fiancé, Lt. [j. g.] E. Stewart Skidmore, returns from service at sea with the navy. Their engagement was announced yesterday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Rardon Montgomery. Lt. Skidmore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hamilton Skidmore of Mexico City, Mexico, at present are in New York City, and they plan to come west later in the month to meet the

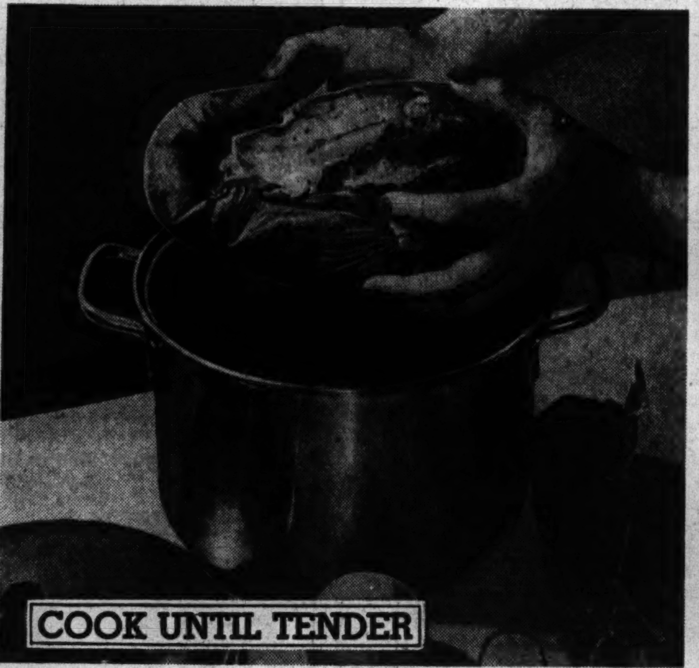
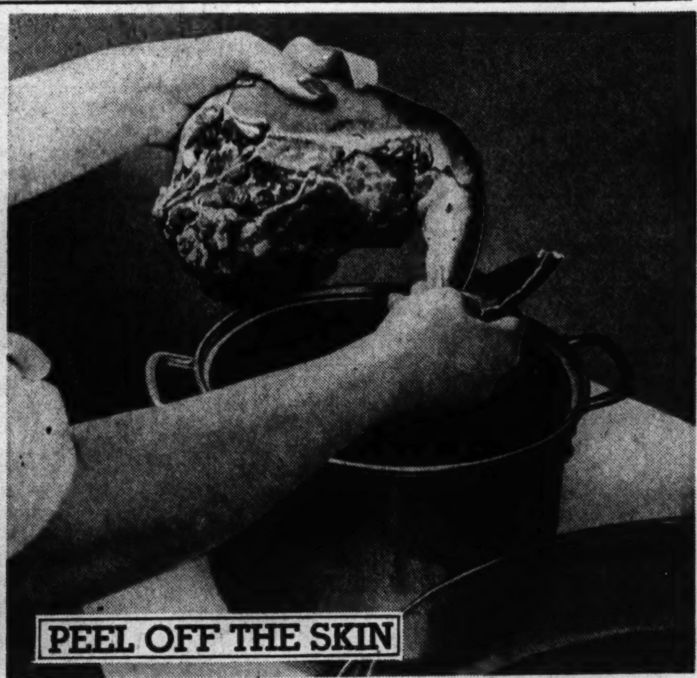
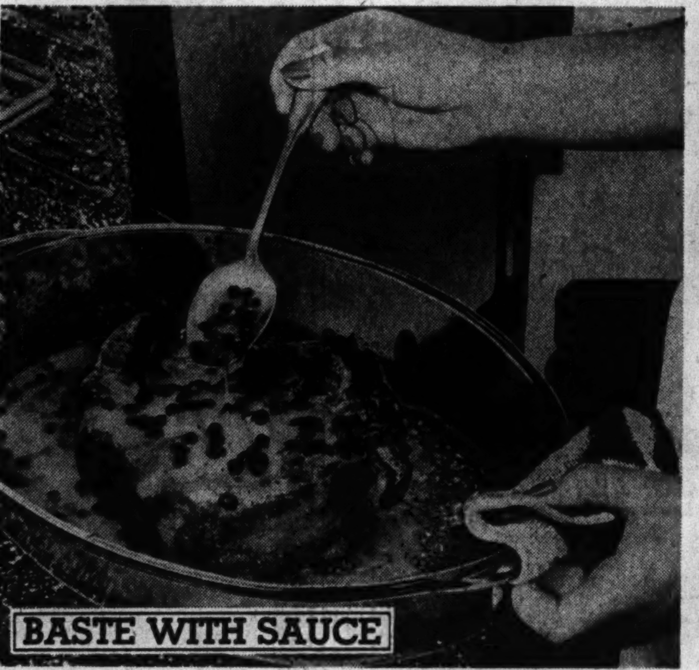
Here's How to Prepare Baked Tongue with Tasty Sauce



1. This smoked beef tongue weighs more than 3 pounds and cost 17 points. It's a red stamp bargain, for there's very little waste. Immerse tongue in water to cover and simmer with an onion 3 to 4 hours, until tender.

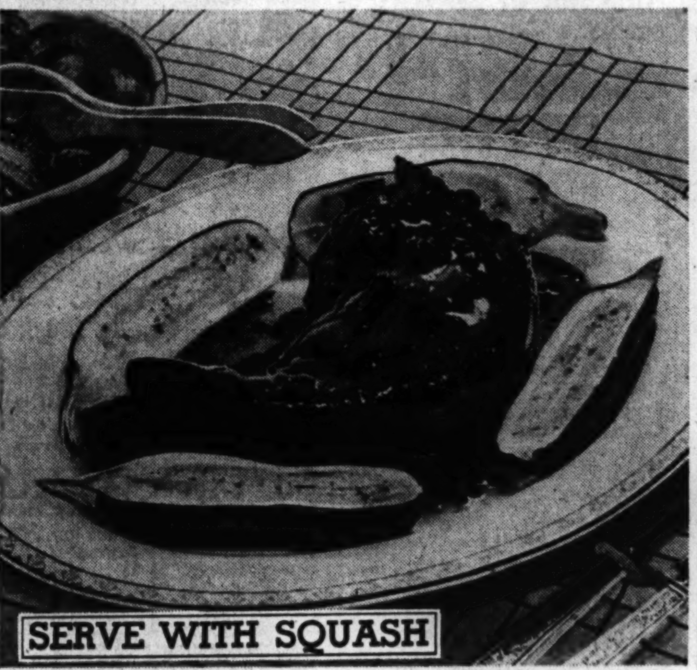


2. Cool tongue in the stock until it may be handled. Then peel off skin and remove loosened bones at base of tongue. Place it in an open roasting pan and pour prepared currant and orange sauce over it.



3. Bake 30 minutes at 325 degrees. Baste with this sauce: Mix grated rind and juice of 1 orange, 2 cups tongue stock, ¼ cup brown sugar, ½ cup currants, pinch cinnamon, and cloves. Thicken with 1½ tablespoons cornstarch.

[TRIBUNE Studio Photos.]



4. Here's the baked tongue in delectable sauce, ready for carving. Steamed halves of Italian (zucchini) squash with salt, pepper, and marjoram are served on same platter. Spinach and tomato salad is other accompaniment.

Round Table Plans New Institute for Chicago Teachers

The Chicago Round Table of Christians and Jews has arranged for a second institute for Chicago teachers on intercultural education. The meeting will be held at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning in the third floor auditorium at 228 North La Salle street.

"Why Intercultural Education in American Schools?" is the general question to be discussed, with reference to the teacher's place in developing inter-faith and inter-group understanding for the successful operation of democratic government.

Three speakers will be presented: Dr. Francis E. McMahon, professor of philosophy at the University of Notre Dame; Prof. Ruth McCarn, counselor at Northwestern university and formerly director of the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene, and Prof. Melville J. Herskovitz, professor of anthropology at Northwestern. Dr. James M. Yard, director of the round table, will serve as moderator, and James T. Gaffney will be chairman of the meeting.

Notable Works in Exhibition of Water Colors

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The 22d annual international exhibition of water colors opens this afternoon in the east wing galleries of the Art institute with a reception for the artists and members of the museum. Tomorrow the exhibit will be open to the public, and it will remain on view thru Aug. 22.

Because of the war, the exhibition has lost much of its international character—there is one small gallery devoted to paintings from Mexico, a single entry from France, and one from Cuba—but American artists have come bravely to the rescue and the show is as diverting, colorful, and decorative as any of its predecessors.

Two of the most important water colors are the magnificent landscape, "Summertime," by John Whorf and the stunning "Kelp Ledge" by Andrew Wyeth; these are the finest pictures in the exhibition. Ivan Le Lorraine Albright has a delightful little painting of slim trees on a rocky shore reflected in the mirror of a stream, "Trees, Trees, and Then More Trees," he calls it. "Sunday Morning, Key West" by Adolf Dehn is clever and amusing; Dehn is a deft draftsman. "Okapi at the Bronx Zoo" by John Leete is attractive; the details of the stall in which the deer-like animal is confined are handled with an eye to their decorative qualities.

"Bowl of Flowers" by Bernard Klonis is an oddly attractive still life. Another distinctive still life, featuring eggs, is "Spring at Senlis" by Clinton King. "Farm Horses with Apple Trees" by Waldo Pierce is a fine piece of work and one of the most likable paintings by this artist which we have yet seen. "Maneuver in the Dark" by James Patrick is well done and has a special significance now in view of the war.

An entire room is given over to works by John Marin, whose mannered conceptions seem already to be dated. Another gallery is hung with works by William Gropper, and the chief impression one receives here is of war cartoons and propaganda bits inspired by a hatred of Hitler and his Nazi atrocities.

The Watson F. Blair purchase prize of $600 was awarded to the intriguing "Winter Day in Key West" by Mr. Dehn, a painter with a keen sense for the ridiculous and as keen a flair for fascinating color. The Watson F. Blair purchase prize of $400 went to "Room 18, Virginia City" by Thomas Craig, a nude seated in front of an old fashioned bureau in the musty atmosphere of a Victorian room, well done. Saul Levine won the William H. Tuthill prize of $100 for his punctilious "Brooklyn Landscape."

Honorable mentions were given to "Passing Locomotive" by Dong Kingman and "The Little Red Boat" by James Lechay.

Cancer Prevention Clinic for Women to Open Tomorrow

A cancer prevention clinic for women, staffed by women physicians and the third of its kind in the nation, will be opened tomorrow at the Women's and Children's hospital under the sponsorship of the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, Mrs. Arthur I. Edison, Illinois state commander of the Women's Field army, announced today.

On the staff of the clinic will be pathologists, dermatologists, radiologists, obstetricians, gynecologists, general surgeons, and eye, ear, nose, and throat specialists. Volunteer workers supplied by the Women's Field army will handle clerical, nurses' aid, and other duties. An advisory committee of the Chicago Medical society, composed of Dr. James P. Simonds, chairman; Dr. Augusta Webster, Dr. Bowman C. Crowell, Dr. John A. Wolfer, and Dr. Frederick H. Falls, will supervise the new clinic's operation.

The clinic will be open on Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock. Appointments for examinations may be made thru the Women's Field army, 48 West Division street.

ALL SET.
INSTALMENT XXVII.

Brant had no contact with any one, other than his own staff, but saw Dian once. He called the apartment one evening, for the butler to send him a suit that had been left behind, and, receiving no answer, drove out and let himself in with his key.

He found the suit in his closet, noticed that Dian had moved back in and then started to leave.

But the apartment had a hollow sound, so he switched on all the lights and walked thru all the rooms. It was again being redecorated. The only furniture left was that in the bedroom. Some of the walls had already been papered and painted. In the living room, he was puzzled to notice that the decorators were striving for a definite masculine touch. He went back thru the other rooms. They, too, were the same. But the bedroom and the guest room were being made into a suite and one-half of that suite was decidedly feminine. Brant could not figure it out. He had imagined that it would be just the opposite.

He started to leave, the private elevator door opened and Dian stepped in. They stared at one another and Brant was suddenly embarrassed. He held up the suit on his arm. "Left this," he said.

"I know. I—I was keeping it for you."

"I'll take it along. I—ah—didn't expect to run into you."

He moved toward the door, but Dian said, "No hurry, is there? I have a bottle of bourbon that you——"

"I'm on the wagon. But thanks."

They returned to the living room and stood by the fireplace, and Brant watched her from the corners of his eyes. She seemed composed, not at all nervous and decidedly not embarrassed by his presence. She was, rather, cooly appraising him. It reminded him, with a shock, of their first meeting, when she had so intently stared at him, as if she were trying to get behind his eyes, to read his mind.

She finally smiled and said, "The bomber seems to be getting along nicely. I had a look at it the other day. Odd looking, but perhaps—do you really expect it to be a success?"

Brant stared into her eyes. "I don't care one way or the other. It's a job to finish. That's all."

Her mouth formed a round "O." She looked away and then slowly her eyes returned to his. "Do you mind if I ask you something?"

"Not at all. Go ahead. I have a thick skin."

She took a deep breath. "About Carol Jaffe. I wish you would forgive her. I should have realized——"

She paused and Brant held his breath. "You should have realized what?"

"About men and—and things like that. To be honest about it, I did throw myself at your head, too, didn't I? And then to condemn you and carry on like I did——"

The light in Brant's eyes died. He said, "Forget it."

"You'll forgive me?"

"Sure. What's the difference?"

"You seem pretty indifferent about it."

"Frankly, I am. I thought you were going to say something else."

She lit a cigaret, thoughtfully stared off into space, then turned her eyes back to his. She said, "Aunt Hattie told me about her conversation with you. You told her that you wouldn't have me back as a gift." She smiled. "Inasmuch as I was not asking to be taken back, it was rather amusing."

"Was it?"

"Yes. It was amusing then." Her smile died and she said, "But it isn't amusing now. Brant, would you take me back?"

His eyes opened and then narrowed to slits. Her reserve was gone. The wall about her was gone.

Brant shook his head. "Not," he said, "as a gift."

He turned away from the stricken look in her eyes and walked to the door, carefully closing it behind him.

Brant saw Dian the following day at the plant. She had driven her automobile to the edge of the landing strip and was leaning back against a fender. Thomas McNair and O'Toole were with her. Kane Harmon was standing a little apart from them. Brant nodded as he walked by, but Dian coldly stared at him and did not return the greeting.

Brant walked on to the bomber. Gen. Holland was waiting for him. The main cabin was packed with engineers and hundreds of instruments and gauges for test purposes.

He slid into the pilot's seat, eased the throttles open, released the brakes and started down the runway at slow speed. At the end he made a gentle turn and taxied back to the opposite end. He turned again, a bit tighter, and began using the brakes and engines on the turns. He opened the throttles a bit more, snapped them off and jammed on the brakes. He finally roared down the runway, got almost up to take-off speed, then snapped the throttles back and barely managed to stop the ship before reaching the end of the field.

Gen. Holland breathed, "Rough handling, Regan."

Brant nodded. "But she's taking it."

He tried it again and again, working the ship on the ground for the rest of the day, and then he headed it back to a stop before the open doors of Experimental. He and the general and the engineers climbed out and stood by the ship to compare notes. Dian, O'Toole, and Harmon joined them. They slowly went down the list. Brakes okay. Parking brake okay. Controls okay. And on down to the bottom of the list. Everything was satisfactory.

Brant looked at Gen. Holland. "I guess this is it."

The general nodded. "Seems all right. How did her ground handling seem to you?"

"Perfect. If she does as well in the air——" He turned to the engineers and asked, "All flight testing instruments in place?"

Moreland answered for them. "Everything is set to go, sir."

"Good. Then all of you be here ready for the first hop at 6:30 in the morning. The air should be pretty smooth at that time. Better go home, now, and get some sleep. Your nerves," he smiled, "will be in better shape."

The men scattered and Brant turned to face Kane Harmon. "Are you going to be here?"

Kane smiled. "I wouldn't miss it for the world. It will be a pleasure to see you smear yourself all over twenty acres."

Kane nodded toward the plane and said, "Take a good look at that wing. Tell me, honestly, have you ever seen a ship of that size with such a thin and narrow wing section?"

"No, but still——"

"There are no buts about it. That wing made an amazing test in the wind tunnels, I grant that. But looking at it actually on the plane—well, I don't like it. In fact, if I had anything to say in the matter, I wouldn't allow the engineers to ride with you tomorrow. Those men are too valuable to lose." His smile returned and he said, "See you in the morning, gentlemen. I'll bring flowers."

He went away with McNair and O'Toole, but Dian walked with Brant and Gen. Holland toward Brant's office. They paused at the door and she said to the general, "Naturally, you understand what this means to me. If the bomber fails the company has to be reorganized. I will have to sell a large portion of my interests."

Gen. Holland asked, "You're worried?"

"Frankly, yes. Only you and Mr. Regan seem to have any faith in the plane."

The general chuckled. "Don't include me in that. It's like the house that Jack built. I have faith in Brant, and he has faith in the plane. That's the correct order."

"Then you——"

"I'm not so sure. We're gambling on an idea, a formula. Kane Harmon expressed it correctly. Wind tunnel tests say we're right, but when I look at the small size of that wing, logic and experience say we're wrong."

He never dated a woman in his life—and yet two fell in love with him! Here's a fine new story of the small town—" . . . a Wife to Raise" by Margaret Weymouth Jackson—beginning Monday in The Chicago Tribune. Don't miss it!

Jewish Women to Hear Talk on Post-War Plans

Mrs. Edward Du Broff's international relations class at Chicago section of the National Council of Jewish Women is presenting Mrs. Elmer J. Glover at 10 o'clock this morning in its series of talks on post-war planning.

Authoritative Sex Education Books Listed

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"My daughter is 16. I've never talked to her about babies, marriage or sex. I don't know how."

"My boy is what you'd call innocent, really. He's going to enlist in the navy. We're good friends, but we've never talked about 'those things.' What should he know?"

"My little girl is beginning to ask me questions about baby chicks and rabbits and birds. I don't know just how to answer her."

"My husband and I disagree. I'd like to have some strong arguments to convince him of the need of sex education for children, beginning quite young."

"My twins are full of curiosity and intelligent about everything, including such things as the parts of their bodies and what they're for and so forth. I'd like a correct vocabulary. Do you know any book that would offer one?"

Here are some reading references that answer those questions:

The Sex Side of Life. An explanation for young persons, by Mary Ware Dennett, published by the author, 24-30, 29th street, Astoria, New York, 25 cents a copy. This booklet was written by Mrs. Dennett for her own sons and first appeared in the Medical Review of Reviews for February, 1918. It is an informally written explanation for young persons on the physiological and emotional aspects of sex, treated with both realism and idealism. It contains the kind of information that most fathers and mothers know their young sons and daughters should have gained from them, but which few do. Many grown men and women, as well as fathers and mothers of young children, would gain much by reading it and assimilating its viewpoint.

There is an excellent book which is called New Patterns in Sex Teaching by Frances Bruce Strain. It is published by D. Appleton-Century company of New York and the price is $2. This book is especially valuable to parents because it gives exact answers to the many questions which children ask on matters pertaining to sex and the birth of babies.

A book which answers virtually every question on reproduction that will occur to pre-adolescent boys and girls and some who are already in their adolescence, is: Being Born by Frances Bruce Strain, published by D. Appleton-Century company of New York. The price is $1.50. This story of human beginnings is written for the boys and girls themselves to read, or to be read aloud with an older person.

A Vocabulary for Family Use in the Early Sex Education of Children. Prepared by Catheryne Cooke Gilman, published by the Women's Coöperative Alliance, Inc., 212 Citizen's Aid Building, Minneapolis, Minn. Sent by the Alliance on receipt of 15 cents. This gives simple, correct names for the parts of the body and their functions and has been of great service to many mothers of all degrees of education and training.

Sex Education in the Home. Obtainable free from the United States Public Health Service, 16 Seventh street, Southwest, Washington, D. C. This is a short booklet for parents.

And there are a number of other booklets on sex education which are obtainable free from the same sources as the last named.

The Wonderful Story of Life. A mother's talk with her little daughter regarding life and its reproduction. Obtainable free from the United States Public Health Service, Washington, D. C. This is a simple booklet which can be read to a child or retold. It will be helpful to mothers who want to answer their children's questions about where babies come from.

Your Stars Today

Dorothy Herbst to Be Bride of Ensign Tonight

When Miss Dorothy Herbst goes to the altar of the Highland Park Presbyterian church tonight to meet her bridegroom, Ensign George Scott Cuming Jr., she and her bridal party will walk to the music of the wedding march sung by the girls' choir of which the bride formerly was a member. With her wedding ensemble Miss Herbst will carry a 100 year old handkerchief, the gift of her cousin, Mrs. Robert Kulp of Evanston.

Mr. and Mrs. Cuming Sr. are here from Cleveland, O., for the 8:30 o'clock ceremony and the reception to follow in the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Herbst of Highland Park. Their daughters, Miss Joan Cuming and Mrs. Richard Maurer, will serve as bridesmaids with Miss Jean Tennant and Mrs. T. Hamil Reidy, and Miss Ruth Herbst will be her sister's maid of honor. Ensign Cuming will have his father as best man and Lt. Reidy, Mr. Maurer, Robert H. Herbst II., Dr. Edward C. Sargent, and Lt. Edward Skillon as ushers. After an eastern wedding trip Ensign Cuming and his bride will go to Banana River, Fla., where his new orders are sending him.

Mrs. Leonard D. Karcher and Mrs. Malcolm Ewen are in Gainesville, Fla., today for the marriage of Mrs. Ewen's grandniece, Miss Patricia Deuell, to Mrs. Karcher's son, Freer Willson. The 4:30 o'clock ceremony in the Episcopal church of Gainesville will be followed by a reception in the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tietgens. The bride will wear the wedding gown of her new sister-in-law, Mrs. Andrew P. Rebori Jr. [Barbara Willson], who will be her only attendant. Miss Deuell's father, Thomas Deuell, and Mrs. Deuell were unable to make the trip from Barrington to Florida for the wedding. Mr. Willson, who just has returned from service in Africa with the American field service, will take his bride on a wedding trip to Mexico.

The marriage of Miss Mary Stewart Scudder, daughter of Mrs. Lawrence Williams Scudder of New York City, formerly of Lake Forest, to Ensign David Mason Little Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Little of Cambridge, Mass., will take place on May 22 in the Central Presbyterian in New York. The Rev. Dr. George Buttrick will officiate. The ceremony will be a simple one, attended only by members of the families and a few friends. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Bachmann of Evanston announce the marriage on May 1 of their daughter, Margaret Jane, to Ralph Kempton Packard, son of Mrs. Guy C. Packard of Wilmette and the late Mr. Packard. The wedding took place in St. Mary's church in Evanston, with a reception afterward in the Georgian hotel. Miss Rosemary Rita Owens of St. Charles, Ill., was bridesmaid, and Robert E. Bohan of Galesburg, Ill., was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Packard went to Hot Springs, Va., for a wedding trip, and they will be at home in Evanston after May 20.

Pen Women to Entertain Miss Gerstenberg at Tea

A musical and tea in compliment to Miss Alice Gerstenberg will be given by Chicago branch of the National League of American Pen Women at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Casino club. Miss Gerstenberg is president-elect of the group, following Mrs. Marco Adrogna in office. The program will be given by Mrs. William H. Howell, soprano, who will sing a cycle of Sarojini Naidu's "Songs of India" set to music by Helen Westbrook; Mae Doelling Schmidt, composer-pianist, and Margaret Sweeney, harpist. Mrs. Frank G. Logan has arranged the musical.

Household Forum

By Louise Bargelt

[Have you some household help that lightens labor or saves materials? Is there some convenience you would like? We'll pass on your ideas to our readers.]

Mrs. John S., Chicago: I spread a thin film of wax around my door knobs and window sills. This makes white woodwork a lot easier to keep clean. My woodwork is all white, and children's little fingers smudge surfaces around door knobs, especially.

Mrs. Tom D., Aurora, Ill.: I sew the buttonholes of coat sweaters together before I wash them. They won't stretch in the process of laundering and drying.

Mrs. Marshall J., Chicago: Here's a tip my husband wants me to pass on to any one who is an amateur painter. If you have a new paint brush don't dip it in paint before you have struck it against the palm of your hands a couple of times. If there are any particles of dust in the bristles this will remove them.

Mrs. Grace D., La Salle, Ill.: I had to store some rubber articles this spring in a place that isn't very dark. I wrapped them in thick paper to keep out the light and those articles which had to be folded a little, received a generous dusting with corn starch. [Talcum powder, I'm told, would have been just as good.]

Mrs. Thomas Smith, Chicago: I make a mixture of borax and water, add some broken egg shells, and let this mixture stand in any bottles that are disfigured by water stains. I do this with a frequent vigorous shaking—and stains usually come off.

Now—please—Your Idea!

Aiding Madonna Center Benefit Breakfast

Miss Caterina Bolognesi (left) and her sister, Miss Marianna Bolognesi, are active on the committee for the Madonna Center benefit breakfast Sunday at the Drake hotel. For the last 19 years the directors of the settlement have given a dance to raise funds for the center, but the dancing party was canceled this year because of the war.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

The musical committee of the Chicago Woman's club, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Maurice L. Rothschild, will sponsor a musical Sunday afternoon, June 6, at 3:30 o'clock in the crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel. The artists will be Rudolph Ganz and Attilio Baggiore. Proceeds will be devoted to the student nurse gift scholarship fund.

Mrs. Howard G. Earl.

The club is participating in the nurse recruitment program of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, to which an appeal was made recently by Maj. Gen. James C. Magee, surgeon general of the army, who said that unless the army is able to meet its nursing needs without delay, there will be useless suffering and loss of man power. The Chicago Woman's club already is sponsoring three students at the Women's and Children's Hospital nursing school and one at Michael Reese. As the scholarship fund is increased, more aspirants for nurses' training, who otherwise could not afford the cost, will be provided with scholarships in full or in part.

Dr. Adelaide Doolittle Hoeffel, chairman of public health, child hygiene, and nursing for the Illinois federation, is chairman of the war service nursing committee of the Chicago Woman's club. Mrs. Howard G. Earl, chairman of publicity, has announced that single tickets for the musical are $2.25 and boxes for six are $25.

Lester Luther of the Chicago conservatory will talk on "What It Takes to Be a Public Speaker" at a joint meeting at 7 o'clock tomorrow night of the public speaking classes of the American Women's Voluntary Services. The meeting will be held in room 1024, 134 North La Salle street, and members and friends are invited.

Certificates will be awarded to those women who have completed basic and advanced courses which consist of eight lessons of two hours each. The members will represent the AWVS as the speakers' division and will form a permanent group to offer monthly forums with outstanding guest speakers. Mrs. Beulah Christian Mayher, instructor of the classes, plans to offer refresher courses soon.

A recruiting drive to enlist young women and girls not engaged in other volunteer war work to sell war bonds, stamps, and corsages at war rallies and special events has been launched by the women's division, Chicago and Cook county war savings staff. In announcing the drive, Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, chairman, said 300 young women already have been enrolled in the junior corps, with Miss Florence May Stapler as chairman. They will attend a class in bond instruction at 7 o'clock tonight in room 321, 105 West Adams street. Another class will be held Friday night at the same time and place. Information concerning the junior corps may be obtained by telephoning State 2940 or writing the war savings staff, 105 West Adams street.

A new course, keyed to train the "white collar girl" for jobs in war industry, will begin next Monday at the Illinois Institute of Technology. Training will be given in industrial engineering, and those women who enroll will become the first in the country to be trained for this specific work, school spokesmen said.

Already the Wurlitzer company in De Kalb, an aircraft manufacturing plant, is enrolling women for the course on an "earn as you learn" basis.

Classes will be held from 2 to 10 o'clock five days weekly for eight weeks. Any woman with a high school diploma, plus two years of mathematics, is eligible to enroll. Classes will meet in room 211, 1951 West Madison street, where enrollment is being conducted. The course is tuition free.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

Open House to Be Held at Children's Hospital

The Children's Memorial hospital, 707 Fullerton avenue, will observe National Hospital day today with open house from 3 until 5 o'clock. An exhibit of pediatric antiques, depicting the progression of infants' feeding vessels from the Greece of 25 centuries ago to the present and a tour of the clinic building will be among the day's features. The nurses' home will be open to visitors in coöperation with the recruitment of nurses' project.

Faculty Woman's Club of Illinois Tech to Meet

The Faculty Woman's club of the Illinois Institute of Technology will meet at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the Top of the Town restaurant, 185 North Wabash avenue, with Mrs. Lester R. Ford presiding. Officers will be elected. Mrs. John H. Smale is slated for the office of president to succeed Mrs. Ford.

Plea Is Issued for Enrolees in Nurse Training

An urgent appeal for student nurses was made yesterday by Robert T. Sherman, president of the Plan for Hospital Care, in announcing plans for National Hospital day today.

"Facing the second war time National Hospital day, hospitals of Chicago and adjacent communities for the most part must forego their traditional open house celebrations to concentrate on the strenuous task of providing adequate care for the sick in spite of rationing, priorities, and personnel shortages due to the drain by the army and navy," Mr. Sherman said. "Commemoration of the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale this year, however, will emphasize the opportunities for women as student nurses and members of the volunteer aid corps."

Mr. Sherman said that nurses are desperately needed to replace those who have already joined the army and navy, to provide 3,000 more for military service each month, and to meet civilian needs.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly, in proclaiming annual Hospital day, also urged the women of Chicago "to enroll as student nurses and to assist in every possible way by lending their personal services to their community hospitals."

Unusual Crocheted Calotte

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

A tricky little crocheted calotte is composed of a series of circular discs which are joined together to fit the head, leaving an open crown. The tiny pancakes are trimmed with small tassels, making them especially intriguing for the younger set. A more sophisticated hat may be created of the same medallions without trimming. A baby calotte may be had by adding a bunch of flowers at each ear.

For instructions in crocheting the open crowned calot, No. 324, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

family of their prospective daughter-in-law.

Miss Montgomery, who never is called by her formal name of Marjorie Jean, attended the Girls' Latin school and the Edgewood Park school in Connecticut. She and her fiancé met last summer while he was attending the naval reserve training school at Northwestern university. He attended Suwanee military academy and the University of Texas.

Later in the month Miss Montgomery will be leaving for Ogunquit, Me., to stay with her aunt, Mrs. Frederick D. Montgomery, whom she visited last winter in New York. At present her only brother, James R. Montgomery Jr., is stationed in Pensacola, Fla., as a naval aviation cadet.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Faithorn Jr. became the parents of a daughter, their first child, on Sunday in Annapolis, Md. The baby is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Faithorn of Oconomowoc, Wis., and Chicago. Young Mr. Faithorn will enter a naval training class at Quonset, R. I., on June 6.

Lecture to Be Given at Harris Schools Tonight.

Parents and friends of the Harris schools will hear a lecture at 8:30 o'clock tonight by Joseph Hornsby Spear III., former director of the American school in Bogota, Colombia, and director of the Pan-American council of Chicago. Mr. Spear's topic will be "The Importance of Education." After the lecture the classrooms of the schools will be open for inspection, and exhibits of the children's work will be shown.

The event is being sponsored by the board of trustees, which includes Mrs. Charles Garfield King, one of the founders of the school; Mrs. Clive Runnells, Gov. Dwight H. Green, Robert J. Dunham, Robert Maxon, Paul Magnuson Jr., and E. E. Norman.

Mrs. Homer P. Hargrave has donated the silver cup which will go to the grand champion today at the annual dog show of the Girls' Latin school. Every student in class six, which is sponsoring the show, is keeping her fingers crossed for a fair day so that the show won't have to be postponed. San Tilghman, Betty Clay, Joan Pruitt, Inez Atkinson, and Barbara Hendrickson are the class officers who have made arrangements for the show.

Next Wednesday the girls in classes seven and eight will challenge their fathers to a baseball game. Later the mothers will serve supper.

Academy Head to Talk.

The Rev. Edmund R. Vohs, principal of De Paul academy, will speak before the Mothers' club of the school at 8 o'clock tonight in the academy, 2217 North Kenmore avenue.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

In a great many deals declarer must choose between these two lines of play: A finesse in one suit, or the establishment of another suit in which the six missing cards must break three-three. Under such circumstances it is vital for him to know that the finesse has a 50-50 chance, whereas the suit establishment play figures to succeed only 36 in 100 times.

Declarer put these percentages to work for him in the following case, altho not precisely in the way he had contemplated.

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

♠ A K 4 3 2
♥ J 10 9 6

WEST
♠ J 8
♥ Q 5 4
♦ J 7 5

EAST
♠ Q 9 7 6
♥ 8 3 2
♦ 10 9 8 4 3

SOUTH
♠ 10 5
♦ A K Q 2
♣ A 9 4 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	5 no trump	Pass
6 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the club jack. Dummy's queen won and right here declarer had to decide whether to lead three rounds of spades in an effort to break the suit three-three, or to take the heart finesse in an effort to make four tricks in that suit. He decided on the latter. The heart jack lost to the queen but, it will be observed, the establishment play in spades would have meant immediate failure, whereas now declarer still had quite a few strings left in his bow.

West, after taking the heart queen, returned the spade jack, figuring quite correctly that if declarer did not care to attack spades there must be a reason. Dummy's king won, declarer cashed the A-K of hearts and the club ace, then led a low club to the king. East discarded a diamond and a spade on the two clubs he could not follow, but now when dummy's last heart was cashed, East was in grave difficulties. He could not let go another spade without making dummy's entire suit good, hence was forced to relinquish another diamond. Declarer himself discarded a club on the fourth heart, then could cash the A-K-Q and deuce of diamonds, as well as the spade ace, in order to round out his contract.

The heart finesse had let declarer down, but he had managed to recover beautifully.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., May 11.—Just as Judy Garland rented Mary Martin's house, Mary wanted it back . . . George Brent interested in a truck farm up in Susanville . . . George and Alan Curtis had some heated words over Ilona Massey at a night club . . . Bill Goetz interested in for Alice Faye . . . Ginger Rogers' mama, Lela, signed to a writing and coaching contract at R. K. O. . . Claire Trevor has darkened her hair and says she'll play only ladies—not ladies of the eve—from now on. When Eddie Buzzell flew to Chicago to listen to Jimmy Joy's orchestra, Society Warbler Sunny Griffith met him. No talk of a picture contract. Eddie's in love . . . Paramount will probably get Gary Cooper, Ingrid Bergman, and Sam Wood for the première of "For Whom the Bell Tolls" in New York come July.

Mary Martin.

Only a Start.

John Garfield, on a layoff, gets a week's salary when he goes to Chicago to appear for "I Am An American Day." Garfield's finished his first camp tour, and won't stop acting. It's not bad either. He did his whole routine for me, including his song—knocked himself out. While playing in South Carolina, half his audience walked out. They'd gotten an order to patrol the railroad thruout the state. They wondered who was coming thru, and as they stood in line, out on the back platform bounced Falla. Then they knew it was the President's train. John ran into Pvt. Zero Mostel, broke all rules by having Zero dine with him in the Officers' club. Mostel kept saying, "They can break me for this!" "How?" quipped John, "—by making you back into a civilian?" Took his hat off to little Ann Gwynn. So did the boys. He introduced her as the "sexless girl." They did a burlesque on "Now Voyager"—Ann in a revealing dress of black satin. When he'd finished, I said, "You're as big a ham as Bob Hope." He yelled, "Who do you suppose taught me this stuff?"

Them That Has Gits.

Tonio Sellwart, of the quick smile and large bank account, signed for top rôle in "A Thousand Shall Fall." . . . In London they didn't ration women's hats, but here the WPB has put them on its list. They'll control size. Gosh! If they get smaller, you'll be wearing nothing but a humming bird. . . . Pvt. George Cukor headin' for home after his honorable discharge. George is 'way over 38. . . . The Fred Astaires, together with both sons, relaxing for a couple of weeks on his turkey ranch. . . . Johnny Farrow and Joe Sistrom off to Washington to get more dope on "Hitler's Gang." For Pete's sake! Don't they read the newspapers?

Ho, Hum!

What a giggle you'd get if you knew the real reason Dorothy Thompson is doing those raves against "Mission to Moscow." It's not what you might ordinarily expect. . . . Jack Benny's favorite picture of Bing Crosby is one in which Bing's face is completely hidden behind Benny. . . . Paulette Goddard wants to go overseas—doesn't wish to return here to play in "All Around the Town." She'd be tired of that before starting. That's what she's doing in New York. . . . Lionel Barrymore, for his birthday, got an old yellow copy of Richard Strauss' Waldron Concerto, opus 11, from James Stagliano.

Set Hopping.

Every time Lewis Milestone says "Ann, do this or do that" on the "North Star" set, a trio of heads turn. There's Ann Harding, Baxter, and Carter. In the picture, there's an unforgettable scene between Walter Huston and Erich von Stroheim. Each actor underplays the other. I'll put my money on Walter. . . . Walter Slezak missed the première of "This Land Is Mine." He was addressing the Farmers' association in Bucks county, Pa.,—got so warmed up to his subject he forgot all about time. . . . Smart of Jeanette MacDonald to open her "Romeo and Juliet" in Montreal. When and if she reaches the Metropolitan, she'll be an experienced opera star, maybe. . . . Joan Blondell was asked about her household duties, such as hiring and firing of servants. "Are you kidding?" came back Joan. . . . Jean Arthur is getting requests for leg art. . . . John Phillip Sousa will be one of the characters in "Gone Are the Days," built around the Chautauqua circuit, where Sousa made history. . . . Dennis Day heard that Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom was on his way to Ireland. "Why there?" said Dennis. "O, just to get a look at my relatives!"

Lecturer Tells Dire Plight of Young Greeks

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

The fact that food for children is desperately needed by Greece if life is to be preserved was driven home with finality by Mme. Kaity A. Argyropoulo, representing the Greek War relief, in a lecture yesterday at the Woman's Athletic club.

A shocked silence followed Mme. Argyropoulo's confirmation of a question raised by Mrs. Constant C. Hopkins at the end of the lecture as to the abandonment to death of unfit children. It was followed by muffled protests in which anger and sadness mingled as Mme. Argyropoulo's soft voice reluctantly declared, "Yes, it is true. The children are taken to clinics and those who are not in a condition to be helped [because of starvation] are put aside and allowed to die. The stronger and healthier children are aided."

This deplorable situation is caused by the fact that there is not enough food to sustain all of the children. Therefore those who have the best chance of growing normally are given the precious canned milk, rice, dehydrated vegetables, and cereals that arrive three times a month on Swedish ships to be distributed by the Red Cross, according to Mme. Argyropoulo.

The Germans have not touched any of the supplies delivered on these ships, the speaker said. However, she continued, even tho the Greeks need clothing almost as much as food no clothes are sent because the Germans also need wool and probably would seize yard goods. The Greek War relief, almost entirely supported by Americans, pays for the shipping and the Red Cross provides medicines and milk, said the speaker.

"Altho my people are suffering, their pride and faith is unbroken, and we never will forget what we owe to the United States and the war relief," Mme. Argyropoulo said. She left Greece about a year ago, and since coming to America has spoken before the American Friends of Greece in Philadelphia, and in Washington and New York. Tonight she will address the Women's University club. She may return to Chicago in June.

Her talk yesterday before the club's crowded ballroom marked the last morning program of the season. Following the lecture the speaker, who is staying with Mrs. Lambert Davis, whom she met at a house party in Philadelphia, was the club's guest at luncheon at a table headed by Mrs. Démetre C. Benetato, wife of the Greek consul in Chicago. Mrs. Arthur Wakeley, new president of the club, introduced the refugee, whose husband remained in Greece.

CUBS BATTLE GIANTS; SOX FACE YANKS TODAY

TRIBUNE GOLF SCHOOL WILL RESUME FRIDAY

650 Brave Elements on Opening Day.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Those parties in charge of the weather hereabouts yesterday were reported sulking in their tents, still brooding over the fact they had done their worst in Monday night's opening of THE TRIBUNE'S eleventh annual free golf school and had failed to stymie the band of more than 650 students who appeared at the four courses of the Chicago Park district in spite of the precipitation and darkness.

Tom Walsh.

Maybe these gents of the climate department weren't aware their predecessors of other springs have tried to accomplish the same shutout of the school, and they always have failed. Long ago, members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, who make up the faculty of the school, learned there is no point in completely postponing a class, for always there is the hardy percentage of students who have reported in snow, rain and freezing temperatures.

New Experience for Pros.

Monday night's opening weather set some sort of a record for terrible conditions, yet there they were—the 650 who are interested enough in learning the first principles of a sound game. And they weren't alone. The Illinois P. G. A. members, who are donating their services to the school for the eleventh consecutive year, forgot Monday is their official free day, appeared early at their respective classrooms—Jackson, Columbus, Marquette, and Diversey—and announced the evening one of the most enjoyable in their teaching careers.

Alex Cunningham of North Shore, president of the Illinois section, and George Smith, long-time professional at Lake Forest's Onwentsia club, allowed they have taught golf in a lot of places and under divers weather conditions, but said they hadn't relished any class as much as the one they conducted in the workshop at the Diversey location with Wally Ruesch, Alex' assistant, and Lew Waldron, one of the school's veterans.

Women Flock to Marquette.

Two other enthusiasts in the abbreviated opening were Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley, one of the founders of the school, and his brother, Packey, Marquette park professional. They found a new high in interest among the women pupils who crowded into Marquette park fieldhouse. Several of these plan to take up the game as the one best adapted to their hours as workers in war plants.

The Jackson Park faculty was one of the largest ever to turn out at the old south side course, considering the weather. Among those who gave a demonstration there were Reece Herd of Flossmoor, George Knox of Calumet, Chuck Tanis of Olympia Fields, Charles [Red] Denison of Midlothian, and Matt and Bud Matteson of Ridge.

Two-in-One Class Friday.

The second regular lesson, scheduled for Friday night on the same four courses, will be a combined one. It will include all the points intended for the opening class, so those who missed the latter may not miss any of the instruction on the grip and the stance.

Every man, woman and child interested in learning the fundamentals of golf is invited to appear Friday night at one of the four courses—Jackson, Columbus, Diversey and Marquette—that nearest their homes or work. The lessons are free. The only requirements are golf clubs, a willingness to learn the game from expert teachers, and your appearance by 7 o'clock at the course of your choosing. The lessons will begin promptly at 7:15 and will last approximately one hour.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

THE old theory that all left handed pitchers are a little tetched in the haid continues to be thrown down by lefties after their major league careers. . . . Larry French, for instance, is doing all right as a lieutenant in the navy and Herb Pennock, one of the greatest southpaws of all time, is an executive in the Boston Red Sox organization. . . . There are many others who haven't been accused of being eccentric since they hung up their gloves. . . . All record books say that Jim Dykes became manager of the White Sox on May 9, 1934. . . . That was the day he first managed the team on the field, but he was appointed in the cool of the evening on May 8. . . . Lt. Al Lind, captain of Northwestern's 1935 football team, is in command of a P. C. boat on anti-submarine patrol in the Atlantic. . . . His brother, Fred, a member of the Wildcats' 1934 football squad, is on a sub chaser and their father is an army colonel at Fort McPherson, Ga. . . . What do you glean from the letters of life
And the messages each must disclose?
Do the sweet words of love bring a smile to your eyes?
Are you touched by their sorrows and woes?

Are you sensing the drama of each written word,
When she mentions "Remember the park?"
Do you smile at the picture that grandfather made
When he stepped on Bud's skate in the dark?

Does the fact that "Mom's fever is lower tonight"
Make you feel that a battle is won?
Do you picture the joy this will bring to a heart—
When the message is read by her son?

Do you see in a foxhole in faraway lands
A bewhiskered face beaming with joy?
As he touches his pocket to make sure it's still there,
The short note that starts out, "It's a boy"?

Please handle my letters with kindness, good sir,
Do not smirk—nor my efforts assail.

Lost and Found.

It's all right to be a big shot, but I'm worried. I borrowed a fountain pen at the Wake banquet to do all that autographing business and then lost the pen, forgot whom I borrowed it from, then found the pen and the guy I borrowed it from, then borrowed it back again and lost it again, then found the pen again but couldn't find the guy who owned it. So will the owner please tell me who he is again?

I Wonder.

Three people in a downtown café
Made a disappointed to-do,
They pondered the menu and then arose,
Nothing, it seemed, would do;
At the door one said to the waitress
With quite an annoyed inflection,
"I'm sorry, but on your menu,
There isn't much selection."

Sometimes, I know, we don't stop to think
Or to weigh how our words will sound,
But I thought as I heard them, I wonder just what,
Across the world and around,
American boys in prison camps
Would think, or how they would feel,
If that same menu were placed before them
To select their evening meal!

IT'S PASSEAU VS. HUBBELL IN SERIES OPENER

North Siders Hope to Hit 1st Homer.

Lou's Willing

LONG BEACH, Cal., May 11 (AP).—Lou Novikoff, the Chicago Cubs' holdout, today said he would welcome a trade that would send him to some other National league club. "It is evident the Cubs don't want me," he said. "I want to play baseball, but not for the $6,000 the Cubs are offering, and would welcome a change of scenery."

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 11.—The Cubs and the Giants, two baseball clubs which represent rather large United States cities, tomorrow afternoon will open a three game series for last place in the National league. Because the Cubs on Sunday got out of the basement by beating the then second place Cincinnati Reds in both games of a double header, while the Giants were losing two to the Philadelphia Phillies, the Chicagoans are favorites to take the opening match and the series.

Claude Passeau, almost recovered from his flu attack and well rested after his 14 inning, 2 to 1 triumph over the world champion St. Louis Cardinals the next to last day the Cubs played in Chicago, will pick up the opener. Claude beat a better Giant team three out of four last year. The Cubs expect to face Carl Hubbell, who won in the only decision he had in Cub competition last season. The veteran lefty hasn't had a decision in a National league game this season.

It Doesn't Bother Cubs.

Hubbell will be the eighth southpaw to start against the Cubs in 18 games this season. This doesn't include Lefty Brecheen, who beat the Chicagoans in St. Louis in a 12 inning game which was started by Max Lanier, another lefty.

The Cubs, in their present state of mind, are not inclined to be afraid of left handers so long as said lefties pitch the new ball. The Cubs have swung at said new ball in three games, in which they had hit totals of 12, 15, and 12.

With all their revival in socking, Jim Wilson's boys form the only team in the National league that hasn't bashed at least one homer. Tomorrow they are going into the Polo Grounds, home of the short arc four bagger, and there is a great rivalry among the fellows to see who gets the first Chicago homer of the year. Just among themselves the boys have agreed that to count in the intraclub competition for the first homer garland the batsman must get his homer while swinging. If he pops a bunt into the seats along the foul lines, there is to be no payoff. Of course this is just a private understanding among the players in the pool. And besides there aren't many Cubs who can even bunt a foul.

Hack's Batting .373.

Stan Hack is the favorite to win the prize. Second among the National league hitters just now with a mark of .373, Stan is cutting pretty hard for extra bases. Not really a home run hitter, Hack frequently has put 'em in the seats in other years at the Polo Grounds. Eddie Stanky, also in the top 10 of the league, is liable to drop one into the stands back of first base. In fact, almost all the athletes in Wilson's new lineup have a good chance.

General Manager Jim Gallagher said today that Manager Wilson's announcement here last night that Holdout Lou Novikoff was on the trading block had brought no torrent of bidding for the Mad Russian. Gallagher contradicted Wilson's statements that offers had been received from other teams in the National league, but said he was listening for reasonable offers.

No Feud, Says Jim.

Gallagher was terse: "The idea seems to have got around that I am angry with Novikoff. I have had no quarrel with him and would like

SOUTH SIDERS MEET LEADERS FOR FIRST TIME

Outfielder Kalin Is Called in Draft.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox, who for the time being are unhappily resting in seventh place in the American league, today will have the pleasure of seeing what the circuit's front door looks like. This is the address, of course, of the Yankees, who have been touched up here or there since last season, but nevertheless remain the Yankees, which can be confirmed by consulting the percentage table.

Along with having to get his boys dolled up to meet the opposite end of the league, Manager James Dykes yesterday was shorn of one of his athletes. The Weirton [W. Va.] draft board reached into Dykes' baseball player basket and lifted out Frank Kalin, the outfielder purchased on a "see you later" basis from the Hollywood club last winter. Kalin has been classified 1-A for many months and appreciated that he was on borrowed time as far as his baseball chores were concerned.

The Deal Is Canceled.

The purchase price on the outfielder was a reported $15,000 which, because of his top flight draft status, was not to become payable until May 1, unless the player were previously returned. This later was extended to May 15. As soon as the player received his summons for physical examination yesterday Vice President Harry Grabiner of the Sox advised the Hollywood club that the deal was off. Dykes still has five fly chasers at his command.

The long standing, baffling Thornton Lee case may reach another phase today. Lee, who was helpless last season because of an arm malady, a defect that made it necessary for him to agree to a $1 per year contract until such time as he might prove himself physically fit, presumably is the victim of a bone chip in his left elbow. The chip, as well as a growth, was revealed by X-ray pictures taken late last week. According to Vice President Grabiner, Lee yesterday sought new medical aid as well as new X-ray plates and will report at the Comiskey park front office this noon with the latest developments.

Culler Ready for Action.

Bill Dietrich, who was maimed on the right forearm by a batted ball in the fourth inning of Sunday's first game with Detroit, was almost back to normal yesterday but probably will be rested until the week end. Flashy Dick Culler, who altho a shortstop by trade, has been able to take care of third base without causing the manager any distress, expects to be back at his position today. He was knocked out of Sunday's second game by a batted ball that plunked against his right knee cap.

The Yanks will be asked to wave their bats today at the pitching of Johnny Humphries and if his serving is much like it was in his last time out the league champions may experience a surprise. In his last gallop, Humphries performed an eleven inning, seven hit, 1 to 0 operation on the Tigers. Ernie Bonham will pitch for the Yanks.

880 MAY DECIDE BIG TEN TRACK

Illinois and Michigan Are Interested Parties.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Western conference half mile Saturday afternoon, which is a repeat event for both quarter milers and milers, may decide the team championship in the 43d annual games in Dyche stadium. Illinois and Michigan, contenders for the title, meet head on in the half mile with additional competition in the event from Minnesota, Ohio State, and Indiana.

Michigan's quartet of half milers is undefeated in the two mile relay this season and in the Purdue relays the Wolverines established an indoor record of 7 minutes 40 9/10 seconds. The team is composed of Capt. Dave Matthews, Ross Hume, John Roxborough, and Bob Ufer.

Ufer anchors the relay team but he primarily is a quarter miler. He won the conference indoor 440 yard race last March and in 1941 on the same track in Chicago's fieldhouse set an American indoor record of 48 1/10 seconds for the distance. Matthews and Hume also compete in the mile. Hume won this race in the Big Ten indoor meet with Matthews a close second.

Roxborough Indoor Champ.

Roxborough is the indoor half mile champion but in winning this title he had the advantage of not competing in an earlier event. His indoor mark was a mediocre 1:55.5. This also was the time for the half mile in the recent Michigan-Illinois dual meet. In this race, however, Roxborough was third. Bill Beile, a freshman, and Warren Goodell, a sophomore, finished first and second, respectively, for Illinois. Ross Hume had taken the mile earlier in this meet but Matthews was beaten for second place by Bob Seib of Illinois, who only

COL. ART MEEHAN, OLD ARMY STAR, LOST IN PACIFIC

West Point, N. Y., May 11 (AP).—Col. Arthur W. Meehan, one of the army's great football players on one of its greatest teams, was reported by the army today to be missing after a night bombing mission in the southwest Pacific in November.

Col. Meehan played quarterback for the academy in 1925 and 1926, and in 1927 hit his stride when his teammates included Chris Cagle, Bud Sprague, Harry Wilson, and Blondy Saunders. He was graduated from West Point in 1928, but returned in 1932 as back field coach, continuing there under Coach Biff Jones thru 1939. Except during football season each year, he was on duty in the air force.

OROS GELDING WINS FEATURE

Remote Control Finishes Strong at Sportman's.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Remote Control, a 5 year old gelding trained by John Oros, whose two former jockey sons are both in the army, put on a strong finish yesterday to win the Betty Lawford purse, main event on the Sportsman's Park program. In a hard stretch duel he outlasted Chicago Dr. to win by a nose. Johnny Jr., was third.

Remote Control was the 7 to 2 third choice in the betting in this seven furlong dash, the main support being divided between Sun Pharos and Bob's Dream, neither of which showed any inclination to run.

Lo Turco Has Two Straight.

Chicago Dr., beginning with a rush, opened up a four length lead in the early stages. On the second trip down the back stretch, however, George Bowman started using the whip on him. He held on quite well despite the challenge of Remote Control but he didn't have quite enough zip to last. The winner's backers collected $9.60, $5, and $3.60 across the board.

Jockey Andy Lo Turco had some good moments in the fourth and fifth races, riding two consecutive winners—Very True at $18.20 and Tripaway at $9.40.

Miss Lexington and Free Miss started fans off with a $48.40 daily double. Sloshing thru swamplike footing, Miss Lexington led from start to finish the first event and Free Miss came right down the middle of the stretch to get to the front of the pack late in the second event. Both were at five furlongs.

Scores First Victory.

Miss Lexington, a 4 year old filly which had won two of her three previous starts this season, went to the post at a little better than 9 to 2 in the betting. Her backers collected $11.20, $5 and $3.20 across the board after she had beaten Hadatime by a length and a half, with Madly getting home in third position.

Free Miss, a 5 year old mare, was scoring her first victory in two seasons. Lawrence Barney kept her free of interference in the early stages, rating her along in fourth or fifth position. He moved up with her approaching the stretch then sent her past the pace makers to win by two and a half lengths. Eb's First was second and Heel Call third. Those who bet on Free Miss collected $10.20, $5, and $3.40 across the board.

James Rengley, vice chairman of Gov. Dwight H. Green's committee on veterans' rehabilitation and employment, yesterday asked Illinois race track operators to divert a portion of their war relief contributions to this organization during the com-

BADGERS AGAIN TRIUMPH OVER SPARTANS, 9 TO 5

Madison, Wis., May 11 [Special].—Walt Lautenbach pitched and batted Wisconsin to a 9 to 5 victory over Michigan State today. Lautenbach hit a double and three singles. The Badgers had beaten the Spartans yesterday, 7 to 6.

After Michigan State scored once in the first inning today on three singles the Badgers came back in their half with five runs on three singles, Joe Wierschem's homer, a walk, and two hits batsmen. Score:

MOON MULLINS—PAST PERFORMANCE

CITY'S LEADERS PAY TRIBUTE TO C. Y. O. AT DINNER

Praise Sports Program of Bishop Sheil.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

A crowd of 1,200, including prominent men of the sports, religious, political, business, professional, military, and judicial world, turned out for the 11th annual Catholic Youth organization dinner last night in the Palmer House.

Among the speakers introduced by Toastmaster Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, were Federal Judge William J. Campbell; Elmer Layden, president of the National Football league; Sheldon Clark, president of the Navy League of America and chairman of the Illinois Athletic commission, and Lt. Comm. Carl G. Olson, head of the naval flight selection board.

Others in attendance included Charles Bidwill, vice president of Sportsman's Park and owner of the Chicago Cardinals; Lynn Waldorf, football coach at Northwestern; Roger Whalen, former inspector of the Illinois Athletic commission; Rube Metz, fight judge, and Martin H. Kennelley.

Judge Praises C. Y. O. Program.

Judge Campbell, former attorney and adviser for the C. Y. O., told the audience that the sports program directed by the Most. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, head of the C. Y. O., emphasizes the ideals of democracy.

Judge Campbell spoke lightly of the fact that fish had been served as the main course instead of corned beef and cabbage, for which the dinner was named when originated in 1932. But, he said, those in attendance would be more glad to pay $5 a plate for hardtack and water in order to help Bishop Sheil continue his work for the benefit of needy youth.

Proceeds to Help Needy.

Proceeds of the dinner, estimated at more than $2,500 will be used for juvenile welfare.

Layden emphasized that Bishop Sheil has created loyalty and teamwork among the boys under his jurisdiction, declaring these are two of the factors which keep alive patriotism in the land.

Conditions for 2 W. W. G. A. Events Named

The Women's Western Golf association yesterday released the conditions for its two 1943 competitions, the Open tournament, to be played at the Glen Oak Country club from June 28 thru July 2, and the Amateur event, to be decided over the Evanston Golf club course, from Aug. 9 thru Aug. 14.

The Open already has attracted a field of national caliber, with such assured entries as Betty Jameson of Mexico City, winner of both titles in 1942; Patty Berg of Minneapolis; Mrs. Elizabeth Hicks Newell of Oklahoma City; Mrs. Lucille Robinson Mann of Rapid City, S. D.; Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N. D., and Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich.

Marjorie Row Enters.

Recent entries include those of Marjorie Row of Detroit, Mich., semi-finalist in last year's Open; Phyllis Otto of Omaha, runner-up for the Open crown; Sally Sessions of Muskegon, Mich., and Ann Casey of Mason City, Ia.

Mrs. F. A. Bunte, president of the association, said yesterday that it has purchased a $1,000 war bond and $250 worth of war stamps.

The championship match in each of the tournaments will be decided at 36 holes. The entry fee for each is $5. Entries for the Open should be sent to Mrs. K. T. Piper, 581 Turner avenue, Glen Ellyn, Ill., and for the Amateur to Mrs. R. W. Keeton, 5555 Sheridan road.

Award Miley Trophy.

The Marion Miley trophy, donated by Mrs. Howard Raymond as a memorial to the late Kentucky star, originally was directed to the winner of the W. W. G. A. Derby tournament. Since this has been suspended for 1943, the trophy will be awarded to that competitor who has combined low gross score for the qualifying rounds of the Open and Amateur tournaments.

On the home club side the W. W. G. A. is recommending a series of six low net events for home clubs; the W. W. G. A. Par Trophy competition, set for Aug. 24, and two-day, 36 hole medal play events for juniors, recommended for decision in July.

TRAFTON WILL HANDLE JOYCE 5 MORE YEARS

Willie Joyce, 1937 Chicagoland Golden Gloves featherweight champion, who is one of three boxers to beat Henry Armstrong since the former world title holder opened a comeback last June, has signed a new five year management contract with George Trafton, it was reported las night.

The new agreement will clear the way for Joyce's return bout with Armstrong in Los Angeles June 26, it was said. Willie's backers denied he would be unable to go thru with the impending encore because of possible induction into the army.

10,000 Already Discharged.

Rengley stated approximately 10,000 Illinois men have been discharged from army service. About half of these, he said, are suffering with some type of disability. The governor's committee seeks to give medical aid to these ex-soldiers and also to help them find employment.

The appeal was indorsed by Maj. Ednyfed Williams, chairman of the Illinois Racing board, and the other members, William Fay and Frank Mandel. Track operators indicated the appeal would receive favorable action.

Firemen Seek Second Victory Against Bendas

The Chicago Firemen will be out for their second victory of the 1943 semi-pro season Sunday when they invade Berywn to battle the Benda Coals.

36 TEAMS TO OPEN TENPIN MEET FRIDAY

Doubles Competition to Run Three Days.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

A full entry of 36 teams will start competition in the Auditorium Theater Service Men's center Friday afternoon for the national doubles bowling title tourney that completes the cycle of match game events. The tournament will run three days, winding up Sunday night when the two-man championship team is awarded first prize of $600 plus diamond medals.

This tournament, new in tenpin competition, will be sponsored by the Bowling Proprietors Association of America, which annually coöperates with the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in sponsorship of the All-Star singles tournament. The All-Star tournament is the event which produced Connie Schwoegler of Madison, Wis., as title holder last December.

Schwoegler Seeks Crown.

Schwoegler will likewise battle for the doubles crown, paired with Billy Sixty of Milwaukee. Among the more competent opponents he will face, however, is Ned Day, deposed last fall as singles title holder, who will be paired with young Rudy Pugel of Milwaukee. Day, recently discharged from the navy, opened his comeback campaign this week by winning the spring Petersen singles classic and $3,000 in a field of 640 stars in Detroit.

Each of the 36 teams will roll 12 games across the 12 alleys on Friday, six in the afternoon and six in the evening. Total pins will determine the survivors from this group. Saturday's field will be made up of three squads, each containing six teams and each of which will conduct a round robin of three game matches within itself. The two leading teams of each squad at the end of Saturday's play qualify for Sunday's finals. Sunday's play also will operate on the round robin plan.

Six Prizes Offered.

The six teams reaching the finals also will get into the prize money. Second prize will be $400; third, $300; fourth, $200; fifth, $175, and sixth, $125.

Latest entries in the event are John Kelly-Charley Wass and Walter Freitag-Adam Plunge, both of Chicago; Ben Rose-C. Martinson, Philadelphia; Phil Bauman-Jerry Howard, Detroit; Charles Daw-Harry Harris, Milwaukee, and Charles Lausche-Norman Gehring, Cleveland.

All proceeds of the tournament will be turned over to the service men's bowling center.

The Goranson 20 Alleys last night captured the Congress Ladies Classic Bowling league championship by winning two straight games from the Budweiser girls after the two teams ended the season tied for first place last Wednesday. The Goransons shot 919 and 960 while the Budweisers counted games of 810 and 805. Carrie Enders shot games of 232 and 208 for the champions. Tonight the league will hold its annual sweepstakes at the Congress recreations when the Goransons will be presented their team trophy.

Schurz Bowler New President of Preps' Club

Bill Farrell, 4109 Kedvale avenue, a pupil at Schurz, was elected president of the Chicago High School Bowling club at a meeting of the club secretaries' council yesterday in the Medinah club. He succeeds Jim Hayden of Crane Tech. Other officers are Estelle Kronenthal of Roosevelt, vice president; Norma Van Brussel, Fenger, secretary, and Otto Hausknecht, Farragut, treasurer. The club will end its season's activities with a dinner dance at the Columbia Yacht club May 23.

Bill Farrell.

Monarch Beers, Classic league leaders, meet Meister Brau on the latter's home alleys at Bowling Lanes in tonight's final set of matches. The Joseph L. Gills, winners of the first half title, who are trailing the Monarchs by a game, oppose the Budweisers at Cascade. Other games match the U. S. Beers vs. Ambrosias at Archer-Kedzie, Washingtons vs. Thompsons at Hyde Park, and Primas vs. Schlitz at Stack & Ryan's.

Chicago Recreation took the South End Traveling league title by winning the odd game of its three game series with Rheingolds—with whom the winners had been tied going into the final three game match.

TWO GAMES TO OPEN SOFTBALL PLAY TOMORROW

Parichy Bloomer Girls, Rheingolds, Tungsten Sparks and Benda Co-eds are ready to make a strong bid for the victory trophy against the favored Rock-Ola Music Maids and Gold Crowns in the annual spring tournament of the Metropolitan Chicago Girls Major Softball league, starting tomorrow night in Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets. Two games will be played each evening, starting at 7:45, for four nights. The tourney is a double elimination affair, with all profits going to the service men's centers.

PHILLIPS STAR TO SEEK 2 TITLES IN STATE TRACK

Young Has Strong Foes in Dash and Hurdles.

The core of any track meet is individual stars and the 49th annual Illinois state interscholastic would seem to have more than its share judging by performances in the district meets last week-end.

At the head of the class of '43, which will take part in the state event Friday and Saturday in the University of Illinois' Memorial stadium in Champaign, is Claude Young, a nimble Negro lad from Chicago's Wendell Phillips High school.

Young, an unusually fast starter, probably could win any one of four events in Saturday's finals, but the rule restricting a competitor to two events and the relay will slow him up.

Entered in 100, Low Hurdles.

Young won three titles and finished in a dead heat in one other event in the Chicago meet which furnishes the city's state interscholastic qualifiers, and stands a good chance of winning any two of these events in Champaign. According to the entries filed in the Illinois High School association office, Young will compete in the 100 yard dash and 200 yard low hurdles.

This probably was a difficult decision for his coach to make. In the district meet, Young topped the state with his 23 seconds flat in the low hurdles; was second to La Salle-Peru's Eddie Bray with the same time in the 220 yard dash; tied for second with his teammate, Ranis Thomas, in finishing the 100 in a dead heat in 10.2, and was third among the broad jumpers at 21 feet 11 inches.

Young's staunchest competition in Champaign is expected to come from Thomas, who also finished second to him in the Chicago 220, and Don Sellett of Charleston, who covered the century in 10.1 for the fastest time in the district activity. Sellett also contributed a 23.2 in the 220 to rate a tie for the fourth fastest time in that event.

Kewanee Has a Standout.

Another sprinter who ranks among the best in the field is Kewanee's Eddie Tunnicliff, who also had a 23.2 in the 220 and rated second in the broad jump to Jim Holland of Rock Island with a 23 feet ½ inch effort.

A pair of rival hurdlers may give Young trouble. They are John Moake of West Frankfort, who skipped over the high sticks in the state's best time of 15.4 and tied Don Shuman of Morrison, the other contender, for second to the Chicago flyer in the lows with 23.4. Shuman scissored over the highs in 15.4 to finish second to Moake.

Probably the only other competitor with a chance of placing in two events is Chet [The Hefty] Haufe of York High of Elmhurst. His heave of 50 feet 10½ inches in the shot was the best the district meets had to offer and his 135 feet 9 inches in the discus was good for fifth in that field.

Official top ranking performances of the 15 districts and Chicago meet are:

Catholic Softball League.
All games postponed.

The 15th annual Lake county track meet, scheduled for yesterday at Lake Forest High school, was postponed because of rain and the meet will start at 3:45 o'clock this afternoon. Highland Park High, which has captured the title 14 straight times, will defend its championship.

Other contestants will be Barrington, Antioch, Lake Forest, Libertyville, and Waukegan. Waukegan is the favorite to dethrone Highland Park because of its fine showing in the Evanston district qualifying meet last Saturday when it finished third behind Evanston and New Trier.

There will be 13 events from which the teams' points will be counted. In addition there will be a special frosh-soph relay. This is the first interscholastic meet held in Lake Forest since the college eliminated its annual invitational meet from its sports schedule.

Seventeen postponements yesterday in the City High School Baseball league brought the number of games to be played off to 24. Another game may be added pending decision on the disputed forfeit awarded Chicago Vocational over Hyde Park last Friday in a mixup on the playing site of the game. Thirteen games are on today's card.

Weather permitting, two of the league's three undefeated teams, Lane Tech in the north section and Bowen in the south, will play. Lane Tech will be gunning for its ninth 1943 victory and 89th straight in north section competition when it opposes third place Schurz in Kilbourne park. Schurz has won six of its eight league games.

Bowen, defending south section champion and runnerup to Harrison Tech for last year's title, has rushed thru seven of its sectional opponents and figures to wallop Chicago Vocational, one of the new members of the league. Vocational has won one of its six sectional games played.

Steinmetz, league champion in 1941, will seek its seventh west section victory in eight games and a tighter grip on first place in the sectional race when it plays Austin in Riis park. Kelvyn Park, tied for second place with Crane, each having five victories and two defeats, meets Washburne in Humboldt park. Crane, the defending sectional titleholder, is idle.

For the second night in a row the Catholic Softball league was forced to postpone its triple header scheduled for St. Philip stadium, Van Buren street and Kedzie avenue. The league will resume its regular schedule Friday and play off the postponements at a later date.

BASEBALL PAIRINGS

Oak Park, Peoria Central, Bloomington, and Belleville will be sites of the four sectional baseball tournaments to pick the four finalists for the Illinois state high school baseball tournament in Peoria June 4 and 5, it was announced yesterday by Albert Willis, secretary of the Illinois High school association.

A list of 65 schools will be divided over 16 district tournaments which open the second annual affair next week, with the winners advancing to the four team sectional meets to be held the following week.

Pairings for the sectional and final tournaments are:

SECTIONALS.

AT BELLEVILLE—Winner at Dupo vs. winner at Taylorville, winner at Belleville vs. winner at Staunton.

AT OAK PARK—Winner at Oak Park vs. winner at Wheaton, winner at Blue Island vs. winner at Waukegan.

AT BLOOMINGTON—Winner at Clifton vs. winner at Kenney, winner at Bloomington vs. winner at Cornell.

FINALS.

ATPEORIA [Manual]—Winner at Belleville vs. winner at Bloomington, winner at Oak Park vs. winner at Peoria Central.

880 Champ

Big Ten 880 May Decide Meet Winner

finished fifth in the conference indoor mile.

To complicate the situation further, John Jones of Ohio State defeated the Michigan half milers last Saturday, altho he did no better than fourth in the indoor conference race. The half mile Saturday is particularly important to the team title aspirations of Illinois and Michigan since each point taken away from one by the other will have double value.

Matthews Best of Lot.

Matthews still must be considered the best of the half milers if for no other reason than his great race in the National Collegiate last year, when he bettered 1:52 altho finishing fourth. But Matthews did not run in the N. C. A. A. mile, as he probably must Saturday.

The mile opens the conference program at 2:30 o'clock, an hour before the half mile race. Forty-five minutes before the half mile, the 440 yard race will be decided and Michigan certainly will start Ufer. Bob Kelley of Illinois, of course, will run against Ufer and thus both will be handicapped for the subsequent half mile. Ralph Pohland of Minnesota and Don Quellor of Indiana are other conference half milers who may score Saturday afternoon.

The battle between Kelley and Ufer for the 440 yard title will be one of the features of the meet. Despite his great running indoors, Ufer never has been a standout performer outdoors. In his sophomore year he was beaten by Roy Cochran of Indiana and last spring Ohio State's Russ Owen ran a 48 8-10 second quarter to whip Ufer.

Trials will be held in nine events Friday afternoon starting at 3 o'clock.

EIGHT TEAMS TO BID FOR BIG TEN TENNIS TITLES

Eight teams, five of them regarded as championship contenders, are entered in the Big Ten conference tennis meet, which opens at 10 a. m. tomorrow on the Northwestern university courts in Evanston and will continue thru Saturday. The only conference members not entered are Iowa and Indiana, both of whose terms already have been completed.

Northwestern, winner of the team championship the last two years; Illinois, the only undefeated team in the Big Ten this season; Ohio State, Michigan, and Chicago, all are considered as title contenders. Purdue, Wisconsin and Minnesota also have entered full teams.

Wasserman Is Undefeated.

Bob Wasserman, Ohio State sophomore from Stamford, Conn., is the leading candidate for the individual championship. He is undefeated in the conference this spring and won the New York Metropolitan Junior tournament in 1941. All members of the Buckeye team are in their first season of varsity competition, Wasserman and Aris Franklin being sophomores and Bob Samson and Alex Franklin freshmen.

Illinois, whose 5 to 4 victory over Ohio State was the only defeat suffered by the Buckeyes in dual meet competition, has a well balanced team, headed by Jim Lathrop, who will be the Illini No. 1 singles entrant.

Downs Helps Wildcats.

Capt. Bob Goodkind, a senior, is the only holdover from the Northwestern team which won its second straight Big Ten championship last spring. Seymour Greenberg, twice winner of the individual title, and Harrie Hall have been graduated, while Bobby Jake, who paired with Greenberg to win the doubles crown a year ago, is in military service. However, Roger Downs, who was outstanding as a freshman at Illinois, now is on the Wildcat team, having been assigned to Northwestern when he enlisted in the navy air force. He has lost only to Wasserman in conference matches this spring.

Chicago, usually a strong contender for the Big Ten championship, again will be a bidder but possibly not so dangerous as last season, when the Maroons tied with Michigan for second place in the team competition and Hal Sawyer won the singles title. Sawyer has been graduated and Walter Michael, one of the best players in the conference, entered military service in midseason.

WEATHER HALTS PURDUE 4TH TIME; MAY PLAY TODAY

Lafayette, Ind., May 11 [Special]. —Purdue's baseball squad, stalemated by the weather for the last week, doesn't know where it will play tomorrow—if at all. Today's return game with Wabash was halted and was the fourth straight game to be stymied by wet grounds.

In the event that the diamond is in shape at Collegeville, the Boilermakers will face St. Joseph there tomorrow. However, if the St. Joseph field is unplayable, and conditions are favorable here, the Boilermakers will make a home appearance against Wabash.

Provided it is impossible to play at either of the sites, the Boilermakers will wait for a chance to open their Big Ten campaign against Illinois at Champaign on Friday and Saturday.

to see him report. But he has our best offer, just as many other Cubs had when they signed on time."

From Brooklyn today came rumors that the Dodgers are preparing to offer Ducky Medwick, a pitcher and cash for Novikoff and Shortstop Lennie Merullo. Unless Branch Rickey, new president of the Dodgers, has suddenly changed his ideas about the proper traffic direction of large sized sums of money, it is not thought in the Cub camp that anything attractive could be devised out of a deal involving Merullo.

A swap in which Novikoff and Medwick would be the only players involved might have some merit, it was said.

RAMS ELEVEN ISN'T FOR SALE —THAT'S FINAL

Army Air Corps Officers to Retain Control.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The Cleveland Rams are not for sale, Chile Walsh, civilian representative of the co-owners who are in the United States air corps, declared last night in Chicago.

Walsh made this statement after talking to Lt. Dan Reeves, major stockholder of the Rams, whose National Football league franchise was frozen for 1943 at the league meeting last month in Chicago. Lt. Reeves is stationed at Rome Air depot in Rome, N. Y.

The newest hub-bub over the Cleveland club was created when Ted Collins, manager of Kate Smith, told reporters in Los Angeles that he had made a bid for the franchise. Earlier, a New York report hinted that Lt. Reeves and his partner, Maj. Fred Levy Jr., also in the air force, were of a mind to get the club off their hands.

Chile Is Nettled.

"The Cleveland franchise is not for sale," said Walsh firmly, obviously nettled by these reports. "The present owners plan to be in the league for a long time and anyone making an offer is only wasting his time."

Walsh explained that Lt. Reeves and Maj. Levy have studiously avoided making any statements regarding the Cleveland club. Because of military rules, they are not allowed to publicly discuss private affairs, said Walsh.

Walsh's Job Is Good.

When the Rams get back in circulation their coach, according to the statement of another Ram civilian representative, Percy Cowan, Chicago investment broker, will be Walsh. Chile was hired to succeed Dutch Clark as the Rams' coach shortly before the recent league meeting. Walsh formerly was assistant to Coach Jim Conzelman of the Cardinals.

NOT the least of El Producto's qualities is the economy of smoking it. Not a puff is wasted; you have its cheerful, real enjoyment right down to the fingertips.

NOTHING contributes more to cheerfulness on any job than the real enjoyment of smoking a fine cigar. The demand for El Producto is great and, in these days of shortages, often exceeds the supply.

Don't let it get you down if you cannot always get El Producto in the size you want. Remember, you are sharing cheerfulness with the lads in the Services.

LATE RECOVERY CHECKS DECLINE IN STOCK PRICES

Turnover Drops Below 2 Million Mark.

New York, May 11 (AP).—Stocks turned lower today, altho many early losses running to a point or more were reduced and scattered gains were shown at the close.

Further profits were cashed in the morning on the theory the list may have discounted the African victory. Selling never was heavy, however, and a revival of bidding for some of the favorites eventually stemmed the slide.

Most of the recently rising low priced utility issues were stalemated. Rails, coppers, motors, mail orders, and aircrafts were lower.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 0.2 at 50.7. Transfers of 1,788,335 shares compared with 2,515,490 yesterday. It was the first five four trading day since April 30 in which the total was under the 2 million mark.

Stock exchange figures released after the close revealed that the short interest on April 30 amounted to 882,376 shares, largest since June 30, 1938, and compared with 774,871 shares March 31. The fact these "shorts" eventually must "cover," or rebuy, indicated to analyists that the market was "healthy."

RAIL BONDS DIP AGAIN.

New York, May 11 (AP).—For the second successive session railroad bonds retreated today under active profit taking, and closing losses ranged from fractions to about a point. Industrial liens were steady and utilities were a shade lower on the average.

The Associated Press rail average dropped 0.5 and the two day decline carried the composite sharply under Saturday's peak.

United States government loans showed minor changes in the outside market, but on the stock exchange treasury 2¾ of 1959-'56 were quoted about 1¼ points higher.

CHICAGO LIST IS UNEVEN.

Prices were uneven on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Turnover amounted to 45,000 shares in 130 issues, of which 41 closed higher, 59 lower, and 30 unchanged. Central and South West Utilities, the volume leader, advanced ⅛ to a new 1943 high at 1¼. Midland United A preferred was active and ½ point higher.

Studebaker Plant Gets Army-Navy 'E' Award

Thousands of employés of the Studebaker corporation participated yesterday in ceremonies at the southwest side aviation engine plant for the award of the army-navy "E" for excellence in war production. The presentation was made by Lt. Col. Edward H. Bowman, air supervisor for the army air forces. The award was accepted by Paul G. Hoffman, Studebaker president, and Bert Fowler, plant manager.

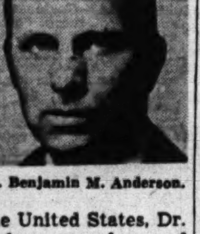
WORLD MONEY PLANS BLASTED AS BRITISH AID

U. S. to Get Burden, Says Economist.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 11 [Special].—The Morgenthau and Keynes post-war money stabilization proposals are discreditable British efforts to save England from financial embarrassment after the war and unload insolvent nations' burdens upon the United States, Dr. Benjamin M. Anderson, professor of economics at the University of California at Los Angeles, said here tonight.



Dr. Benjamin M. Anderson.

Dr. Anderson, who for many years was associated with Chase National bank in New York as economist, discussed the stabilization proposals before the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Plans Are Described.

The plans are those proposed recently, and separately, by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. and John Maynard Keynes, British economist. They differ in details, but would create an international bank, fund, or clearing union, the resources of which would be contributed by the stabilization funds or central banks of member countries and would be used to stabilize the currencies of various nations and keep them in a fixed relation to each other.

The Morgenthau plan would create a new international money unit, the "unitas," in which the bank's accounts would be kept. Keynes would call the new unit a "bancor."

Dr. Anderson asserted both are British plans, and that they have "hidden purposes" which were "swallowed whole" by the Morgenthau or United States treasury plan.

Tells of Hidden Purposes.

One hidden purpose, he said, is to create an international fund or pool into which Britain can pour "bad" money, such as francs, lire, and drachmas, to liquidate in full her dollar and sterling obligations so that she can have her trade profits clear of risk.

Dr. Anderson said another purpose is to relieve England of the burden of repaying to the rightful owners the vast amounts of capital now frozen in England but belonging to men and institutions in foreign countries.

"Without this relief, England will be hard pressed after the war, an embarrassed debtor rather than a powerful creditor," he said. "Keynes is proposing to transform Britain from a very embarrassed debtor to a strong and aggressive creditor, at the expense of the United States.

"If this frozen debt can be put into the international bank, and England given more than 23 years, as in the Morgenthau plan, to pay it off, she is relieved of the burden. The creditors of the fund would bear the burden, and the United States would be the chief creditor of the fund."

"By What Right?" He Asks.

Under the plans the foreign countries and individuals with gold and other balances frozen in England could not get back their gold or convert other frozen funds into sterling, but would receive unitas or bancors which would be usable in paying for international purchases. The same would apply to frozen funds or refugee gold in America.

"By what right could the United

Allied Stores Profit, Sales Reach Peaks

Sales and earnings for the fiscal year ended with January were the largest in the history of Allied Stores corporation, which operates the biggest department store chain in the country, B. Earl Puckett, president, yesterday said in his annual report.

The sales of $170,828,164 represented an increase of 12.5 per cent over the $151,808,858 volume in the preceding year. Consolidated net profit after providing 8½ million dollars for federal taxes was $5,681,428, equivalent to $2.50 a common share after preferred dividends. The previous peak earnings were $5,294,258, or $2.27 a common share, in the preceding fiscal year, after deducting 4.2 millions for federal taxes. The 1942-43 profit was after absorbing a $1,396,756 loss on the sale of two parcels of real estate.

Cash Rises 10 Millions.

Puckett said that cash of $13,774,875 was more than 10 million dollars larger than at the beginning of the year and was equivalent to 94 per cent of total current liabilities. Current assets were $54,277,927 and current liabilities were $14,664,342, compared with $50,881,163 and $20,315,750, respectively, on Jan. 31, 1942.

Among other earnings reported by corporations were:

HUDSON MOTOR—Net income of domestic and Canadian subsidiaries for the first quarter of 1943 was $503,225, or 31 cents a share, after all charges, including provision of $300,000 for losses on tool account, $400,000 for other contingencies, and $608,910 for federal income tax.

For the first quarter last year the company reported net income of $201,195, or 13 cents a share.

Sales Are Increased.

GENERAL AIRLINE—First quarter net sales of this peace time producer of coal tar* dyes and photographic products rose to $12,841,000 from $10,886,000 a year ago. Profit before taxes was placed at $2,928,000, against $2,383,000 the first quarter of last year.

WESTERN UNION—This company reported March quarter earnings of $1,233,465, equal to $1.18 a common share, compared with $1,313,570, or $1.25 a share, a year ago.

The company said that no liability for excess profits taxes was indicated, but that provision of $765,000 was made for federal income taxes in the first quarter, compared with $619,000 a year ago. Gross operating revenues for the period amounted to $34,968,252, against $29,463,034.

VALVE FACTORY TIED UP IN CIO OFFICER LAY-OFF

Akron, O., May 11 (AP).—A work stoppage by 600 CIO United Steel Workers today halted production at the Pittsburgh Valve and Fitting division of the Pitcairn company at nearby Barberton, after six union officers and committeemen were laid off for one to two weeks.

Lester D. Seymour, plant manager, said disciplinary action was taken yesterday against the six union leaders, asserting they kept 50 workers from entering the plant while conducting a union dues check-up "in spite of the fact this is an open shop."

G. O. P. IN HOUSE FIGHTS TO CURB TREATY POWER

Use of Spangler's Letter a Surprise.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 11.—House Republicans continued their drive today for drastic limitations in the administration's trade agreements program.

Swinging into the last day of general debate on legislation to extend the program for another three years, the G. O. P. members assailed the existing treaties on the ground that they failed to accomplish their original objectives of world peace and prosperity. And they warned their colleagues that the nation is being pushed gradually on to a free trade basis against its will or the intent of congress.

Spangler's Letter Read.

The Republicans' position was jarred by introduction of a letter written by Harrison E. Spangler, chairman of the G. O. P. national committee. Read into the record by Rep. Joseph Clark Baldwin [R., N. Y.], the letter expressed Spangler's personal opposition to changes in the treaty arrangements "at least during the war and for some time thereafter."

This is contrary to the stand of the Republican membership which is striving for adoption of a series of limiting amendments. The most important is a stipulation that congress shall have power to exercise its constitutional prerogative to review and approve or disapprove agreements made with foreign governments by the executive branch. The Republican national committee later issued a statement in which Spangler described the letter to Baldwin a purely personal.

Represents Silk Stocking Area.

Rep. Baldwin, who is silver-haired with a weakness for tweeds and severe collars, represents Manhattan's silk stocking district and numbers among his constituents many of the Atlantic seaboard's wealthy and socially élite.

"I support the traditional policy of our party in reference to reciprocal trade as initiated by Blaine, McKinley, and President Taft," the G. O. P. chairman wrote. "Their ideas, as I understand it, of reciprocal trade agreements, were based on a reasonable protective tariff as a background. On the other hand, many of the reciprocal trade agreements as initiated by Mr. Hull and Vice President Wallace entirely lose track of the idea of protection by basing their treaties on the idea of free trade."

Says Pacts Failed of Goal.

"A real investigation as to the trade agreements made by Mr. Hull from 1935 to the outbreak of the war indicates many of them were not helpful and they certainly did not have one of the results proclaimed by their sponsor, the preservation of peace thruout the world. Since the outbreak of the war, with trade practically eliminated, the subject of these treaties has become a moot question and it is my personal opinion that with the situation as it is, we should not attempt to disturb them, at least during the war and some time thereafter."

Among those who argued for an amendment giving power to congress to review the treaties within 90 days was Rep. Ralph Church [R., Ill], who declared that nothing would be more encouraging to the American people than to see their legislators reassert their authority under the constitution.

"It behooves us to demonstrate to the world that democracy actually exists and functions successfully in our republican form of government," said Church.

Morrell Loan, Utility Shares Go on Market

The first public financing in its 116 years in the packing business will be undertaken today by John Morrell & Co., Ottumwa, Ia., thru the offering of $7,500,000 15 year 3 per cent debentures. The issue is priced at 99 and accrued interest from May 1. Proceeds will be used to retire $5,350,000 in long term bank loans and to increase working capital.

The underwriting group is headed by A. G. Becker & Co., and includes Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; First Boston corporation; Lehman Brothers; Smith, Barney & Co.; Hallgarten & Co.; Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co.; Merrill Lynch; Pierce, Fenner & Beane; Central Republic company; Harris, Hall & Co.; Lee Higginson corporation, and the Wisconsin company.

More Morgan Stock Sold.

Morgan Stanley & Co. and Smith, Barney & Co. offered 2,420 shares of J. P. Morgan & Co. capital stock yesterday at $203 a share, less $3 a share commission to dealers. The origin of the stock was not disclosed. It was the second public offering of Morgan bank stock since the death of J. P. Morgan on March 13, the same firms having sold 18,750 shares on April 8.

A group headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. was awarded a $5,300,000 issue of New York Central railroad 2 per cent equipment trust certificates, due June 1, 1944, thru 1953, on a bid of 99.27, which was only 9 cents a $1,000 bond above the second bid of $99.27, submitted by First of Boston corporation and associates. The certificates are being reoffered at prices to yield 0.875 to 2.30 per cent, according to maturity.

Utility Shares Offered.

Offering will be made today of 242,664 shares of Houston Lighting and Power company no par common stock by a group of underwriters headed by Smith, Barney & Co., Lazard Freres & Co., and Blyth & Co. Their purchase of the stock at competitive bidding was approved by the SEC yesterday.

The stock was purchased from National Power and Light company for $51.85 per share. National proposes to apply the proceeds to retirement of its $6 preferred stock.

3 TESTIFY THEY BOUGHT BONDS ON FALSE STORY

New York, May 11 (AP).—Three witnesses testified in federal court today that they bought Wisconsin Central railway bonds on information supplied by John W. Hession, one of three men charged in a 30 count indictment with mail fraud, violation of the securities exchange act and conspiracy.

Hession, a financial analyst, of Teaneck, N. J., is on trial with Arnold R. and Sven Wellmer Hanson, of New York, brothers and securities dealers. All are accused of manipulating the price of Wisconsin Central Railway company's Superior and Duluth division bonds by means of false rumors concerning their future values.

The first government witness was Howard S. Harris, Boston, Mass., securities dealer. The other witnesses were Maurice A. Bowers of Portland, Me., and William Sundheimer of New York.

SENATORS AGREE ON BILL TO SELL HOARDED SILVER

Washington, D. C., May 11 (AP).—With four members from silver states concurring, the senate banking committee approved unanimously today a bill authorizing the sale of treasury held silver for domestic purposes at 71.11 cents an ounce.

The committee's action represented a compromise between views of the so-called silver bloc and New England senators who have sought release of treasury silver at 50 cents an ounce for manufacturing purposes.

NLRB REVERSES SELF ON UNION FOR FOREMEN

Held Improper Unit for Bargaining.

Washington, D. C., May 11 (AP).—The national labor relations board, reversing an earlier decision, refused today to recognize unions of supervisory employés as appropriate collective bargaining units.

The 2 to 1 decision was made in the case of Maryland Drydock company, Baltimore, and the CIO Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers. It overruled the board's decision of last June 15 in the Union Collieries company case.

Dangers Outweigh Gains.

In rejecting the CIO union's petitions either to merge the supervisory employés with the existing contractual unit of production employés or establish separate units, the board majority said:

"We are now persuaded that the benefits which supervisory employés might achieve thru being certified as collective bargaining units would be outweighed not only by the dangers inherent in the commingling of management and employé functions, but also in its possible restrictive effect upon the organizational freedom of rank and file employés.

"We are of the opinion that in the present stage of industrial administration and employé self-organization, the establishment of bargaining units composed of supervisors exercising substantial managerial authority will impede the processes of collective bargaining, disrupt established managerial and production techniques, and militate against effectuation of the policies of the act."

New Member's Vote Counts.

There has been a change in the membership of the board since last June's decision. Gerard D. Reilly, who cast the minority vote then, wrote the majority opinion today and was joined by John M. Houston, new member of the board and former United States representative from Kansas.

Chairman Harry A. Millis said in a separate opinion:

"While I agree with some of the observations and conclusions contained in the majority opinion, I emphatically reject others, also the general position that without regard to organizational setup and relationships, petitions for 'foremen's' units will not be entertained and acted upon by this board."

Doesn't Bar Unionization.

In the Union Collieries case last year the majority members were Millis and William M. Leiserson, who left the board a few months ago to return to the national [railway] mediation board.

The Maryland Drydock decision does not prohibit organizations of supervisory employés, nor does it prohibit employers from bargaining with such units, but the employer may refuse to bargain and the board will not order him to do so.

The decision, for example, would not prohibit the coal operators from granting the current demands of the United Mine Workers for a contract covering the mine supervisory employés, but the board would not order the operators to meet such demands if the question is officially raised.

Armour Financing Is Step to Merger, Says Eastwood

George A. Eastwood, president of Armour & Co., yesterday sent to the holders of the 7 per cent guaranteed cumulative preferred stock of Armour & Co. of Delaware, the principal subsidiary, a statement in which he said retirement of the stock is desirable as a step toward unification of the subsidiary with the Illinois parent company.

The Delaware company is in the preliminary stages of preparing for issuance of 35 million dollars of 35 year 7 per cent cumulative income debentures which it will first offer to holders of its preferred in exchange on the basis of $100 principal amount of debentures for each share of stock. A registration statement for the debentures was filed with the securities and exchange commission April 30. The parent company guarantees the dividends and principal of the subsidiary's preferred.

Says Merger Is Desirable.

"The purpose of this letter is to inform you of plans which, altho not completed, are under way, and in which the company desires to afford you an opportunity to participate," Eastwood wrote.

"The advantages to be derived from the unification of your company [Armour of Delaware] with the owner of all of its common stock, Armour & Co., an Illinois corporation, have long been recognized. To accomplish this it is desirable ultimately to retire all of the $52,358,100 par value of the 7 per cent guaranteed cumulative preferred stock [of the Delaware subsidiary] now outstanding. The board of directors [of the subsidiary] feels that it is advisable to proceed toward these objectives by such steps as may be taken from time to time.

"The plan has progressed to the point where the registration statement has been filed with the securities and exchange commission. It is expected that such registration statement will become effective on or about May 19, 1943."

Will Sell Notes Not Exchanged.

Eastwood said the company intends to make arrangements with underwriters for the purchase by them of such of the 35 million dollar principal amount of debentures as is not taken in exchange for the preferred. The underwriting, with the exchange, will assure retirement of 35 million dollars par value of the preferred, he said. The stock is callable at $110 a share.

May 17 has been tentatively fixed as the record date for determining the preferred holders to whom official notice of the exchange offer and the prospectus will be mailed, Eastwood informed the share owners.

Secret Deals by Insurance Head Charged

Testimony involving the alleged bribes and financial manipulations by which the late Hugh T. Martin, president, acquired control of the Illinois Bankers Life Assurance company, Monmouth, was introduced yesterday in Chicago before Circuit Judge Julius H. Miner at the trial of suits brought by policy holders and the company. The suits seek to collect stock and about $800,000 which, it is charged, were lost to policy holders thru a conspiracy of company officials.

The testimony was contained in the deposition of John P. Nichol of Chicago, who is now in the navy. He was described as Martin's boyhood friend and "man Friday" and was an employé of the life insurance company.

Tells of Chicago Meeting.

Nichol's deposition, introduced by Vernon R. Loucks, Chicago attorney representing the policy holders, described a meeting in the La Salle hotel on Sept. 1, 1929, at which Martin and other officials of the predecessor company were said to have agreed on the plan for the new company and the means by which he was to gain control.

It also told of Martin's agreements to pay sums ranging from $75,000 to $160,000 to certain officials in payment for their consent to his scheme. Loucks introduced as evidence written memorandums promising to pay these sums. Nichol's statement further described the collection of $430,000, which Martin admitted in 1939 before the temporary national economic commission he received as a "kick back" in reinsurance commissions. The predecessor company, an assessment organization, was reinsured by the present company in 1929.

Defendants All Dead.

Defendants include the estate of Martin, who died in November, 1941, and the estates of William H. Woods, president of the old company, and Arthur T. Sawyer, secretary of the present company, both of whom died last July. Martin was replaced as president prior to his death.

Edward R. Johnston, Chicago attorney representing the company, said the litigation is in no way connected with the current operations of the company. The trial is expected to require several weeks.

BYRNES RELAXES PAY PEG FOR PROCESSORS OF PERISHABLE FOODS

Washington, D. C., May 11 (AP).—To prevent loss of perishable foods thru inability of processors to obtain adequate seasonal labor, Economic Director James F. Byrnes today authorized wage adjustments by canners and other processors.

Recommended by the war labor board, the adjustments will permit correction of substandard wage conditions, the maintenance of intraplant differentials, and restoration of usual wage relationships between the food processing industries and agriculture.

Any adjustments which would cause a price increase or be used to resist a justifiable price decrease can become effective only with Byrnes' approval and no adjustments may exceed minimum going rates for unskilled labor prevailing in the particular area affected.

YELLOW CAB'S EARNINGS RUN ABOVE 1942 RATE

Earnings of the Chicago Yellow Cab company thus far in 1943 are running slightly ahead of last year, Benjamin Samuels, president, said yesterday at the annual meeting of stockholders in New York. He added that unless there is an abnormal increase in taxes, stockholders may expect a continuance of last year's dividend payments.

A large merchandising organization, Gimbel Brothers, is experiencing a sales volume 22 per cent ahead of last year, with profits "decidedly better," President Bernard F. Gimbel said at the annual meeting in New York.

"The improvement is likely to continue during the next three months," he added.

DEMAND WORK FREEZE END IN CALUMET AREA

Virkus to Put Case Before WMC.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 11.—The Illinois legislative committee on small business today issued a report demanding that the Calumet area be removed from the "critical" labor classification by the war man power commission, and announced that Rep. Fred A. Virkus [R., La Grange], committee chairman, would go to Washington, D. C., to press the demand.

Fred A. Virkus.

The committee also demanded that Chicago proper and the Chicago Heights and Harvey areas be returned to the category for which no man power shortage is expected soon.

WMC Is Contradicted.

At hearings held by the legislators representatives of organized labor and business joined in condemning the WMC actions.

"Testimony by the WMC in support of its order is not conclusive," the report said, "and it has been successfully challenged by rebuttal testimony. The man power shortage in the Chicago metropolitan area is not acute at this time."

The committee report cited testimony by Francis B. Murphy, state director of labor, in which he protested:

"When an area is declared 'critical,' the prospect of eventual job freezing prevents many workers from accepting jobs outside of their usual occupations.

Cites Refusal to Register.

"We know that many people refuse to register with the employment service because they anticipate a labor freeze. Declaring Chicago a 'critical' area will only increase workers' fear of a job freeze."

W. Homer Hartz, management member of the Chicago advisory man power committee, said:

"Intimation that men are to be frozen on their jobs is certain to influence them to move into territory where there is no such threat, thus increasing labor supply where there already is a surplus and lessening the supply where most needed. The war effort will be better served by private hiring than by government controled hiring and the men will be better satisfied and will work more efficiently."

Lack of Quorum Delays Milwaukee Road Meeting

Milwaukee, Wis., May 11 (AP).—The annual meeting of stockholders of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad company, scheduled to be held here today, was adjourned because of a lack of a quorum, the company announced.

SENATOR CALLS BALL CLUB HEAD TO LOAN INQUIRY

Revealed as President of Finance Chain.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 11.—Sen. Nicholas L. Hubbard [D., Mount Pulaski], chairman of the special senate committee to investigate operations of small loan companies in Illinois, announced today he would call Don Barnes, St. Louis, president of the St. Louis Browns, and two other St. Louis men for testimony at a hearing next week.

Hubbard's announcement followed a meeting of the committee at which a detailed analysis of the American Investment company of Illinois [a Delaware corporation] and its subsidiaries was presented by Gertrude M. Coogan, Chicago securities analyst.

Barnes Heads Company.

Barnes is listed as president of the American Investment Company of Illinois in the report given by Miss Coogan. D. B. Lichtenstein is listed as executive vice president, and J. L. Denny as secretary treasurer. All three will be asked to appear next week, Hubbard said.

The same three men are listed in the Coogan report as officers of the Public Operating corporation which the analyst said is "paid fees for supervisory services and for materials by all the operating subsidiaries running 102 small loan offices in Illinois and 12 other states."

Eight Operate in Illinois.

The eight subsidiary corporations operating in Illinois were listed as being in Chicago, Springfield, Alton, Cairo, East St. Louis, La Salle, Granite City, and Decatur.

The American Investment Company of Illinois, the Coogan report said, lends money to the subsidiary corporations which make small loans, charges subsidiary corporations interest and other various costs and fees, and absorbs the net income of subsidiaries thru cash dividends.

GRAIN MARKETS BREAK ON LATE PROFIT CASHING

Grain prices broke as much as 3 cents a bushel on heavy profit taking yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade after a strong opening had lifted wheat about 1 cent and rye 1⅛ cents. Altho there was some late recovery, wheat futures sustained a net loss of ⅞ to 1¼ cents, and rye closed ⅝ to 1 cent lower. Oats declined ½ to 1⅛ cents. Corn sold unchanged at ceiling prices.

Traders placed a bullish interpretation on a department of agriculture crop estimate late Monday which forecast the smallest winter wheat crop since 1935 and the smallest rye crop since 1936. Buying on the early advance was not heavy, however, and with heavy rains in the last few days in the areas where moisture was needed most many traders took advantage of the early bulge to cash in profits.

A belief that the current outlook was a winter wheat crop larger than the 515 million bushels estimated by the government as of May 1 had much influence in late trading.

HOG PRICES HOLD NEAR PROPOSED CEILING LEVELS

Only mild price fluctuations occurred in the hog market yesterday as most classes sold near the proposed ceiling of $14.50 a hundred pounds. A scattering of selected young butchers weighing 210 to 240 pounds reached the $14.60 top. Early strength was counterbalanced by later weakness, with the average for the session unchanged at $14.45.

The Chicago stock yards on the first two days of this week received 53,400 hogs, including those sent direct to packers, the biggest Monday and Tuesday volume in more than three months.

Despite continued forecasts of lower beef ceilings in retail channels, buyers paid stronger prices for most classes of cattle. Steady prices bought most lambs.

Lincoln Park West Hotel Is Purchased for $340,000

The eleven story Lincoln Park West apartment hotel, at 2136 Lincoln Park West, containing 100 furnished apartments, all occupied, was sold yesterday for a reported $340,000 by the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee, to the BFM Building corporation, of which Charles W. Head, attorney, is president. Edward R. Tiedebohl, attorney for the seller, said $68,000 cash was paid and the balance with a $272,000 purchase money mortgage. Michael J. Schneider was broker.

Edison Institute Groups Discuss War Problems

Engineering committees of the Edison Electric institute are meeting this week in the Edgewater Beach hotel to discuss war problems such as the utilization of curtailed substitute materials and maintenance of operating efficiency. Post war planning also is on the agenda. The institute's annual meeting will be held in New York City on June 3.

BLASTS WORLD MONEY PLANS AS 'AID TO ENGLAND

U. S. to Get Burdens, Says Economist.

States refuse to pay in gold those foreigners who have trusted us with their money?" Dr. Anderson asked. "There is supposed to be a great deal of gold of the Bank of France in the United States. By what right could we withhold it?

"By what right can England withhold the funds which came to her from the sterling bloc which she so encouraged after she left the gold standard?

"The attitude of the Morgenthau and Keynes plans toward 'abnormal' war balances is a very discreditable one. If England cannot pay, let her say so frankly, beg the indulgence of her creditors, and do the best she can. She will find a sympathetic financial world which will make concessions."

Lists Objectionable Items.

Dr. Anderson said the plans have numerous other objectionable features, which he outlined as follows:

They would create a "grotesque" institution which would be managed by the weak borrowers rather than by the few strong supporting nations.

They would not permit America to require the insolvent members to put their houses in order by adopting sound fiscal policies, balancing budgets, levying taxes, and otherwise tightening their belts.

They would create the most powerful instrument of world inflation that could be devised, because they would make credit available to unsound members without charge within certain quotas, and at a discount rate of 1 per cent when quotas were exceeded.

They would give artificial support to foreign currencies without correcting the evils that made the currencies weak, so that bad money would become as good as good money, and good money would become as bad as bad money.

Could Dictate to U. S.

They set up a super-national brain trust which is to think and plan for the world, and tell the governments of the world what to do.

Anderson said the Keynes plan would leave the United States in a hopeless minority in voting power, and that while the Morgenthau proposal provided certain safeguards, the fund or bank could tell congress what to do and congress would be obligated to do it.

Anderson declared that if the United States is to lend to post-war Europe, it should do so as an individual nation and not thru an international institution such as is proposed. Some of the aid should be in the form of charity, he said.

"We must recognize there will be countries so stricken that they will have no credit to buy goods, and that we and other countries which have surpluses must engage in an immense act of charity to help keep them alive," Anderson asserted.

Urges Outright Gifts.

"We should do this by Red Cross methods. We should not call it loans, because we shall not get the money back. We should mark it off our books forthwith. We should limit the amount of it. We should feed the world. We cannot support the world. We can help. In every country, the government should be encouraged to be responsible, and its own people should be expected to do the main job."

In making such gifts, Anderson said, the United States should insist on measures to rehabilitate the internal finances and currencies of the beneficiary nations.

He said the Keynes and Morgenthau plans put international lending in the hands of the debtors. Warning that this would undermine confidence, Anderson said "we must not create a great international financial machinery which will let bankrupts ride with heads high on the shoulders of the solvent."

BUTLER BROTHERS.

Please describe the business of Butler Brothers. What is the company's financial background?—J. H.

Answer: Butler Brothers is the largest wholesale distributor of medium priced dry goods, variety merchandise and general merchandise in the country. This merchandise is supplied to independent retail stores thru 7 wholesale houses operated by the company. Thru a wholly owned subsidiary, Scott-Burr Stores corporation, Butler Brothers has an interest in two retail chain store groups, one consisting of some 120 limited price variety stores located mainly in the Middle West, and the other operating 23 junior department stores in the Southwest.

Another important phase of the company's business is the furnishing of complete merchandising and operating service to two voluntary chains of independently owned stores known as the Ben Franklin Stores and the Federated Stores of America.

Consolidated net sales of Butler Brothers in 1942 totaled $118,472,832, an increase of 14 per cent over 1941 and the largest figure in the company's 65-year history.

A comparison of sales and earnings for the last 5 years follows:

	Net Sales.	Net Income.	Per sh. comm.
1942	$118,472,832	*$1,635,652	$1.10
1941	103,779,576	*2,479,900	1.85
1940	80,887,182	1,065,073	0.59
1939	78,832,199	1,347,749	0.83
1938	74,775,658	718,908	0.27

*After deduction of $600,000 for contingencies and post-war adjustments in 1942 and $400,000 in 1941.

Butler Brothers' capitalization consists of 270,912 shares of $30 par value 5 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock and 1,122,303 shares of $10 par common. Dividends have been paid regularly on the preferred stock since its issuance late in 1936. Common dividends were discontinued from 1931 to 1935, inclusive, after a record of yearly payments since 1887. Payments were resumed in 1936. In 1941 and again in 1942 the company paid 60 cents a share on the common.

Do you want to better your present salary or job? Does your experience or training fit you for one of the above executive positions?

The Chicago branch of a large,
NATION WIDE
organization has several openings for alert, capable young women with executive ability. Most of these positions are PERMANENT
but a few can be arranged for the duration only if the applicant so desires.
YOU SHOULD BE LESS THAN 40 YEARS OF AGE, PREFERABLY 22 TO 35. A GOOD PERSONALITY AND THE ABILITY TO DEAL WISELY AND WELL WITH PEOPLE ARE ESSENTIAL.
Sit down NOW and write to us about yourself. Don't be too brief on important details. As our employees know of this ad, we would like to have you include the names of former and present employers to give us an idea of the type of company you have been working for. All information will remain strictly confidential and no references will be contacted until after a personal interview. A recent snapshot would also be helpful.
If you fulfill the qualifications described here we promise you an answer.

WOULD $20 HELP?

$20 FOR 30 DAYS COSTS ONLY 60c

Quite often $20 in cash is about all it takes to tide a person over until payday.

As you can see from the example above, the cost on our monthly rate of 3% on balance of $150 or less and 2½% on that part of the unpaid balance over $150 is extremely moderate. Of course, if you need a larger amount, just let us know. Loans $10 to $300.

Churchill in Washington, D. C., for New War Parley—Americans Round Up Axis Prisoners "by Thousands"

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill as they drove up to the White House yesterday after the British leader arrived in Washington against a background of allied victory in Africa and axis jitters over invasion.

Description approved by censors says this shows bombs from an American plane bursting on and around a German supply ship off Tunisia. The ship was riddled by machine gun fire and it sank quickly, the description adds.

The signal corps says these are axis prisoners "by the thousands," captured as American forces drove into Bizerte, Tunisia, on the heels of Rommel's beaten armies. The description adds that the prisoners are being herded off to prison camps. The picture was sent by radio.
